MACHEN ARRESTED FOR TAKING BRIBES

Postal Official Accused of Malfeasance in Office.

His Two Alleged Bribers Also Taken—Beavers Shadowed, and More Arrests Expected.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—By order of Postmaster General Payne August W. Machen, Superintendent of the Free Delivery Division, and generally regarded as the head of the so-called "Post Office ring," was arrested this afternoon for accepting bribes from Diller B. Groff and Samuel H. Groff to the amount of $18,382. The Postmaster General then dismissed him from office, and to-night the Groffs were arrested for bribing Machen. They own a patent for fasteners for city letter boxes, and it is charged that they paid Machen to have the department make contracts with their firm.

Mr. Machen was requested last night in a brief personal note from Postmaster General Payne to come to the department this morning to consult with Mr. Bristow in regard to matters that had come up in the investigation. At 10 o'clock this morning Machen called on Bristow and remained for three hours answering questions put to him by Bristow, Assistant Attorney General Robb, Chief Inspector Cochran, and Inspector Fosnes. Machen denied having received any money from the Groffs and resented the inquiry into his private affairs. Toward the end of the conference he remarked with some show of anger to Mr. Bristow:

"You have no right to go into my private business affairs, and I do not intend to submit to such an inquisition."

He was asked to remain, and Mr. Bristow withdrew to the office of the Postmaster General and laid before him the facts that had come to his knowledge, together with the answer that Machen had made to the charge that he had been paid money by the Groffs. Mr. Payne said at once that the denial was unsatisfactory, and directed the Assistant Postmaster General to order the arrest of Machen. Meanwhile, Col. W. E. Cochrane, the Chief Post Office Inspector, and several of his men, were busy. The office of the District Attorney was communicated with, and Deputy Marshal Springman dispatched to the Post Office Department to effect the arrest of Machen. Mr. Bristow returned to his office and called in Springman, who served the warrant. This was a complete surprise to Machen, and he showed no little uneasiness at the turn affairs had taken.

The warrant specifically charges him with receiving $18,981.76 since Aug. 5, 1900. It is alleged, however, at the department that this amount does not represent all that Machen received in connection with these contracts, it being charged that he has profited by them for several years prior to the date of the first contract mentioned in the warrant.

INSPECTOR MAYER'S COMPLAINT.

The warrant was drawn by Assistant United States District Attorney Hugh Taggart on a sworn statement made to-day by Walter S. Mayer, a Post Office Inspector from the Chicago district, before United States Commissioner Anson S. Taylor in this city.

Mr. Machen was taken by the Deputy Marshal directly to the office of United States Commissioner Taylor. He communicated with his attorneys, Douglass & Douglass, and in a few minutes Charles A. Douglass, senior member of the firm, arrived at the Commissioner's office. Mr. Douglass demanded an immediate hearing. Assistant District Attorney Taggart replied that he was not ready to proceed, and asked a postponement of the hearing for ten days.

Commissioner Taylor thereupon fixed Friday, June 5, for the hearing, and after a brief discussion of the bond fixed bail at $20,000. The Union Surety and Guaranty Company of Philadelphia went on his bond.

Mr. Machen would not make any extended statement for publication. He merely said:

"This will come out all right. My arrest is merely a grand-stand play."

Immediately after Mr. Machen was taken into custody the Postmaster General issued an order removing him from office. He had been practically under suspension for a fortnight pending the investigation into his bureau.

The Postmaster General's order of dismissal was as follows:

"A. W. Machen is this day removed from the position of General Superintendent of the Free Delivery Service. His removal is made by reason of malfeasance on his part in the discharge of the duties of his office."

Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow at 1:30 this afternoon issued the following statement:

"Mr. A. W. Machen, General Superintendent of the Free Delivery System, was arrested at 1 o'clock to-day. He is charged with receiving bribes amounting in all to about $22,000 in connection with a contract held by Groff Brothers of Washington, D. C., for a patent fastener used on street letter boxes, known as the Groff fastener. The Post Office Department in the past ten years has used about $160,000 worth of these fasteners, and it is shown by ample evidence that for the past three years at least Mr. Machen has been receiving 40 per cent. of the amounts paid to the Groffs. The transaction of the business was conducted by Diller B. Groff, who controls the patent of his brother, Samuel M., a policeman.

The Postmaster General says a civil suit will be instituted to recover the amount which Mr. Machen is charged with taking. The character of the evidence, he said, might be indicated by the fact that such a serious step would not be taken without evidence of the most conclusive character.

The members of the Groff concern were subjected to a severe examination to-day by the police officials and the Post Office Inspectors at Police Headquarters.

To-night Diller B. Groff called at Police Headquarters, saying that he had heard a warrant for his arrest was out. He was served with the warrant and was released on $10,000 bond pending a hearing before the United States Commission to-morrow. Samuel A. Groff, the other member of the firm, was taken into custody later and was released on receipt of bail in the sum of $5,000.

MIDNIGHT WORK OF DETECTIVES.

The facts which led up to Machen's arrest were crowded into the twenty-four hours preceding the finale. Last night Mr. Bristow, Assistant District Attorney Taggart, Inspector Mayer, and Inspector McKee of Kansas City were occupied until 3 o'clock in going over a mass of documents covering the transactions with the Groffs.

The fastener, which was made the basis of these operations to defraud the Government, is the invention of Samuel H. Groff, a bailiff at the Court House, an old man who is spoken of as popular and respected. His brother, Diller B. Groff, seems to have been the business man of the combination, and he it was who engineered the deal with Machen to get the device used. The Groffs had the fasteners made by a trust concern in Philadelphia, who in turn had the work done by manufacturing concerns in Wilmington, Philadelphia, and Pittsburg. The price at which the fasteners were furnished to the Groffs was 25 cents each, and they were put in to the Government at $1.25 for the complete fastener and half that for half of the fastener.

The specific evidence in the possession of the department covers four years, but it is alleged by the authorities that the relations between Machen and the Groff concern have existed for nine or ten years. No charges formed a basis for the investigation of the contract. The discoveries were made by Post Office Inspector Mayer in the course of general investigation of the affairs of the division over which Machen has had charge for many years past.

MAYER A GREAT DETECTIVE.

Postmaster General Payne, in speaking of the case and the proof that had been laid before him, said this afternoon that the ingenuity and skill with which the detective had worked out his conclusions were the most wonderful and brilliant that had ever come under his knowledge. Mayer said to-night that he did not wish to talk about the case, but no mathematical demonstration was ever more conclusive or more unerring than the proofs he had been able to assemble and lay before Mr. Bristow. He said that conviction was sure to follow, and that the result had been reached without setting any traps or getting any admissions from any one. Inspector Fosnes, in speaking of Mayer's work, said that he was the most successful analyst of difficult situations or of complicated accounts or contracts that he had ever known, and that the credit for the proof was due entirely to Mayer, although many others had aided him on the case.

Mr. Payne said that no one had made any admissions, and that there had been no "peaching" by outsiders in this case. "The result," said he, "comes from sheer ingenuity and skill, and the proof is documentary and conclusive. In such cases we always want documentary proof if we can get it, and in this case it is complete, and there is no getting away from it."

When Mr. Payne was told of Machen's statement that his arrest was a grand-stand play, the Postmaster General replied that the department made no grand-stand plays and that it should be accepted that if an arrest was made, it was only done after an absolute demonstration of the existence of crime. It is understood that Detective Mayer succeeded in getting hold of books and accounts in the vaults of a trust company in Philadelphia which covered the payments from the Groffs to Machen. He and another Inspector went to Philadelphia and spent a night in the bank going over the vouchers, and were able to secure dates and amounts for every transaction charged. The whole amount which they found had been paid to Machen was in excess of $22,000, but by the advice of the District Attorney all the items were not charged in the complaint.

In the warrant for the Groffs only two transactions were alleged, as the proof of the criminality of Samuel Groff appears to be somewhat in doubt in some particulars. The Government will bring suit to recover the amounts paid Machen, and it is believed that some part of the funds are likely to be attached in a bank in Philadelphia. The detectives who have worked out this case said to-night that the conspiracy did not go beyond the three persons arrested. All the facts will not come out until the trial, and the means by which Machen's private account books were secured as evidence will never be disclosed.

The confidence of the Groffs in Machen's power is shown by the fact that in two cases he received his share of the purchase money for fasteners before the warrant was issued by the United States Treasurer. The first of these cases occurred in connection with the order for 3,014 half fasteners made on July 2, July 10, and July 22, 1901. These orders were bunched into one order Sept. 12, and Machen got his payment of $753.50 on Sept. 9, whereas the warrant from the Treasurer was not issued until Nov. 14.

The second case occurred in connection with the order of July 2 and 3, 1901, for 2,164 half fasteners. Machen got his money, $725.98, on Jan. 11, and the warrant was not issued until Jan. 29. These facts show that the Groffs had full confidence that Machen would put through the deal and that the scheme was relied on to furnish funds for all concerned regularly and without fear of interruption. There was no contract for the fasteners at any time. Machen bought them on the order of the First Assistant Postmaster General, and the transaction was akin to buying in the open market, except that he was dealing in part with himself all the time.

According to statements of Post Office Department officials, there was a go-between for the alleged transactions in connection with the contracts. The identity of this person is withheld by the department, and the officials refuse to say what steps, if any, have been taken looking to his apprehension. It is stated that he does not reside in Washington and is not here at present.

PAID MACHEN IN ADVANCE.

Postmaster General Payne was asked to-night for the name of this man, but declined to discuss the subject, adding that he knew nothing about it. The Inspectors, however, it is stated, know the identity and movements of the intermediary. He may be arrested at any time. The Inspectors say the evidence they have is of the most comprehensive nature. It includes many drafts of an alleged incriminating character, bearing the signature of Mr. Machen. The evidence was worked up principally in Washington, though much of it was obtained in other parts of the country.

Attorney Charles Douglass made this statement to-day:

"Several days ago my firm was retained by Mr. Machen to look after his interests in connection with the investigation of affairs at the Post Office Department. I am, therefore, cognizant of the situation in detail. I am confident that, at the proper time, we shall be able to show, in the most conclusive way, that not only has Mr. Machen been guilty of no wrong in connection with the department's transaction with Groff Brothers, but that his administration of the affairs of the free delivery system has been characterized by uprightness, integrity, and ability.

"I have not determined yet whether a full preliminary hearing on Friday, June 5, will be insisted upon or whether examination will be waived and bond given for trial before the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia. The probabilities are, however, that a full preliminary hearing will be demanded."

BEAVERS UNDER SURVEILLANCE.

The arrest of Machen is regarded as significant of other possible arrests. Postmaster General Payne said this afternoon he was advised that the Inspectors were maintaining surveillance upon George W. Beavers, the former Chief of the Division of Salaries and Allowances. Mr. Bristow said that the department could not afford to take chances on what might take place while a warrant was being drawn up, and that any person under suspicion would be watched closely.

Vermont Man Succeeds Miller.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Edwin W. Lawrence of Rutland, Vt., was to-day appointed assistant attorney in the office of the Assistant Attorney General for the Post Office Department, to succeed Daniel V. Miller, recently removed. Mr. Lawrence is a member of the Vermont bar. The investigation of affairs in the Assistant Attorney General's office continues, but there were no further developments to-day.

Heavy Selling of Leather Stocks.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, May 27.—The heavy selling of the Leather stocks on the Stock Exchange to-day was believed to be the outcome of the rather unfortunate experience of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., in his purchase of those stocks some months ago. The common lost 1⅛, to 10⅜, and the preferred 1, to 94½. The common touched 10⅜ to-day, the lowest figure at which it has sold for about two years. In 1899 it sold at 40⅜.

OVER THREE THOUSAND BULGARIANS ARRESTED

Insurgents at Smerdesh Killed by Their Own Dynamite.

Bulgarian Reveals to the Turkish Authorities the System of the Revolutionary Organization.

LONDON TIMES—NEW YORK TIMES Special Cablegram.

LONDON, May 28.—An official telegram from Constantinople, says the Vienna correspondent of The Times, states that over 3,000 Bulgarians have been arrested in Uskub, Monastir, Salonika, and Adrianople Villayets, and in Constantinople.

It seems, says the correspondent, that the Bulgarian insurgents at Smerdesh were hoist with their own petard. They had collected large quantities of ammunition and dynamite, and this was exploded by the shells of the Turkish artillery, the insurgents themselves being blown sky-high, together with a fortified building.

By The Associated Press.

VIENNA, May 27.—The Neue Freie Presse says a Bulgarian named Lazo, who was arrested at Salonika, has revealed to the Turkish authorities the system of the Macedonian revolutionary organization, the headquarters of which are at Koprulu, Vilayet of Salonika.

Lazo says a banker of Salonika acted as intermediary between the National Bank of Sofia and the Macedonian committees for the distribution of funds.

CHICAGO TRACTION QUARREL.

Trouble Between the City Railway and the Union Traction Company Explained.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 27.—With the gathering of the members of the Council Sub-Committee on Street Railway Franchises to-day came a semi-official explanation of the peculiar estrangement between the Chicago City Railway and the Chicago Union Traction Companies.

By reopening negotiations with the Council, the Chicago City Railway Company is confronted with the question of waiving all rights claimed under the ninety-nine-year act. The Union Traction Company, which is not a party to the negotiations as yet, expects to secure a Federal ruling as to the value of its rights under the same act, which it holds to be worth many millions. Should the Chicago City Railway interests comply with the demands of the city by making even a modified waiver, it is said the circumstances would be prejudicial to the Union Traction Company as forming a basis on which the court would have to estimate the value of the claims.

The Chicago Union Traction Company enjoys the protection of a receivership backed by the Federal courts, which would be operative in the event of the city attempting prejudicial action on the expiration of its franchise on July 30. The Chicago City Company will be absolutely at the mercy of the Council if the franchise question is still open on July 30. There appears to be no common basis on which the companies can get together.

TEXAS INSURANCE SQUABBLE.

Possibility of 59 Companies Being Driven Out of the State for Collusion.

Special to The New York Times.

AUSTIN, Texas, May 27.—If the suit which Attorney General Bell yesterday filed in behalf of the State of Texas against fifty-nine fire insurance companies for forfeiture of their respective permits to do business in Texas results in judgment being obtained in the courts against the companies they all will be driven out of the State. The new anti-trust act contains a special provision prohibiting corporations from reëntering the State when found guilty of violating the law in question. This provision reads:

"When any foreign corporation has been convicted of a violation of this act and its right to do business in this State has been forfeited no other corporation to which the defaulting corporation may have transferred its property and business, or which has assumed the payment of its obligation shall be permitted to incorporate or do business."

Citizens of the State are greatly aroused over the possible outcome of the suit. If these companies are not permitted to do business in Texas the existing fire insurance policies will be canceled and no other insurance will be obtainable.

AUTOMOBILIST RENAULT DEAD.

Famous French Racer Never Rallied from the Injuries Received in the Fatal Race.

POITIERS, France, May 27.—Marcel Renault, the well-known racer and maker of automobiles, who was overturned in a deep ditch twenty-one miles from here during the first stage of the fatal Paris-Madrid race, died shortly after midnight at Couhe Verac from the effect of the injuries which he sustained. His is the seventh death to result from this race.

Thirteen-Year-Old Prisoner Admits Putting Carbolic Acid in Foster Parents' Coffee.

Special to The New York Times.

STROUDSBURG, Penn., May 27.—"I don't know why I put the poison in the coffee except that I do not like Mrs. Shook." Thus spoke Nellie Coffman, thirteen years old, who was placed in the care of Sheriff Morvine to-day to answer to the charge of attempting to poison Mrs. Joseph Coffman and Mrs. Emma Shook of Cresco.

It is alleged that the girl put carbolic acid in the coffee. The child was adopted by the Coffmans seven years ago.

NAMES ROOSEVELT FOR 1904.

Pennsylvania Convention Heads its Ticket with W. P. Snyder for Auditor General.

HARRISBURG, Penn., May 27.—The Republican State Convention held here to-day declared in favor of the nomination of Theodore Roosevelt for President in 1904, the declaration being as follows:

We commend and approve the Administration of President Roosevelt, who, with great ability, fidelity, and vigor, has enforced the policies of his lamented predecessor, William McKinley, and of the Republican Party. We favor his nomination and election to the Presidency in 1904 and pledge thereunto the united support of the Republicans of Pennsylvania.

The platform also contains a plank favoring "home rule for and the early admission to Statehood of the Territories of New Mexico, Arizona, and Oklahoma."

The last Congress is praised for the passage of "many acts of the greatest benefit and advantage to the people."

On the question of tariff revision the platform says:

We affirm our unswerving loyalty to the Republican principle of a protective tariff and deprecate any suggestion of a general revision at the present time of the existing tariff law enacted in 1897. We believe it to be the dictum of wisdom to let well enough alone and not to imperil business interests by any suggestions of present interference with revenue legislation. Permanence and stability of tariff rates are essential to continued business prosperity.

The platform also contains the following reference to the last Legislature and Gov. Pennypacker:

We heartily commend the wise, fearless, and patriotic administration of Samuel W. Pennypacker, Governor of our great Commonwealth. He has been conscientious in the discharge of the duties of his high office and merits the approval of our people. We congratulate the Legislature on the expeditious discharge of its duties and commend it for the enactment of many wise and beneficent laws which will redound to the credit of our Commonwealth.

No mention is made in the platform of the Grady-Salus libel law enacted by the recent Legislature.

Senator Quay declined to accept re-election as Chairman of the State Convention, and his colleague, Senator Boies Penrose, was chosen his successor.

The convention was remarkable for the unanimity with which it disposed of its business and the lack of contest for the four places on the State ticket. Senator William P. Snyder of Chester County was nominated for Auditor General, William L. Mattheus of Delaware County for State Treasurer, and Judges Thomas A. Morrison of McKean County and John J. Henderson of Crawford County for Superior Court Judges. Judges Morrison and Henderson are at present members of the Superior Court by appointment of the Governor, and their nomination is for the full term of ten years.

COACHING PARTY HAD A SCARE.

Narrow Escape from Being Pitched Twenty Feet Down Into Subway Ditch.

A coaching party, in which were John C. Thompson, a lawyer living at 227 Riverside Drive; Harry Lehr, Moncure Robinson, Charles Greenough, and James O. Minot, had a bad scare yesterday afternoon at the corner of Lenox Avenue and One Hundred and Thirty-fifth Street, where the subway excavations are still open. For a moment they thought they would all be thrown over the board fence into the ditch, twenty feet deep, but owing to the timely aid of Policeman Sullivan nobody was hurt.

It was between 4 and 5 o'clock when the coach, drawn by four horses, with Mr. Thompson driving, left the Plaza Hotel and started up through the Park. After leaving the Park the party went swiftly up Lenox Avenue to One Hundred and Thirty-fifth Street. There the driver turned the horses' heads to the west, intending to go to the Suburban Riding and Driving Club at Inwood-on-the-Hudson.

Just as the horses were making a rather short turn around the corner of the six-foot board fence on the edge of the ditch, a south-bound Lenox Avenue car, coming swiftly down upon them, frightened them so that they balked suddenly, causing the high coach to go backward.

It struck a weak spot in the wooden pavement and a board gave way under the right front wheel. The wheel dropped through all the way to the hub, giving the occupants of the coach a violent lurch forward. The sudden giving way of the board served only as an added source of terror to the horses.

Mr. Thompson managed to hang to his seat and was doing what he could to control the horses, which were now jumping about madly, when Policeman Sullivan rushed up and grabbed their heads.

The wheel was wedged so firmly that to free it a jack was necessary. While one was being brought a large crowd gathered and subjected the unfortunate coaching party to a long stare. Finally the coach was raised and proceeded to the Suburban Riding and Driving Club.

ROMANCE OF THE YUKON.

Ex-Governor Ogilvie of the Klondike Marries Texas Girl Whose Life He Saved at Nome.

Special to The New York Times.

TACOMA, Washington, May 27.—A dispatch from Dawson states that cards have been received there announcing the marriage at Paris, Texas, a short time ago, of ex-Gov. William Ogilvie and Miss O. P. Richardson. Mr. Ogilvie is Canada's most noted Yukon explorer of early days as well as the first Governor of the Klondike. His bride is a charming young woman in her twenties and sister of Capt. Richardson, formerly commander of the United States military post at St. Michael, and now stationed at Haines.

The wooing and winning of the Texan maiden by the stalwart explorer is not without a chapter of romance. The Governor saved her life in the raging surf off the shore of Nome.

Miss Richardson visited Dawson in the Summer of 1901, en route to St. Michael to meet her brother. On the trip down the Yukon on the packet Sarah she met Ogilvie, who had just resigned his posision of Governor and was on his way to Nome.

When the landing was being made from the steamer the small boat in which they were taken ashore was swept by a terrific wave over the wreckage of the barge Skookum, and its occupants precipitated into the water. Ogilvie held valiantly to Miss Richardson until help arrived.

ENGINEER SAVES TWO BOYS.

Jumps from His Train and Pulls Them Off the Track of an Express.

Special to The New York Times.

HINGHAM, Mass., May 27.—Two boys on their way to school were saved from what seemed certain death here to-day by the quickness of a locomotive engineer.

The lads, aged seven or eight years, were walking on the New York, New Haven and Hartford tracks in the yards here as a "way" train from Cohasset came along. This train slows down before reaching the station, as an express passes through at that time. The boys saw the Cohasset train, and stepped from the track on which it was coming to the left-hand track. The express was in sight even at that moment, but the lads did not observe it.

Engineer Bowditch of the local realised the danger. He set his brakes, and, as the engine passed the boys, he leaped off and grabbed the little fellows, pulling them across the rails hardly an instant before the express dashed by at a speed of fifty miles an hour. Having saved the lads, the engineer resumed his post and drew his train into Hingham. He was applauded by passengers at the station who saw the occurrence.

DEMOCRATS' CITY FIGHT

James J. Martin Chosen Permanent Committee Chairman.

Tammany to Control 385 of the 652 Delegates—No Formal Discussion of Candidates—Arrangements for Campaign Outlined.

Democratic leaders from the five boroughs of the Greater New York met last evening in the Democratic Club and made arrangements for the Mayoralty campaign. It was the first gathering of the representatives of the organizations, and in a short time all the most important details were settled. The matter of candidates on the city ticket was not discussed, except informally by several of the leaders after the conference had adjourned.

It was said by several Brooklyn leaders that ex-Controller Bird S. Coler was a possibility for the head of the city ticket because of the large vote polled by him in Greater New York at the last election for Governor. The Tammany leaders were unanimous in the declaration that the head of the city ticket would not come from Brooklyn this year.

As Tammany controls 385 of the 652 delegates to the City Convention the will of Leader Charles F. Murphy, after consultation with his district leaders in Manhattan and the Bronx, will prevail. It was decided last evening to hold the Democratic City Convention during the last week of September or the first week in October, in either the Grand Central Palace or the Academy of Music.

Senator Patrick H. McCarren of Brooklyn called the Conference Committee to order last evening. A motion was then made that James J. Martin of Manhattan be made permanent Chairman of the committee and Thomas F. Smith and Edward Muller, Secretaries.

This motion was adopted unanimously, and the politicians assembled were pleased with the selection not only because James J. Martin was at the head of the City Committee during the last Mayoralty campaign, but because of his independent stand against some of the plans of Leader Charles F. Murphy of Tammany. The Brooklyn representatives said that this showed that the organization in New York was solidly behind Leader Murphy, and that no factional disturbances were likely to break out in the campaign.

After the selection of Chairman, Senator McCarren moved that the basis of representation to the Democratic City Convention should be one delegate to each 500 Democratic voters in every Assembly district. The following will be the apportionment by boroughs of the delegates:

Manhattan and Bronx	385
Brooklyn	220
Queens	33
Richmond	14

James Shevlin of Brooklyn then moved that a committee of five be named to secure a suitable hall and make arrangements for the City Convention. The following were named: Charles F. Murphy, Louis F. Haffen, James Shevlin, Joseph Cassidy, and Edward Muller. Secretary Smith was then empowered to take steps to secure a suitable meeting place and report. The committee adjourned after transacting some routine business.

CARNEGIE'S DENVER COUSIN.

Doesn't Care Whether He Inherits Some Millionaire's Money or Not.

Special to The New York Times.

DENVER, Col., May 27.—An agent of Andrew Carnegie, who has been investigating to discover relations of the millionaire, reports that William C. Carnegie of Denver is a first cousin and likely to inherit a share of the millions left over from libraries.

The Denver Carnegie has never been in doubt concerning his ancestry, and now is equally indifferent to the result of the agent's report. He is interested in the Pleasant View Mine at Cañon City, and expects some day to be a millionaire on his own account. Now he is in comfortable circumstances and contents himself by saying that it is a poor policy to rely on a dead man's money.

MULE CAUSES A STRIKE.

Driver in Black Creek Coal Mine Discharged for Beating Him—Then the Union Called All the Men Out.

Special to The New York Times.

LINTON, Ind., May 27.—"Dan," the boss kicking mule of the Black Creek mine, is the cause of three large mines closing down and of 600 men being on strike.

The miners have lost about $19,000 wages and the mines have failed to get out 3,000 tons of coal.

Henry Durrough was "Dan's" driver at the Black Creek mine. The claim of the company is that on April 28 Durrough tied "Dan" up to two posts, lashing his head to one and his tail to the other, and gave him an unmerciful beating with a club four feet long and inflicted injuries that have made the animal practically worthless.

Durrough was discharged for the mule whipping. He was paid off and also drew his card of membership on the local of the Mineworkers' Union. He was paid off Monday, May 4.

The union demanded the reinstatement of Durrough, which was refused, and the men struck May 11 and are still out. The matter has been taken up to National President Mitchell.

GIRL HEROINE DYING.

Jennie Creek, Near Hill Grove, Ind., in 1893, Flagged Express Train at Burning Bridge.

Special to The New York Times.

RICHMOND, Ind., May 27.—Miss Jennie Creek, widely known on account of a heroic deed which saved many lives at the time of the World's Fair at Chicago, and for which she was decorated by the French Legion of Honor, is near death's door at Converse.

Jennie Creek, a country maiden, flagged a passenger train on the Pennsylvania Railroad near Hill Grove, in Blackford County in 1893, thereby preventing a fast-flying train with its many passengers from piling into an opening caused by a burning bridge.

The little girl was praised for her heroic deed. A party of Frenchmen aboard took up the matter and forwarded to her a medal from the Legion of Honor.

CHICAGO'S FAMINE PERIL.

Twelve Thousand Restaurant Employes Threaten to Go on Strike.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 27.—No concessions will be made by the 12,000 cooks, waiters, waitresses, kitchen-help, and porters represented by the committees that presented demands to the employers to-day. The wage scale and working rules must be adopted by every restaurant, hotel, or saloon in the city before Monday night or strikes will be ordered.

The workers are asking for a ten-hour day, and about the same wages that are paid now for twelve and fourteen hours' work in the better class of establishments. It is expected that the ten-hour rule will be objected to by most of the proprietors, and that early next week will mark the beginning of a fierce fight between the Chicago Restaurant Keepers' Association and the unions.

Strikes against one member of the owners' association will be the signal for a lockout that will close 2,500 restaurants.

SENATOR HOAR ON NATIONAL ANTHEMS.

He Calls "God Save the King" Cheap and Vulgar—Hopes England Knows Better Now.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, May 27.—At the annual woman suffrage festival to-night a letter was read from Senator George F. Hoar, in which, speaking of National anthems, he said:

"Is there anything more cheap and vulgar than the national anthem of our English brethren, 'God Save the King'?

"O Lord, our God, arise,
Scatter his enemies,
And make them fall!
Confound their politics,
Frustrate their knavish tricks,
On him our hopes we fix,
God save us all!

"England, I hope, knows better now. But she has acted on that motto for a thousand years.

"New England's anthem, 'The Breaking Waves Dashed High,' one of the noblest poems in all literature, was written by a woman.

"We waited eighty years for our American National anthem. At last God inspired an illustrious and noble woman to utter in undying verse the thought which we hope is forever to animate the soldiers of the Republic.

"Julia Ward Howe cannot yet vote in America, but her words will be an inspiration to the youth of America on many a hard-fought field for liberty many a century after her successors will vote."

BREMERTON WILL REFORM.

Navy Yard Town Agrees to Suppress Objectionable Saloons and Will Issue No More Licenses.

Special to The New York Times.

TACOMA, Washington, May 27.—Mayor Croxton of Bremerton to-day notified Capt. Bleecker, Commandant at the Puget Sound Navy Yard, that the Town Council, which met in extra session last night, at midnight passed resolutions which will not only result in the removal of every saloon on Front Street, at Bremerton, but which places the Council on record as pledged against the issuance of any more saloon licenses in any portion of the town.

The action taken by the Council was precipitated by a telegram which Commandant Bleecker received from the Navy Department at Washington, announcing the Government's determination to postpone the ordering of ships of the Pacific squadron to Bremerton for repairs, until such time as the people of that town had fulfilled the pledges which its citizens made in December last.

Capt. Bleecker immediately laid the message before Mayor Croxton, with the request that the latter notify him whether Bremerton intended to comply with the Government's demands.

SAYS PROFESSORS ARE HIRED MEN IN CAGES.

French Lecturer at Chicago University Thinks Endowed Colleges Fetter Free Speech.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 27.—The American college professor in many institutions is only "a hired man in a cage," according to M. Leopold Mabilleau, the French sociologist, who is delivering a series of lectures in French at the University of Chicago.

He said to-day that in American colleges founded by private individuals, the professors were not free to think and write as they pleased, but were controlled to a large extent by the opinions of the Board of Trustees. In speaking of the relation of the French colleges and universities to the State, he said:

"It is necessary that the professor be able to think and speak as he chooses, even though his ideas be contrary to the opinions of the Trustees. This liberty does not exist in many of your American universities, many of which are founded by private individuals."

SENATOR HANNA TO TRAVEL.

Will Take Six Weeks' Cruise in Mediterranean to Gather Strength for Fall Campaign.

Special to The New York Times.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 27.—Senator Hanna to-day informed Charles E. Spratt of New York, representing the Association of Furniture Manufacturers, who sought the presence of the Senator at the National convention at New York in July to speak on the subject of "Labor," that he would not be in the country at that time.

He told Mr. Spratt he intended to yield to the advice of his physicians in taking a six weeks' cruise in the Mediterranean and thus gain strength for the Fall campaign, which promises to be extremely arduous. Later in explanation it was stated that the Senator was in no sense ill. His physicians held that he must cease work in the heat of the Summer if he hoped for the necessary amount of strength to carry him through the Fall.

Senator Hanna received a large number of telegrams to-day concerning his decision not to further oppose an indorsement of President Roosevelt's candidacy for a second term at the coming State Convention. These telegrams were said to be nearly all of a congratulatory nature. Many of them declared that in taking the step, Senator Hanna had done much to preserve harmony in the ranks of the party.

Senator Hanna steadfastly refused to discuss the subject to-day, insisting that it was a closed incident.

FOREST FIRES STILL BLAZE.

Adirondack Camps of J. P. Morgan and A. G. Vanderbilt Threatened.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., May 27.—The forest fires in the southern part of the reserves in Hamilton and Warren Counties are still burning, and it looks as though nothing but a few days' rain will effectually stop them. The report comes to-day that the camps of J. Pierpont Morgan and Alfred G. Vanderbilt, in Townships 5 and 6, are threatened by a fire which is working toward the Cedar River, but the direction of the fire leads to the hope that these camps will be damaged but little. A quantity of logs belonging to the Union Bag and Paper Company, the Kenyon Lumber Company, and Finch, Pruyn & Co., have been burned.

Other fires are burning in the Lower Adirondacks, and it is probable that 500 men are employed checking the progress of the conflagrations.

SEVEN KILLED IN WRECK.

Two Freight Trains Collide in Northern Alabama with Fatal Results.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 27.—A double-header east-bound freight and a west-bound freight on the Southern Railway collided to-day at Bryan, twenty-two miles west of here, with the result that both trains caught fire and were burned and seven train hands were killed and other may die.

The officials of the road have not yet explained the cause of the accident, but it is alleged that an operator went to sleep on duty and failed to deliver an order.

CHRISTIANS PROTEST IN BEHALF OF JEWS

Great Mass Meeting Denounces the Kishineff Outrages.

Ex-President Cleveland Receives an Ovation—Mayor Low and Messrs. Schurman, Shepard and MacArthur Speak.

Emphatic protest against the outrages upon the Jews at Kishineff was voiced last night at a mass meeting at Carnegie Hall. Ex-President Grover Cleveland, Mayor Low, Jacob G. Schurman, and Edward M. Shepard gave utterance to the sentiments reflecting the feelings of horror and indignation of all classes in the country.

Periodic ovations for Mr. Cleveland formed a feature of the meeting. When the ex-President entered in the midst of Mayor Low's brief talk he was received most enthusiastically. When he arose to speak and after he sat down there was long-continued cheering. The two upper galleries, thronged to their utmost capacity, were white with waving handkerchiefs and echoed with applause. Those who sat in the orchestra and boxes rose to their feet and clapped their hands until the recipient of their favor had to bow again and again.

Mr. Cleveland held that, although the people of the United States ought to voice an emphatic protest against the anti-Semitic outrages in Russia, they should be moderate in their demands as to what action the Government at Washington should take. The resolutions adopted by the gathering reflected this sentiment.

When Paul D. Cravath, Chairman of the committee that arranged for the meeting, arose to introduce Mayor Low as presiding officer, the great auditorium was almost filled. There were some empty seats in the orchestra and in the boxes, but they would all have been occupied had it not been for a misunderstanding. In an overflow crowd that collected outside there seemed to be an impression that the lower floor was reserved, and after the galleries had become packed to suffocation many went away without getting inside.

Mr. Cravath read the call for the meeting, signed by many of the city's most prominent men, none of them Jews. From the start it was intended that the gathering should be the protest of Christian New York. In the chairs ranged beside Mayor Low on the stage sat Mr. Cleveland, the Rev. Dr. Robert S. MacArthur, President Jacob G. Schurman of Cornell University, and Edward M. Shepard, the speakers. In the seats behind them were many well-known Jewish divines, including the Rev. Drs. Joseph Silverman, Samuel Schulman, and Kaufmann Kohler. There were besides prominent Christian clergymen and laymen. Among the city officials present were President Cantor of Manhattan Borough, and President Fornes of the Board of Aldermen.

MAYOR LOW ON THE JEWS.

Mayor Low's introductory was as follows:

"About 250 years ago—indeed, in the very next year after New Amsterdam became a city—some Spanish and Portuguese Jews found their way here and were made welcome. From that day to this the Jews have been made to feel at home in New York. This city probably contains more Jews than any other city in the world—a circumstance that gives us warrant to say two things out of our own experience: First, that the Jew is a quiet, orderly, and industrious citizen; and, secondly, that if treated with kindness instead of with cruelty he becomes a source of strength to a nation and not of weakness. It also entitles the citizens of New York to protest vigorously against such horrors as those of Kishineff.

"It is a noteworthy thing that this movement of protest in New York began on the east side. Before even the press had taken great notice of the long-continued Kishineff rioting, our fellow-citizens of Jewish birth, many of whom know by experience what a Russian riot is, had begun to raise a fund for the relief of the sufferers, and to protest against the outrages.

"Nearly three weeks ago I addressed an audience in the Bowery, gathered for that purpose, and I told them then what I gladly repeat here—that their fellow-citizens of every name and creed are at one with them in detestation of this horror, and that we honor them for the prompt and effective steps they have taken to send relief to their friends.

"But I am here to say what I did not say there—for this is a meeting called under Christian auspices—that in the name of our religion we grieve that such a stain should have been cast upon it. Russia is a power friendly to the United States, and there are especial reasons why Americans think kindly of her; but not for this cause should we be silent now. Nay, rather, because we desire that the two nations shall continue to be true friends, we beg of her so to deal with those who are to blame for this shameful outrage as to make it impossible for such a thing to happen again within her borders.

"We beg of her to give more liberty to her Jewish subjects; for we may say properly that in freedom of opportunity, and not in restriction of privilege, for Christian and Jew alike, here in New York has been found a cure for such disturbances as those that in Russia recently have shocked the world. What New York has done for 250 years Russia can do—if she will. May God put it into her heart to do it!"

The Mayor introduced William H. Baldwin, Jr., who read letters sent to the organizers of the meeting by men who could not be present.

Senator Platt wrote: "No one could feel greater abhorrence than I," after referring to the massacres.

William D. Howells said: "I wish your good cause, the cause of humanity, all success." The Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott and ex-Judge John F. Dillon sent messages in similar vein.

"The whole world is indebted to the noble Jewish race for the teachings of its prophets and sages and apostles and martyrs," wrote the Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, who had been expected to be among the speakers, but could not attend. "Every man who loves his fellows must sympathize with the meeting called to protest against the outrages visited upon the helpless Hebrews in Kishineff. With you, I cherish the hope that this event that has shocked the entire civilized world will bring about a reaction and end with a decree proclaiming religious liberty, toleration, and charity to all the people of Russia."

LETTER FROM MR. SCHURZ.

Carl Schurz, in a letter, said:

"While these outrages in Russia stand pre-eminent in their savage cruelty, it should not be forgotten that they only present one of the natural upshots of a widespread movement which in our days has put a peculiarly repulsive blot upon our vaunted civilization.

"The persecution and maltreatment of human beings on account of their race or their religious belief is always an offense, not only unjust to the victim, but degrading to the offender. But the persecution and maltreatment of the Jews, as mankind has witnessed it and is now witnessing it in several countries, has been not only specially barbarous in the ferocity of its excesses.

but in a singular degree self-debasing and cowardly in the invention of reasons to be adduced for its justification.

"The Jews are accused of various offensive qualities and dangerous propensities. If we mean to do them anything like justice, are we not in duty bound to inquire how those qualities and propensities, so far as they may really exist, appear in the light of history?

"For centuries the Jews were penned up in their ghettos and otherwise forcibly shut off from the rest of humanity; and then they were gravely accused of being clannish.

"For centuries in most countries they were arbitrarily restricted in the right to hold land and to follow various civil callings, and then they were gravely accused of not taking to agriculture and of preferring to trade.

"For centuries they had to defend themselves against the lawless rapacity of the powerful and against the wanton hostility of the multitude, being robbed and kicked and cuffed and spit upon like outcasts having no rights and no feelings entitled to respect, and then they were accused of having become crafty and unscrupulous in taking advantage of the opportunities left open to them.

"For centuries—and even more—whenever a few did anything conspicuously offensive, be it in the way of business unscrupulousness or of social ostentation, the cry has been, and is: 'Lo, behold the Jew!' while, when a Christian did the same thing, or even ten times worse, nobody would cry: 'Lo, behold the Christian!'

THE ANTI-SEMITIC CRUSADE.

"And now, to cap the climax, even in this age of light and progress, and in countries boasting of their mental and moral culture, we hear apostles of anti-Semitism, even persons belonging to the so-called upper classes, predict with accents of profound alarm that if the Jews be permitted the same rights and privileges as other people, that despised race, forming so infinitesimal a part of the world's population, surely will outwit us all and rob us of our property and possess themselves of all the controlling forces of society; and, therefore, the Jews must be shackled hand and foot with all sorts of legal disabilities—if not exterminated—in order to save Christendom from ignominious enslavement.

"Nothing could be more absurd and at the same time more cowardly than such reasoning and such appeals. But it is to agitations inflamed by just this spirit that we owe horrors like those of Kishineff, in beholding which humanity stands aghast. These horrors are only one more revelation of the ulterior tendency of a movement which here and there even assumes the mask of superior respectability.

"Here is the whole question again brought before the tribunal of the conscience of mankind. May this event serve to put in clearer light the fact that the history of the world exhibits no more monumental record of monstrous injustice than the persecutions inflicted upon the Jews during so many centuries.

"We may then also hope to see the other fact universally recognized—that wherever the Jewish race, with its wonderful vitality and its remarkable productiveness of talent and energy, enjoys the equal protection of just laws and a due appreciation of its self-respect, it will, far from remaining a race of aliens, furnish its full contingent of law-abiding, peaceable, industrious, public-spirited, and patriotic citizenship, vying with the best."

RESOLUTIONS OF THE MEETING.

Mr. Baldwin next read the resolutions that were voted through later in the evening. They were as follows:

Resolved, That the citizens of New York have heard with intense sorrow and indignation the news of the recent outbreak against the Jews of Kishineff, Russia, and the shocking atrocities committed by the ignorant, brutal, and misguided populace, resulting in the massacre of many men, women, and children, and the wounding and maltreatment of hundreds of victims.

Resolved, That, as citizens of a Republic friendly to Russia, we earnestly urge the claim of the Jews resident in the empire to just and impartial treatment and to protection against such outrages as the Kishineff massacre. We protest against the spirit of mediaeval persecution which has been revived in parts of Russia. In this century the recognition of the equality of all men before the law—whatever their race or creed—is a principle which, in practice, assures their loyal devotion to the land of their birth or adoption. This is eminently true of the Jewish immigrants from Russia, who have settled in the United States in large numbers, and who, as a body, have become industrious, thrifty, faithful, and law-abiding citizens.

Resolved, That we sympathize with our fellow-citizens of the Hebrew faith in their grief and anxiety because of this affliction of their co-religionists in Russia and in their energetic efforts for the relief of the people of Kishineff.

Resolved, That the people of the United States should exercise such influence with the Government of Russia as the ancient and unbroken friendship between the two nations may justify to stay the spirit of persecution, to redress the injuries inflicted upon the Jews of Kishineff, and to prevent the recurrence of outbreaks such as have amazed the civilized world.

ADDRESS OF MR. CLEVELAND.

Mr. Cleveland, after a long pause for the cheering to abate, said:

"I have only a word to say, but I wish to be counted among those who are in hearty sympathy with the purposes of this meeting. The influences which have called us together to-night grew out of our recognition of the promptings of Christian civilization, and our dutiful devotion to the best and deepest of our National characteristics. This demonstration furnishes cheering and reassuring evidence that our American sympathy for the oppressed and abused, wherever they may be, our American love of humanity and our attachment to justice and right are still active and unimpaired.

"There is another American trait interwoven with the warp and woof of our National character, which is here exhibited in most gratifying freshness and strength. Our people, when their sympathies are touched, when their humane instincts are challenged, and when their hatred of oppression is aroused, are not afraid to speak; and in such circumstances it is not their habit to smother or cautiously soften their words. Every humane American sentiment has been shocked by a late attack on the Jews in Russia—an attack murderous, atrocious, and in every way revolting.

"As members of the family of mankind and as citizens of a free Nation we are here to give voice to the feeling that should stir every true man and every American worthy of the name. There is something intensely horrible in the wholesale murder of unoffending, defenseless men, women, and children, who have been tacitly or expressly assured of safety under the protection of a professedly civilized Government. Such things give rise to a distressing fear that even the enlightenment of the twentieth century has neither destroyed nor subdued the barbarity of human nature, nor wholly redeemed the civilized world from 'man's inhumanity to man.'

"We and all our countrymen protest in the strongest language at our command, and with all the moral force which our American citizenship gives to us, against those murders and outrages, and we insist that swift and condign punishment ought to be visited upon their barbarous perpetrators.

"Nor is this all. We will, in a fashion quite American, and with an openhandedness always displayed when human distress appeals to us, assist the families made headless and robbed of support by murder, and those who, wounded and terrorized, and in hunger and want, have been driven from their homes.

ATTITUDE OF THE GOVERNMENT.

"I know how easily our indignation prompts us to the use of strong language; and I know how naturally we are tempted to indulge in overdrawn statements and extravagant demands on such an occasion as this; but I am sure that in our characterization of the crimes we here contemplate, and in expressing our detestation of the criminals, we cannot go too far. I desire to avoid sounding a discordant note, and yet I cannot refrain from the suggestion that the moral effect of our protest and the usefulness of this demonstration will not be lessened if we require indubitable proof before we accuse the Government of Russia with guilty complicity in the crimes committed within her borders; and it seems to me we may well consider the proper relationship between nations before we unreasonably demand too pronounced interference on the part of our Government.

"I do not say that the Russian Government may not by sins of commission or omission be justly deserving of our condemnation, but we should not be swift to assume this, when we remember that we ourselves have found it impossible to prevent mob violence and murderous assaults upon the Chinese in Wyoming and Italians in New Orleans. I am distinctly and unequivocally in favor of informing our Government in unmistakable terms of our indignant and deep condemnation of the late outrages upon the Jews in Russia, but I hope that in obedience to the dictates of American conservatism and moderation, which are never long obscured, we may be even now just and fair, and that we will be content to forego perplexing and extreme demands upon our Government for violent action.

"Our public servants should hear us speak, but we certainly ought to be justified in trusting the care of our National honor and duty in the premises and the enforcement of the humane instincts of our people so far as this may be within Governmental action to those charged with the responsibility of managing our public affairs.

"In the meantime let the people of the United States, gathered together in such assemblages as this in every part of the land, fearlessly speak to the civilized world—protesting against every pretense of civilization that permits mediaeval persecution, against every bigoted creed that forbids religious toleration and freedom of conscience, against all false enlightenment that excuses hatred and cruelty toward any race of men, and against all spurious forms of Government protection that withhold from any human being the right to live in safety and toil in peace."

DR. SCHURMAN BLAMES RUSSIA.

The next speaker was President Schurman.

"The massacres at Kishineff," he began, "speak for themselves. In the face of the facts, appeal is superfluous and oratory is tawdry and vain." Having reviewed the recent horrors, he continued:

"What had the victims done to bring upon themselves such a fate? What crime had they perpetrated? None! What provocation had they given? Absolutely none! Here was an act which vied with the savagery of our own North American Indians, committed in civilized and Christian Russia without the slightest pretext.

"One wonders at the crimes that are committed in the name of Christ on the race that gave Him to the world. But while religion—excuse me, I mean a perversion of religion—was partly the cause of the outrage, there must have been at work some other influence. The Christians and Jews had lived together in peace in this city of Bessarabia. The wave of anti-Semitism reached Kishineff. An anti-Semitic newspaper was started and approved by the censor, and although it was allowed to publish its articles antagonistic to the Jews, no other organ was permitted to answer it. The editor of the paper sowed the seed—and the whirlwind naturally followed.

"With all respect for what has been said by our distinguished ex-President of the United States, I am of the opinion that the local Russian administration will have difficulty in exculpating itself from the teachings it permitted to be promulgated by the anti-Semitic journal."

Dr. Schurman declared that the arguments of the Russians that the Jewish money lenders, "oppressors," were at fault was based on untruth. It had been impossible for a Jew in Russia to oppress anybody, so hedged in was he with legal restrictions that left him hardly any privilege beyond breathing the air about him.

"The trouble," he continued, "is with the official attitude of Russia toward the Jew. In Russia the Jew is not allowed to be a man and a citizen. And what official Russia does, private Russians must imitate. Would Russia protect the Jew? Let her give him his full political and civil rights! Let her repeal the harsh distinctions of which he is the victim!

"I, for one, am hopeful that the Czar, whom I believe to be possessed of lofty sentiments, will give one day to the Jew the privileges of the other Russians. If not—then America remains, another word for opportunity. And a race that has shown the Jewish power of endurance need not fear for its triumphant survival."

DR. MACARTHUR'S PROTEST.

The Rev. Dr. MacArthur, who was interrupted at the end of almost every sentence by applause, said, in part:

"Those barbarians that call themselves Christians are utterly unworthy of the name. They are a dishonor to Christianity and a reproach to humanity. If this massacre is the product of Christianity, then some of us are ready to forsake Christianity. I would rather be a Jewish victim of Kishineff than one of these so-called Christian murderers. Napoleon said: 'Scratch a Russian and you find a Tartar.' We may say truthfully of each Russian engaged in these recent massacres: 'Scratch a Russian and you find a demon.'

"Russia is the mediaeval barbarian in modern civilization. Even since the coronation of Alexander the Great in 1462 the Czar of Russia has posed as God's vice regent. Since that time Russia has claimed the divine right to be the world's master. Russia is now aiming to rule the world. Her deepest thought is that one day the world's mastership will be hers. She wanted Siberia, and she took it. She wanted Central Asia, and she took it. She wanted Manchuria, and she's taking it. She wants India, she wants the universe, and she hopes to get both. But we'll see about it.

"There is no Czar, no Emperor, no King on this earth whose throne is more powerful than the Presidential chair at Washington. The foremost man in the world to-day is the President of the United States, and the next foremost is the ex-President who honors us with his presence here to-night. And no diplomatist in the world is more capable of dealing with the delicate and difficult question involved than is the accomplished American Secretary of State, John Hay.

"If Russia is to avoid the contempt of the civilized world she must discover and punish the savage perpetrators of these foul crimes. If our Government will inform her emphatically on what conditions she can enjoy the respect, or even the recognition of the American Government, such action by the Administration will be indorsed by the American people irrespective of political creeds or religious faith. America is true to herself, and rises above the barbarism of racial hatred. She must grant equal justice to all men, of all creeds and all colors. Then, and then only, shall her voice be resistlessly potent in rebuking the atrocities of Russia."

MR. SHEPARD'S ADDRESS.

Mr. Shepard said in part:

"It was a Jew, and a Christian, who told us that God had made of one blood all the nations of men, to dwell in all the earth, and so it is when this dreadful record of an Easter day came to us from under the ocean, we saw, we heard, and we knew that one touch of nature makes the whole world kin.

"The misery, the hardships, or the ostracism of the Jew in Kishineff or the Jew anywhere else, or, for that matter, the men of any other race or creed, is my care, it is your care, and it ought to be the care of every nation. The true note of civilization is one note the whole world over, whether sounded in behalf of the Jew in Russia or whether we shall sound it in the interests of any other oppressed race of people.

"Will the Russians in Bessarabia, if they ever heard of us, if they ever heard of New York, will they listen to us? Yes, they assuredly will and they will be made to listen. To-night we have uttered here a voice that will be heard in St. Petersburg. We can say to the Czar and to the Ministers there: 'We will know you are guiltless when the feet of justice are swift. We will know it when all of the guilty are punished by you. When you have punished these men we will know that your sympathies and our sympathies are one, that the sympathies of the Christians in Russia and of the Christians in America are one in all the essentials of Christianity.' But until then we wil say that we are in doubt and will remain so so long as the guilty go unpunished.

"I believe that there is no power on earth that can override the sentiment of humanity to which we here to-night give voice. However, my own wish is to see no harm come to Russia. There are 4,000,000 Jews in Russia, and you know and I know that there a great majority of them must remain. I say I wish well to Russia, and my best wish is that she may give to every part of her people the right to be heard. I should be delighted to see Russia basking in such an atmosphere of freedom as was referred to here to-night.

TEST OF RUSSIA'S CIVILIZATION.

"Finally, one last word. How shall we test a civilization? Believe me, the crucial test is always to be found in the treatment of minorities. When a majority respects a minority, respects those who think differently, those who live differently, and those who believe differently, then you will find the highest civilization.

"My friends, when you have a Government that is all powerful to protect the minority, to protect those who are unpopular, then you have the best Government. I say this, not by way of rebuke to Russia, whose tyranny we deplore to-night, but to all other lands as well.

"Are there no persecutions of ministers or of creed or of race or of others who are unpopular here in our land? How many weeks ago is it when south of Grand Street in this very city, upon the occasion of the funeral of a reverend rabbi, there occurred an outbreak, not bloody, but as infamous in a lesser way as this crime of Kishineff that we condemn to-night. We are in respect to one another, whether we agree in creed or belief, or race, of one blood, one before God Almighty, and when that law is violated there is wrongdoing. My friends, may this voice of New York go to St. Petersburg; also may it penetrate the heart of every American citizen, that whether we hear or read of crimes in other lands, it shall not in America disgrace the Stars and Stripes or American sovereignty."

When Mr. Shepard concluded, Mayor Low put the adoption of the resolutions to the house. When he asked those who approved to say yea, a mighty chorus of approval went up, but when those who were opposed were asked to signify their objection, there was not a sound.

"The vote, I am sure, would be just as unanimous if it were put to the citizens of New York," said the Mayor, and the meeting was over.

Actors to Appear in a Benefit.

A Kishineff benefit has been arranged by the Central Relief Society to take place Sunday night, June 7, at the Academy of Music. The Mayor and the Governor have been invited to attend. The benefit will consist of a vaudeville entertainment, in which David Warfield, Jacob Adler, the Four Cohans, Margaret Severance, Mortimer Kaphan, and others will appear.

JEWS' APPEAL TO PLEHVE EFFECTIVE

Measures Taken to Curb the Anti-Semitic Press.

The Minister, However, Says He Cannot Publish a New Communique in Regard to the Kishineff Outrages.

LONDON TIMES—NEW YORK TIMES Special Cablegram.

LONDON, May 28.—On Sunday, says the St. Petersburg correspondent of The Times, M. de Plehve, the Minister of the Interior, received a deputation of Jews who journeyed from Kishineff in order to place their case before the central authorities.

The correspondent says he understands that the delegates were much impressed with the Minister's display of amiability and with the attention with which he listened to their complaints and requests. The greater part of what passed is naturally regarded as confidential and has not been divulged. It has leaked out, however, that the delegates urged on M. de Plehve the necessity of showing in some unmistakable way his disapproval of the recent outrages and of the anti-Semitic agitation generally.

The delegates objected to the tone of the communiqué published in the Official Messenger, which, they declared, was contrary to all the facts and attempted to make the Jews responsible for what had occurred.

M. de Plehve said it was impossible for him, as they must understand, to publish a new communiqué which would even seem to disavow what he had already written, but he would consider other ways of making clear to the public the sympathy the Government felt for the Kishineff sufferers. He reminded the deputation that he had dismissed the Governor of Bessarabia and the Chief of Police of Kishineff. More than that, he said, they could scarcely desire.

The delegates objected that there were among the local officials men whose guilt was even greater than the Governor's. They said they hoped the Minister would see his way toward a complete change in the personnel at Kishineff. They strongly urged that a curb be placed on the anti-Semitic agitation in a section of the press and mentioned the Znamya of St. Petersburg and the Bessarabetz of Kishineff as the chief sinners.

In this respect the Minister showed himself most willing to meet the deputation's views, and promised to take immediate action.

The Times's correspondent says that the deputation was not without effect, as is proved by an announcement in the Official Messenger forbidding the sale of the Znamya, which is the most violent of the anti-Semitic papers of St. Petersburg, except to regular subscribers.

M. de Plehve's action in regard to the anti-Semitic paper, the Znamya, apparently indicates a change of policy on the part of the Russian Government. The paper mentioned, together with the powerful Novoe Vremya, the Sviet, and the Bessarabetz, to mention a few out of many, have done everything in their power to excite hatred toward the Jews. Yet, as the St. Petersburg correspondent of The London Times remarked a week ago, the censorship, which exercises so freely its arbitrary powers over the press, did nothing to interfere with them. Even after the Kishineff massacre they were permitted to continue their attacks on the Jews, and to declare that the massacre was "a well-earned lesson," that it "served the Jews right," &c.

At the same time the defenders of the Jews were severely dealt with, and several newspapers were punished for outspoken comment on the Kishineff outrages. The Pravo, one of the leading legal reviews of Russia, received a warning for having published a signed article, of which the following was the only passage to which exception could possibly have been taken:

"It [the true explanation of the Kishineff riots] is, as already said, to be found in our legislative and administrative system, on which the relations of the Christian population to the Jews are based. From the point of view of this régime the Jew is a pariah, a being of the lower order, something evil, an und für sich. He can only be tolerated, and must be hampered in every possible way and confined within artificial boundaries.

"In the sections of the population which are without education there exists a traditional feeling of contempt, handed down from father to son, against the 'sheeny,' guilty only of having been born a 'sheeny.' This cruel and brutal way of regarding a whole race finds a sort of indirect confirmation and recognition in the dominant régime, and thus it has become possible for a young mujik who kills a Jew to believe in all sincerity that 'it is not a punishable matter.' There can be no doubt that the great majority of those who took part in the riots at Kishineff, even if they did not reason it out clearly, did not anticipate any dangerous consequences to themselves. This is certainly the most tragic side of that terrible event. Not for the Jews alone."

Not only did the Pravo receive a warning for publishing this article. The author, who is a well-known professor of law, a Kammerjunker at the Imperial Court, and the son of an ex-Minister, was called before the Minister of Justice and censured.

PLEHVE'S "BOGUS" DISPATCH.

London Times Remarks That the Governor of Bessarabia Acted Just as If He Had Received It.

LONDON TIMES—NEW YORK TIMES Special Cablegram.

LONDON, May 28.—In an editorial article to-day The Times, commenting on the denial of the authenticity of the official dispatch alleged to have been sent by M. de Plehve to the Governor of Bessarabia, accepts the dementi "in the usual way, as, for example, the way in which Mr. Hay accepted the formal contradiction issued by the Russian Foreign Office to Mr. Conger's account of the proposed Manchuria Convention, of which M. de Plancon had handed him a copy written with his own hand." The Times adds:

"It is curious and unfortunate that before and during the butchery of the Jews at Kishineff the Governor conducted himself precisely as if he had received this non-existent letter and were endeavoring to fulfill the orders given him."

WILL AID JEWS TO EMIGRATE.

LONDON, May 28.—The Standard's correspondent at Odessa asserts that the bulk of the funds subscribed in the United States and elsewhere for the relief of the Jewish sufferers from the recent riots at Kishineff will be utilized to assist the emigration of the recipients to Great Britain and America.

Two More Meetings for Westchester.

August Belmont, speaking at the close of the meeting of the Westchester Racing Association yesterday, set at rest definitely all speculation as to whether there would be any racing at Morris Park next year. He said there would surely be two meetings at the old course—the Autumn meeting of this year and the Spring meeting of 1904. Belmont Park, so far as the track itself, the grading, the landscape design, and the transit facilities are concerned, will be ready in time for the Fall meeting of 1905.

The ALLIS-CHALMERS COMPANY desires to dispose of its lease of the entire wing of the twentieth floor of the Broad-Exchange Building, 25 Broad Street, and announces that on or about July 1st it will remove to larger offices in the Empire Building, 71 Broadway, New York City.

NO SOLUTION YET OF ARDSLEY MYSTERY

Police in the Dark on the Murder of Heffernan.

Police Say That the Dying Man Mentioned the Name of His Assailant.

Special to The New York Times.

ARDSLEY-ON-HUDSON, May 27.—At the end of a day of rumors, Chief of Police Abercrombie of Irvington said to-night that he was entirely in the dark as to the identity of the murderer of John Heffernan, coachman for Max E. Sands, who was killed on the little private sidewalk running past the foot of the Schuyler estate about 8:30 o'clock last Sunday night.

Various persons were about the Ardsley Club at the time the shooting was done, and who saw Heffernan before he died, told stories to Chief Abercrombie during the day, some of them bearing upon the possibility of a well-known society man having been involved in the tragedy.

Dr. Robert Denniston of Dobbs Ferry rode in the bottom of a club wagon with the wounded man from the club to the hospital; Frank Healy, the watchman at the railroad station, and C. H. Hale, Superintendent of the Ardsley Club, carried Heffernan in from the spot where the shooting occurred, to the station platform.

One person only was in a position to see what Heffernan saw and hear what he heard. That was Sarah Campbell, his girl friend, whom he had just met at the Tarrytown train and taken for a walk up toward the place of his employer, which borders on the estate of Robert Hewett to the westward. Miss Campbell was spirited away from Tarrytown early this morning to New York City and appeared no more during the day.

It became necessary therefore, for those attempting to probe the case here to-day to depend upon the testimony of Dr. Denniston at the first session of the inquest last night and upon certain stories coming from Hale and Healy through the medium of the police, the two men in question having been ordered not to talk except to those having to do with the official investigation.

Dr. Denniston was reported as having stated at the inquest that Heffernan had told him that at first he had recognized his assailant as a relative of a prominent Ardsley resident, but later, in the struggle, he saw that the man was a total stranger. The physician denied flatly yesterday that he had said this and gave this account of his conversation with Heffernan:

Q.—John, how did it happen? A.—I heard him say "Hold up your hands!" and when I got up he shot once and missed. Then I felt a burning in my breast and again in my stomach and I knew he had hit me. I grappled with him and was getting the better of him, even at that, until he took the butt of his revolver to me.

Q.—Who was it, John? A.—I don't know. I thought he was a gentleman until he spoke, but then I knew he wasn't.

Q.—What did he look like? A.—He was a clean cut man, cleanly shaven, and was nicely dressed.

Q.—Had you ever seen him before? A.—No, I never had.

Dr. Denniston said that Heffernan at no other time had spoken to him of the identity of his assailant. He added that he fancied that Dr. Shrady, who was sitting on the box of the wagon with the driver, may have overheard the conversation. He was inclined to accept the highwayman theory of the crime.

The Hale and Healy stories, coming at second hand, were at best fragmentary. Their purport was that Heffernan as he lay on the walk dying did make an identification of a certain well-known member of the club, but afterward he was not so sure he was right. Any subsequent conversation that he may have had with the members of the Ardsley Club who came down from the clubhouse after receiving the news of the shooting has not come to light. Several members will be called to the stand in the inquest to-morrow.

This second session will be held at Ardsley, either at the station or the club, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Chief Abercrombie said that Coroner Russell had subpoenaed Edwin Gould, Gen. Philip Schuyler, F. E. Eldridge, Hale, and Healey, and several others would testify.

One of the Irvington Selectmen who had been with Mr. Abercrombie during the day said that E. S. Jaffray and Rufus L. Sewell of Boston, the fiance of Robert Hewett's youngest daughter, Miss Juanita C. Hewett, who was a visitor at Ardsley last Sunday night, and went to Boston Monday, would appear.

On the basis of all the accounts all the authorities concerned are disposed to scout the theory that any club member was concerned. Chief Abercrombie would not say what theory he accepted, if any, and the Selectman who recounted Mr. Hewett's conversation said that he was entirely at sea.

Several clues were exploded during the day. Chief Abercrombie late yesterday afternoon said that James Dunn of Tarrytown, who calls on a laundress employed by the Hewett family, came over from Tarrytown on the same train Monday night with Miss Campbell, and that when she got off he saw a man get off and walk rapidly down the private walk in the direction of the Schuyler and Hewett places.

JUDGE PRAISES JEROME.

Tells Grand Jury of Work Done by the District Attorney's Office.

In a little talk to the Grand Jury yesterday, Judge Newburger, in the Court of General Sessions, paid a compliment to the District Attorney for the manner in which he is disposing of the work of his office.

"When I first came here, in 1896," said the Judge, "there were 3,500 indictments awaiting disposition by the courts, and 400 prisoners in the Tombs awaiting trial or action of the Grand Jury. That came pretty near being the normal state of affairs in those days. At the present time there are only 304 cases of all categories in the District Attorney's office, and only 125 inmates in the Tombs. It is a frequent occurrence for the District Attorney's office to have a case ready for trial within ten days after the arrest has been made."

When the Grand Jury adjourns to-day for the term, all cases awaiting their action except eighteen will have been disposed of by that body. When the new term begins on Monday all the calendars will be small because of the small number of cases to be disposed of. All homicide cases awaiting trial will be placed on the calendar of the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court, where Justice Vernon M. Davis will preside during the term.

INCENDIARY FIRE UP TOWN.

A fire that occurred last night just around the corner from a house partly burned yesterday morning, in One Hundred and Thirty-fifth Street, is thought to have been the work of an incendiary, as was the other. In the large four-story apartment house at the corner of Eighth Avenue and One Hundred and Thirty-fourth Street, Philip Heckhaus, the janitor, discovered only by the merest chance a blaze that would in a few more minutes have been beyond control. The owner of the house is S. Brueck, and his son, William Brueck, is in charge of it.

A few minutes before 8 o'clock Heckhaus opened the steel door that leads from the hallway down to the cellar and was surprised to see flames pouring up the stairs. He shut the door hurriedly and ran back to tell William Brueck. They got a fire extinguisher, and after a hard fight succeeded in putting out the blaze. Afterward under the stairway there were found rags soaked in oil still burning.

Sergt. Wolf of the West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street Station detailed several men to the case. The fact that two such fires should occur so close together strengthens the theories of incendiarism. Herman W. De Malignon, Deputy Fire Marshal, had a conference with the police and firemen late last night over the two fires.

NEGRO EXODUS TO CITIES.

TUSKEGEE, Ala., May 27.—Booker T. Washington to-day submitted his annual report to the Board of Trustees of the Tuskegee Institute. It is in part as follows:

"There are several influences that are constantly exerting themselves against the negro growing up on the soil at present. One of these is the lack of public school facilities in the country districts and the frequent and unwise agitation of the question about dividing the school fund in proportion to the tax paid by each race. In the cities and larger towns the negro parent finds a comfortable schoolhouse and a school in session eight or nine months.

"Another thing which sends a larger number of negroes to the cities than many realize is the surety of getting police protection in the city when one is charged with crime. I think I do not overstate the matter when I say that for every lynching or attempt at a lynching that takes place in the country a score of colored people leave the country for the city. This whole question is one that should receive very serious attention."

Dinner to Austrian Consul General.

Dr. I. F. Kaufman of Syracuse responded to the toast, "The United States." B. Perczel spoke in Hungarian, and Dr. S. Breitenfeld presented to the Consul in German an illuminated address from the Austrian Society. M. de Dessenffy responded in English.

U. S. Will Pay for British Steamship.

According to a decision handed down yesterday by Judge Adams, in the United States District Court, the Federal Government will pay for the British steamship Foscolia, which was rammed and sunk off Fire Island by the United States steamship Columbia during a dense fog on the night of May 28, 1898. The warship at the time was scouting with screened lights and silenced whistles for the Spanish Admiral Cervera's fleet, which, it was thought, might be on its way to attack the seaboard cities. The Foscolia was bound for Bordeaux with a general cargo, and the total claim by Edward H. Watts and others was $368,889.36. The Government by a special act of Congress permitted itself to be sued. The question of damages now will be submitted to a referee.

ABLAZE, HE PURSUED A SUPPOSED FIREBUG

Longshoreman Declares a Fatal Tenement Fire Was Incendiary.

Four Lives Lost and Several Persons Injured—Fire Marshal and Janitor Say the Blaze Was Accidental.

With his clothing ablaze, Victor Johnson, a longshoreman, sped for more than a block yesterday morning in pursuit of a man who, he declares, set fire to a five-story tenement at 206 West One Hundred and Thirty-fifth Street. He finally dropped from exhaustion, and is now in the Harlem Hospital suffering from severe burns.

Four persons were suffocated, two were seriously hurt, and four others painfully burned in the fire. The police are looking for the incendiary. William Crop, a newsdealer, and Policeman Weiner of the West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street Police Station partly corroborate Johnson's story. The incendiary theory is doubted, however, by Fire Marshal Friel and Maurice O'Brien, the janitor of the house.

Johnson is a Finn, and lived with two other Finnish longshoremen in the rear right-side apartment on the first floor of the tenement. In the hospital yesterday, speaking through the bandages in which his face was wrapped, Johnson told his story:

"It was about 5:20 o'clock in the morning," he said, "that I got up and dressed preparatory to going to work. After dressing I had occasion to go into a small room in the hallway, and while passing through the hall I distinctly recollect detecting a strong odor of kerosene oil. Then I noticed that on both stairways it looked as if a space about 10 by 12 feet had been soaked with the oil.

"I did not at that time realize what the reason was for the oil being there and went into the room. I had been in the room a minute or two when I heard the door to the hallway entrance open and then I heard steps coming in my direction. Soon I heard a match struck and a moment later I heard the crackling of the flames.

"I opened the door quickly and saw that both stairways and the flooring under them were ablaze. Then I saw a man running toward the door. I yelled 'Fire!' as loud as I could and started after the man. To reach the street I had to dash through a wall of flame covering a space of perhaps twelve feet, and that was what set my clothes on fire.

"The man was running toward Eighth Avenue when I got to the street and started on the run after him. When he reached Eighth Avenue he turned south. All this time my clothes were burning and I was growing weaker with every step. After I had run another block I became exhausted and fell in a heap. A man came to my assistance and smothered the fire."

Crop, who runs a newsstand under the elevated steps at the southwest corner of Eighth Avenue and One Hundred and Thirty-fifth Street, said:

"About 5:30 o'clock a man ran past my place and turned down the avenue. Then a man whose clothes were on fire and who was yelling 'Fire!' came running by. Johnson was the man whose clothes were afire, but I do not know who the man was he was running after.

"I got a very good look at the man. He was about 5 feet 6 inches tall, thirty-five years of age, had dark hair and mustache, very high cheek bones, was very slim, and I would judge weighed somewhere around 135 pounds. He was dressed in black, and wore a black derby hat."

Policeman Weiner was near by when Johnson fell. Johnson told him that the tenement was on fire, and that the man he had been pursuing was the person who had started it. Weiner said the reason he had not tried to stop the man at first was that he thought the runner was going to a firebox to turn in an alarm.

Weiner then ran and turned in an alarm himself and hurried around to the house. The whole lower floor was ablaze when he reached there. He rushed through the building battering the doors with his night stick. On the second floor he found two women and six children in a state bordering on the hysterical, all of whom he succeeded in getting safely to the street. Weiner also did other rescue work.

The fire quickly spread by means of the airshaft to the top floor, in a front apartment on which floor lived George Wandling, his wife, and four children. Wandling was awakened by smoke, and shouted to his wife to awaken the children. He opened the door into the hallway to see if escape was possible. A great volume of smoke poured into the room, followed a moment later by a sheet of flame. The frantic man did all within his power to save his family, but the smoke was so stifling that all except himself and six-year-old son Walter were suffocated before assistance could reach them.

Wandling saved his boy by a dash through the burning hall. He succeeded in reaching the fourth floor, where he fell exhausted, and where a little later the two were found by Fireman George Goley, who dragged them to the fire escape.

Fireman White of Patrol Company No. 5 reached the Wandling apartment by means of the fire escape twice during the fire, but was unable to get past the window, owing to the flames and smoke inside. Wandling and his son were taken to the J. Hood Wright Hospital. The father was able to leave the hospital in the afternoon, but the boy was said to be in a critical condition.

Scores of stories were told yesterday of the heroic work of firemen, police, and citizens during the fire. The building accommodated twenty families, and the number of people in it at the time was about 100. The list of dead and injured follows:

THE DEAD.

WANDLING, Mrs. JULIA, 38 years old.
WANDLING, GEORGE, Jr., 9 years old.
WANDLING, HELEN, 5 years old.
WANDLING, CHARLES, 3 years old.

THE INJURED.

WANDLING, GEORGE, 38 years old, an express driver; burned about the face and body.
WANDLING, WALTER, 6 years old; burned about the body.
JOHNSON, VICTOR, a longshoreman; burned about face, body, and legs.
LYONS, AGNES, 7 years old; left arm broken and slight burns.
LYONS, EDWARD and MARY; burned about legs and arms.
RICE, WILLIAM B., fireman of Engine No. 37; slightly burned about the face.

The little Lyons girl was also slightly injured by a fall from a fire escape on the first story to the street. She was trying to climb down unassisted, when she slipped and fell. A policeman caught her as she was within a few feet of the pavement. She escaped with a slight shaking up.

Capt. Maartens of the West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street Station, who believes Johnson's story, with five of his men got to work early to find the incendiary. Inspector Titus also joined in the search, as did also several Central Office men from Inspector McClusky's staff. Fire Marshal Friel visited the burned tenement during the afternoon. After an examination of the premises he said that he did not believe the fire had started as Johnson said it had. He pointed to certain portions of the structure where the flames had not done such great damage as proof of his theory. He said that the condition of the flooring, walls, and ceiling of the Johnson closet indicated that the fire had started there. He thought it was due to an accidental throwing of a lighted match into a pile of rubbish.

O'Brien, the janitor, scouted the incendiary story. He also laughed when asked about the flooring and stairways being soaked with oil.

CELEBRATIONS IN THE PARKS.

Stereopticon exhibitions setting forth the history of the city, given in small parks and open spaces, were continued throughout the various boroughs in celebration of the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the municipality yesterday, and in most cases drew large crowds, especially where fireworks and music were included in the entertainment.

It was estimated that about 20,000 persons gathered at Hamilton Fish Park, where, after the last picture, several hundred school children formed in procession and marched about the park singing patriotic songs. In Abingdon Square was a band of fifty pieces to accompany the pictures and at Amsterdam Avenue and One Hundred and Sixty-second Street fireworks were displayed and the Eighth Regiment Band discoursed patriotic melodies.

Other shows and lectures on the schedule were in the Borough of Manhattan; Central Bridge Park, Jerome Avenue, in the Bronx; Red Hook and Saratoga Parks, in the Borough of Brooklyn; Monitor Square, Long Island City, in the Borough of Queens, and at Port Richmond Park, in the Borough of Richmond.

THE PRESIDENT IN MONTANA.

Greeted by Immense Crowd at Helena—Makes a Speech and Inquires After Old Trapper Friend.

HELENA, Mont., May 27.—President Roosevelt's special train arrived here over the Northern Pacific at 8:30 this morning. An immense crowd was at the station to greet the President. Around the station a cordon of soldiers had been stationed, while a battalion of the Twenty-sixth United States Infantry from Fort Harrison was drawn up opposite the train.

Among the delegation at the station were many old-time Western friends of President Roosevelt. One of the first persons he inquired about was John Willis, hunter and trapper, of Thompson, Mont., with whom he had camped years ago in this State.

After an informal reception at the station President Roosevelt and Secretary Loeb, accompanied by Gov. Toole and Mayor Edwards, entered carriages and the parade moved to the Capitol. On the way the procession passed several thousand school children massed in front of the High School building. The main audience was at the Capitol, where the President made a thirty minutes' address from the grand stairway to the main entrance.

After the address the President was escorted into the State House, where took place an informal reception, in which ex-Senator Thomas H. Carter and members of the Montana Legislature took part. After a short drive over the city the President and party boarded the special train, which had been transferred to the Great Northern tracks, and at 12:30 the train left for Butte.

PLATT AND ODELL CONFER.

Secretary of War Root to Attend the Sheldon Dinner.

Senator Platt and Gov. Odell breakfasted together yesterday, and later discussed political matters. Talking with reporters last night Senator Platt said:

"No one has yet been agreed upon for President of the Republican County Committee nor is there any one in sight. I am told that Justice S. Alonzo Kellogg of the Supreme Court, whose home is in Clinton County, will shortly resign his position on account of ill-health. It is possible his son will be appointed in his stead.

"I have not changed my mind with reference to the Fusion movement."

"It is reported," remarked a reporter, "that Mayor Low and the whole ticket of 1901, when the terms expire, will be renominated."

"Well," replied the Senator, "if Mayor Low is named again, why not nominate the rest of them."

Gov. Odell would not discuss politics. He will remain in the city during the greater part of the week, with a possible trip up the State, where his little daughter is convalescing from an attack of scarlet fever. It is very probable that he will attend to-morrow night the dinner to George R. Sheldon, Treasurer of the Republican County Committee. Covers will be laid for about twenty, and one of the latest to accept an invitation is Secretary of War Root.

TO UNVEIL M'KINLEY STATUE.

President Roosevelt to Perform Ceremony at Adams, Mass.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., May 27.—President Roosevelt has consented to unveil the bronze statue of McKinley at Adams, a town twelve miles north of here. The ceremony will probably take place in "Old Home" week, which is to be from July 26 to Aug. 1.

William B. Plunkett, of Adams, who entertained President McKinley at his house on two different occasions for a week each, was instrumental in having the statue erected. It is the work of Lukeman. Mr. McKinley laid the cornerstone of the Adams Library and of the Berkshire Cotton Mills, of which Mr. Plunkett is Treasurer. Mr. Plunkett has been corresponding with President Roosevelt for some time, urging him to unveil the statue, and the President finally consented to do so.

It is expected that Mrs. Roosevelt and Miss Alice Roosevelt will accompany the President on his visit to Adams.

SHOT COUSIN, KILLED SELF.

Solomon Horn, thirty-two years old, of 372 Marcy Avenue, Brooklyn, committed suicide by shooting himself in the head yesterday afternoon after having shot his cousin, Elias Reiss, thirty-four years old, of 826 Greene Avenue, Brooklyn. Reiss probably will die.

Reiss is the Superintendent of the Bernheim, Drefoos & Herrmann shirt factory, at 302 Monroe Street, in which Horn was employed. He was returning from luncheon and had reached the first landing on the dark stairs when Horn stepped out and shot him twice in the back. Horn then shot himself.

William Mayo, a truck driver, and Patrolman Eschenberg of the Delancey Street Police Station rushed into the building in time to prevent the frightened women employes from running to the street. Dr. Batchelder soon came and hurried Reiss to the hospital, saying he was in a critical condition.

Reiss is considered wealthy. Three years ago he owned the factory, and since selling it has been the Superintendent. Horn was a cutter at $13 a week. He is said to have made repeated demands on his cousin for money. C. Bernheim of the firm said Horn was of a morose and quarrelsome character and that Reiss treated him too generously, giving him from $5 to $10 a week in addition to his pay.

In the pockets of Horn were found two letters, both written in German and dated yesterday. One was addressed to his wife and child and the other to the Coroner. In the one to his wife he wrote vaguely that Reiss had got into trouble with a woman and was compelled to pay $5,000 to get out of it. He also said in rambling on that Reiss had taken him to 441 Grand Street, a saloon, and bought two bottles of wine and one of cognac, and that a forewoman, who had since died, was there ill. Expressions in the letter showed that Horn had talked to his wife of killing his cousin.

The letter to the Coroner was long and hysterical. In it he said that Reiss, influenced by a girl in the factory, had prevented him from being made a shirt contractor. He alluded to the fact of losing his position as foreman when the factory changed hands, and said his cousin had refused to reinstate him, according to a promise, because a woman would not work under him. An understanding was reached, he declared, whereby Reiss paid him $9 actual salary and four more charged up on the expense account of the firm, but this action, he held, was betrayal of the firm and made him one of its betrayers and undermined his moral character.

"Thou hast promised much," the letter concluded, "but my character and honor as a man have been destroyed by you, and I consider it worth more than money, and there is no human being who can say a good word for your character. As I have taken revenge, your bad character will fall into other hands."

Coroner Scholer took Reiss's ante-mortem statement at the Gouverneur Hospital last night. Reiss said that he could not understand why Horn had shot him. He had always helped the man as much as he could, but Horn would not work well and was not competent to hold the position of foreman. The talk about women, he declared, was nonsense.

FINDS MOTHER IN AN ASYLUM.

After searching for nearly twenty years a Brooklyn woman found her mother in the Middletown (Conn.) Insane Asylum. Since then she has procured the arrest of her father in a suit for separation, and alleges that after making his wife a charge on the public he has committed bigamy.

The story was revealed yesterday in the certification by the Sheriff of Rockland to the County Clerk of Kings County of the execution of the order of arrest signed by Justice Dickey of the Supreme Court, Brooklyn. Under this order he has arrested and committed to the Rockland County Jail Frank Buchonowski, otherwise known as Frank B. Smith, the defendant in an action brought by Marie Buchonowski.

It is charged in the papers that the plaintiff has been an inmate of various New England insane asylums since 1883, and that her husband abandoned her and concealed the fact of her incarceration from his family. Her daughter, Mrs. Mary B. Halloran of 464 Sixth Street, Brooklyn, had been told by the defendant that her mother had died when she was a child.

In 1900, it is charged, Buchonowski married Mary Enot in Newark, N. J. He has a farm and other property in Bellport, Suffolk County, valued at $10,000. Mrs. Buchonowski is now with her daughter in Brooklyn.

THE PRESENT OUTLOOK FOR ARBITRATION

Roseate Views Expressed at Lake Mohonk Conference.

John W. Foster Advocates General Arbitration Treaty Between England and America—Growth of International Movement.

LAKE MOHONK, N. Y., May 27.—The Lake Mohonk Conference on International Arbitration was begun here to-day. The general topic of the first session was "The Present Outlook of Arbitration." The opening address was made by John W. Foster, ex-Secretary of State.

Mr. Foster said that the most edifying and auspicious event to come under the observation of believers in arbitration had come from a quarter of the world to which Anglo-Saxons had not been inclined to look for helpful examples in good government. He referred to Chile and Argentina. A controversy over a boundary line, he said, had threatened to light the torch of war and thrust these two prosperous peoples into sanguinary conflict. But better counsels prevailed, and Chile and Argentina agreed to submit their differences to the arbitration of the King of England. His award was accepted by both nations.

"But that is only the beginning of the narrative," said the speaker. "The two nations have entered into a treaty whereby they agree to submit all questions which cannot be settled by diplomacy to arbitration, the only exception being those involving principles of their Constitutions. They further agreed to stop the construction of naval vessels and to sell those which were ordered at the time the war fever was raging, and as a result there are now in the naval dockyards of Europe several war vessels of the two nations seeking customers. They also agreed to reduce their armies to a peace footing and to so maintain them, and to partially disarm their naval vessels at home.

"From these far-away countries, where we have been so prone to expect war and disorder, comes this inspiring and hopeful example."

Referring to the Venezuelan imbroglio, Mr. Foster said the event showed some of the evil effects of transforming the populous nations into great military powers and also served to bring into prominence the value of arbitration and the utility of The Hague Tribunal.

"Not the least of the events of the past year tending to peace," said the speaker, "is the treaty between the Governments of the United States and Great Britain to refer the controverted question of the Alaskan boundary to a mixed tribunal of American and British jurists.

"One of the chief objects of the present conference is to influence public opinion in favor of arbitration. Let us concentrate our efforts in favor of a general arbitration treaty between the American and British Governments on the lines of the unratified convention of 1897."

The attendance at the conference was nearly three hundred members, the largest in the history of Mohonk meetings. The following officers were elected: President—John W. Foster; Secretaries—Clinton Rogers Woodruff and H. C. Phillips; Treasurer—Alexander C. Wood; Chairman of Business Committee—John Crosby Brown; Chairman of Finance Committee—John B. Garrett; Chairman of Publication Committee—Dr. Benjamin F. Trueblood.

Dr. Benjamin F. Trueblood gave a review of the year's progress in arbitration, saying in part as follows:

"The past year has not been one of surprises in arbitration events, but it has been one of steady and most encouraging progress. When we met here at Mohonk a year ago the agreement of the United States of Mexico to refer the Pious Fund controversy to The Hague Court had just been announced. A few weeks later a tribunal consisting of five of the ablest living international jurists was chosen from the court, and the case was quickly and inexpensively determined.

"The ink was scarcely dry by which this decision was written when an agreement was reached between Japan on the one hand and Great Britain, France, and Germany on the other to carry the so-called Japanese house tax case to the court. This house tax case is now actually before a tribunal of three of The Hague Judges.

"Within a few weeks it has been announced from Paris that the French Government and that of Guatemala have reached an agreement to refer to The Hague the question of the claims of a French engineer against Guatemala.

"It was not to be expected that the nations would immediately submit to The Hague all controversies arising between them after the court's inauguration. Within the past year the following controversies have been referred to special arbitrators or arbitral commissions, namely:

"The controversy between Italy and Guatemala as to the treatment of Italian emigrants.

"The question of claims of citizens of France against Venezuela.

"The boundary dispute between Bolivia and Peru.

"The controversy between the United States and Santo Domingo over the claims of the Santo Domingo Improvement Company.

"The question between Great Britain and Portugal of any difficulties that may arise in locating their colonial boundaries in South Africa.

"The question of the claims of Sala & Co. of New York against the Republic of Santo Domingo.

"The Alaskan boundary dispute between the United States and Great Britain, which has been referred to a new mixed commission.

"The year has been most fruitful in the decision of cases referred to arbitration before The Hague court was set up.

"There seems little doubt, as we gather here for this ninth Lake Mohonk arbitration conference, that the end of our hopes will be measurably realized in a few years more if we and other individuals and organizations similar to this give ourselves earnestly, steadfastly, and wisely to the completion of the work so well begun and now so far advanced."

FINED FOR SHADOWING A MAN.

The right of a private detective to shadow a person was involved in the case of David Weller, a private detective, who was convicted and fined $30 yesterday in the Court of Special Sessions. The conviction was found under Section 675 of the Penal Code, which makes it a misdemeanor to "annoy or interfere with any person or persons by any offensive or disorderly act," and is said to be the first of its kind as far as the Court of Special Sessions is concerned.

The complainant in the case was Henry J. Braker, a merchant and promoter, with an office at 100 William Street. Weller shadowed Braker for several days while the Amory-Vreeland examination was pending. He was arrested on March 27 by Detective Sergt. McNaught. Justice Mayer said that if the word "annoy" in the statute stood for anything at all it certainly applied in this case.

"A respectable man has rights which must be protected," he said, "and it is not right that he should be subjected to the annoyance of being followed from the time he gets up in the morning until he retires at night."

Motor Car Properties Taken Over.

The properties of the International Motor Car Company were taken over by the Pope Motor Car Company yesterday in the course of the reorganization of the American Bicycle Company's properties and subsidiary organizations. The change was purely technical. Col. Albert A. Pope said that changes of this kind would be made from time to time in the reorganization. The International Motor Car Company was a part of the International Bicycle Company.

Samuel Gotthelf is President; Theodore P. Gilman Vice President, and George F. Krapp Cashier. The Directors are William W. Woods, Paul Taylor Brown, Morris H. Hayman, Samuel Gotthelf, Max Schwartz, and Albert Weiss.

Federal Bank's Grand Street Branch.

The Federal Bank of New York has been authorized by the State Banking Department to open its Grand Street branch, located at the northwest corner of Grand and Orchard Streets, which will therefore be opened for business this morning. The capital of the bank has been increased to $250,000, with a surplus of $50,000, making a total of $300,000.

MISSIONARIES NEEDED FOR FOREIGN FIELDS

Presbyterian Board Unable to Supply the Demand.

General Assembly to Meet in Buffalo Nevt Year—The Rev. Louis Richter Excommunicated for Acting as Brewery Agent.

LOS ANGELES, May 27.—Rapid progress was made by the Presbyterian General Assembly to-day in the disposition of reports of special committees and standing boards. Buffalo was selected as the next place of meeting, and the way was cleared for the hearing of the most important subjects that are on the programme, the reports on the revision of the Confession of Faith, divorce and remarriage, and the consideration of the Tennessee overture on the question of separate Presbyteries for colored people. These three reports have been set for hearing to-morrow, and the day promises to be the big day of the present Assembly.

The Board of Foreign Missions presented its report this morning. The board reported that the year both in the Church at home and abroad has been marked by a deepening of the spiritual life. The additions on confession of faith to the mission churches were 5,227. The previous year there were 5,241, the largest number with a single exception in any year of the board's history.

The board has 127 stations, 1,402 out-stations, 764 schools, 27,370 pupils in schools, 38,342 Sunday school scholars, 683 churches, (312 of these are in Korea, and it is scarcely proper to call them churches; they are rather groups of believers;) 122 students for the ministry, 10 printing presses, and 91 hospitals and dispensaries, which treated during the year 290,108 patients.

The board in its report pays high tribute to the work of the women's boards and societies, whose total receipts for the year, including young people's societies, were $352,440.

"One weak point in our foreign mission service," says the report, "is the work in the Sunday schools. The total number of Sunday schools in the Presbyterian Church is 7,748; of this number only 1,902 contributed directly to the board last year. How many contributed through women's boards and societies or directly through the offerings of the Church the board has not been able to ascertain. Special efforts are now being made to reach the Sunday schools. We would call the attention of the Assembly to the need of more thorough instruction in the Sunday schools regarding foreign missions."

The board sent out to the foreign field 142 missionaries, 66 of whom were returning to their fields and 76 were newly appointed. This is the largest number ever sent out in a single year. Even with the large reinforcements many fields, it is said, are still needing workers. The board has under appointment for the new year 56 new missionaries. The missionaries asked for exceeded 200.

For the six successive years the board reports no deficit. The result has been attained, however, only by reducing the requisitions of the mission to the level of the contribution of the Church. The missions are asking for 50 per cent. more for the present needs of the field than the Church is providing.

"The outlook for our mission work," concludes the report, "is bright. The heathen nations are being laid at our doors, opportunities for service are legion, the call from many fields for workers is importunate."

Discussion of the report occupied nearly the full time of the morning session, the main address being made by the Rev. Dr. A. W. Halsey, Secretary of the Foreign Missions Board.

A case of intense interest to the church came up in the afternoon. It was the appeal of the Rev. Louis Richter of Minneapolis from the action of his Presbytery and the Synod of Minnesota in deposing him from the ministry and excommunicating him from the church. The charge against Mr. Richter was that he, as a Presbyterian minister, had occupied a post as agent for the disseminating of literature for the brewery trust. It was also charged that after citation of his Presbytery, he appealed by circulars to the saloons and breweries to contribute to a fund to enable him to prosecute his case before the General Assembly. The case was tried by a judicial committee appointed by the Assembly, which was headed by the Rev. Dr. Samuel McCormick as Chairman. This committee reported to the Assembly to-day, sustaining the action of the Minnesota Synod. It was adopted by the Assembly and Mr. Richter, by that means, was barred from the church.

The Chairman of the Mileage Committee announced that the committee had decided to cut down the expense accounts of some of the Commissioners, as they were considered excessive. The Mileage Committee handles about $73,000 for expenses, and the expense accounts exceeded this sum by about $8,000.

The Assembly appointed a committee of seven Commissioners to consider the entire subject of the relation of the Presbyterian Church to other churches in matters of "co-operation, confederation, and consolidation." The committee was instructed to open correspondence with other Christian churches for the furtherance of these subjects. Moderator Coyle was made Chairman of the committee.

The Board of Publication and Sunday School Work presented its report. An important change in the organization of the board was effected by the adoption of a brief recommendation in the report of the Standing Committee on Publication and Sabbath School Work. This was to the effect that the Board of Publication and Sabbath School Work be authorized to reorganize itself and report to the next Assembly. Though this clause was passed without comment this afternoon, the result will be the complete separation of the Sabbath school department from that of publication.

Treasurer H. W. Roberts of the Committee on the Twentieth Century Fund announced the accomplishment of the committee during the past year.

The report showed that the contributions had been $12,089,063, the largest amount ever reported by the Church for a single fund. The larger part of the sum was given to home objects, the amount recommended for the boards of the Church being $3,900,000, for the theological seminaries, $2,700,000, and for colleges $5,000,000.

MINNEAPOLIS, May 27.—The Rev. Louis Richter of this city, in speaking of the decision of the General Assembly at Los Angeles in excommunicating him, said in an interview:

"I was not surprised at the decision of the Assembly in excommunicating me. The decision cannot harm me. I am seventy-three years of age, too old to fill a pulpit, and they can deprive me of nothing. I still maintain that I am a minister of the Lord Jesus Christ, and regard myself in every way vested with power to perform any ordinary functions as a minister, such as I might be called upon to administer. The church law is not the highest law. There still remains the civil law, and I am advised that I cannot be divested of my profession even by the General Assembly, except in so far as it is in keeping with the civil law of the land. I have not yet done with the matter, and shall still be heard from in the future, the Lord willing."

White Has Captured the Store.

By the dictates of Dame Fashion, who rules mankind with haughty sway, white is supreme this season. The mightiest power on earth is petty when compared with Fashion's influence—and so, in accordance with this whim of the fickle Dame, we are holding an Exposition of white.

Look at the windows—they mirror the broader display that greets you at almost every turn in the store. Here, there and everywhere white smilingly bids you a cheery how'd'y do.

Thousands have already been charmed by the dignity, beauty and refinement of the merchandise which has transformed the store into a veritable bower of white.

The fresh, snowy, immaculate goods tell their own story of worthfulness, and the price moderateness speaks most eloquently of economy.

Men's Worsted Sack Suits

The quiet, neat patterns, in rather smooth, light weight cloths, are much affected for men's Sack Suits this Summer.

It's a sensible idea, too—for they are cool and comfortable, as well as stylish; and the materials are of a sort that keep in shape easily.

Of course, we help the suits to keep up appearances by the way we make them. Materials are well shrunk, in the first place—both the goods, which are in evidence, and the canvas lining, which isn't. Then collars and buttonholes are made by hand—and the whole effect of the suits is equal to the work turned out by a good custom tailor, at half his price.

We recommend, for the man who likes to be well-dressed for the least possible expenditure, looking these new Summer Worsted Suits over. $20, $25 and $30.

Second floor, Fourth avenue.

Men's Straw Hats

The last few days rather gave a set-back to the men who sported their straw hats early. But these are wise, nevertheless—for, though withdrawn from circulation temporarily, their straw hats are ready to blossom forth again with the slightest rise in the temperature. While your straw is yet to be bought.

After June first you'll have to wear one, and you'll probably want it before Decoration Day. And today is an easier time to buy it than tomorrow will be—too many other men will think of that straw hat tomorrow.

But today or tomorrow, the WANAMAKER Hat Store is by far the best place to come. Best variety, best hats, least prices—you can't fail to find the hat you want, and pay less for it than you would elsewhere.

Men's Split Straw Hats, at $1.50, $2, $2.50, $3, $3.50, $4 and $5.

Thousands of Summer outfits are being prepared; hundreds of June brides are arranging trousseaux. The sale is timely, the garments are refined and splendidly made, the prices are exceptionally low. Little wonder that public enthusiasm has been constant among the counters of White this week. Never was public attention more deserved, or more worth while.

Girls' Woolen Dresses Early Reductions

These price-reductions on pretty woolen dresses for girls of 6 to 12 years are early from two points of view.

In the first place the reign of the wash dress hasn't fairly begun as yet—mothers can buy these dresses for their children's immediate wear. Secondly, the Summer outfit, which must include a few woolen dresses for cool days at seaside or mountain, is still to be bought, in many cases.

So this chance to save a quarter to half of the price, on pretty, new frocks is worth grasping. Two groups today at new prices:

At $5, were $6.75 to $10

Sailor and Russian Dresses of serge, cheviot and mixed materials; variously made and trimmed; in all good shades.

At $10, were $13.50 to $17.50

Dresses of challis, serge and brilliantine, in white and light shades, in sailor, Russian and other styles; all beautifully made.

LUMBER DEALERS TO CONTINUE SHUT-DOWN

Public Schools in the Same Category With Other Buildings.

Delegate Archibald Criticises Board of Building Trades for Not Trying Harder to Stop Union Dissensions.

The Executive Committee of the Lumber Dealers' Association held a meeting yesterday at 18 Broadway and decided to continue the shut-down until the Team Drivers' Union withdraws its demands. Similar action was taken by the Building Material Dealers' Association. A representative of the Press Committee of the Lumber Dealers' Association said yesterday afternoon:

"There will be no change in the situation until the demands of the drivers are withdrawn. The schools are in the same category in this respect as are other buildings. The association allowed some of its lumber to be sent to cemeteries, where it was wanted for emergency work. This is the only case in which it has relaxed its rules."

Work, it was said yesterday, was resumed at the public school on One Hundred and Twenty-sixth Street, between Second and Third Avenues, where Candee & Smith deposited a large quantity of building material before the shut-down took place. It was charged at the time that the material was carted by non-union men and the masons' laborers were forbidden by the walking delegates to handle it on pain of being disciplined. The embargo was raised yesterday by the trades unions, who told the delegates that they might go to work. Soon work was generally resumed.

Superintendent of School Buildings C. B. J. Snyder said that there was a slight improvement in affairs at the public schools. The improvement was greater in Brooklyn than in Manhattan, and the men are all returning to work in Brooklyn.

"To-day," he continued, "there are 1,218 men at work on the schools in all the boroughs. This is less than 50 per cent. of the men required. The principal reason the work is stopped is lack of building materials, and the contractors say they cannot get truck drivers. The High School of Commerce, at Sixty-fifth and Sixty-sixth Streets, between Amsterdam Avenue and Broadway, will, I believe, be finished before the schools reopen after the vacation. There are eight or nine more schools or additions to schools, however, at which work is practically at a standstill."

Mr. Snyder said that the action of the building material and lumber drivers in shutting down had been investigated. They had hedged themselves round with legal safeguards, however.

Edward Kelly, Chairman of the Committee of Five appointed by the Board of Building Trades to bring the shut-down to the attention of the authorities, said that the committee held a meeing yesterday. He showed two letters which he said were from employers sympathizing in the movement of the board. He withheld the signatures.

James P. Archibald, delegate of the Brotherhood of Painters to the Central Federated Union, sent a letter yesterday to his National organization describing the present situation. He criticised the Board of Building Trades for not trying more earnestly to stop the dissensions between unions, which were responsible for starting the present labor troubles. Wages and conditions, he said, were better than they were ten years ago.

FIRST CASE FOR EMPLOYERS.

Master Cement Workers Refer Their Strike—The Fuller Company and the Central Body.

The first organization of employers to place the management of trouble with a labor union in the hands of the Board of Governors of the Building Trades Employers' Association is the Masters' League of Cement Workers of Manhattan and the Bronx, whose union employes are on strike. The shut-down in the lumber and building material yards caused fewer men to be at work than usual, but enough men were working to make the strike felt.

As the strike was on account of no grievances of the cement workers here, but simply in sympathy with the cement workers of Brooklyn, who are locked out to head off a strike there, it was considered that the matter should be referred to the central body.

"We have nothing further to do with the matter," said a member of the Masters' League of Cement Workers. "The Board of Governors will take the matter up and have full charge."

Vincent C. King of the Building Trades Employers' Press Committee said yesterday afternoon that it would be probably a week from to-morrow before the Board of Governors has a formal meeting.

The George A. Fuller Company, one of the large firms of general contractors in the city, which is now a subsidiary company of the United States Realty and Construction Company, it was stated yesterday, has not yet decided to join the Building Trades Employers' Association. The Fuller Company had representatives at the meeting at which the central association was formed, but made no decision in the matter. Vice President McConnell of the Fuller Company would not talk on the subject yesterday. Representatives of the Central Association, however, admitted that the Fuller Company had kept aloof so far.

One reason advanced for the Fuller Company keeping out of the central association is that it has contracts in cities all over the United States, and that the present organization being local, the Fuller Company could not be fairly represented.

TWO NEW LABOR OFFICIALS.

Commissioner McMackin Appoints Richard Gilleland and Thomas A. Keith.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, May 27.—Labor Commissioner McMackin to-day announced the appointments of Richard Gilleland of New York City to be Labor Arbitrator in the place of Bernard Stark, deceased, and of Thomas A. Keith of Brooklyn to be assistant to the First Deputy Commissioner in place of Lewis A. Havens. The salaries respectively are $2,500 and $2,400 annually.

Richard Gilliland is a Republican who has represented the Twenty-third District of Manhattan in the State Assembly. He is forty-eight years of age and was born in the North of Ireland, coming to this country with his parents while yet a small boy. He has been engaged in business as a painter and decorator in Harlem, and has been associated with labor movements for many years.

Thomas A. Keith for thirty-one years has been engaged in newspaper work in this city, having been on THE NEW YORK TIMES for the past five years as a political writer. Prior to that he was on The World for many years. Mr. Keith has lived in Brooklyn practically all his life, and is a Republican worker in the Eighteenth Assembly District of Kings County. He will make his headquarters at the local office of the department, at 107 East Thirty-first Street.

DOCK STRIKE WON QUICKLY.

Fall River Line Employes Out for an Hour and a Half.

About 450 men employed on the docks of the Fall River Line piers and steamers, who were on strike at Piers 18 and 19, North River, returned to work yesterday through the importunities of the officials of the line. One hundred and fifty men are employed to load and unload steamers and stack freight at $18 a week, and 200 truckers are employed at 20 cents an hour. For some time the freight handlers had been trying to get the truckers to work for $18 a week, and yesterday morning Assistant Superintendent Franklin had 100 foreigners ready for work at this rate. The 150 freight handlers and 200 truckers struck and the foreigners learning the cause also struck.

After the men were out for an hour and a half the company consented to a return to the old schedules, the foreigners also receiving 20 cents an hour. The latter said when they came they had been under the impression that $18 was the regular rate.

Iron Workers Plan Sympathy Strike.

The architectural iron workers who are on strike against members of the Iron League met yesterday in Faulhaber's Hall, 1,551 Second Avenue. It was announced that the structural iron workers would be asked to strike in sympathy on every building in the city for which the members of the Iron League has contracts if non-union men were put to work in place of the strikers. Both organizations belong to the International Bridge and Structural Iron Workers' Union.

RUSSIA'S MOVE IN KOREA.

Seoul Government Again Protests—Action by the Opposition in the Japanese Diet.

LONDON TIMES—NEW YORK TIMES Special Cablegram.

LONDON, May 28.—Replying to the Russian representative in Seoul, says the Tokio correspondent of The Times, the Korean Government insists that all acquisitions of lands and buildings by aliens in the interior, in connection with mining and railway concessions, have hitherto been prefaced by official sanction, whereas the Russian purchases at Yongam-Pho are wholly unsanctioned.

The leader of the opposition in the Lower House of the Japanese Diet presented to the Government a series of questions in regard to Korea and Manchuria, asserting that the condition of the latter constituted a violation of Chinese sovereignty and injury to Japanese interests. He declared that the Government had failed to co-operate with Great Britain by utilizing the British-Japanese alliance, which was intended to secure the integrity of China and Korea.

An address to the throne impeaching the Ministry, introduced by the opposition in the Lower House, was rejected by 228 votes to 123.

RUSSIAN OFFICERS ARRESTED.

Two Lieutenants Admit They Are Revolutionists—One Intended to Kill Pobiedonostzeff.

BERLIN, May 27.—The Lokal Anzeiger prints a dispatch from St. Petersburg stating that the arrest of two officers of the Artillery of the Guard, Lieuts. Grigorieff and Molostvoff, has caused a painful sensation in military circles. The arrests were the result of the seizure of correspondence of the most compromising revolutionary character.

Lieut. Grigorieff told the examining Judge that he had decided to shoot the Procurator of the Holy Synod, M. Pobiedonostzeff, the day of the burial of M. Sipiaguine, the Minister of the Interior, who was shot and killed in April, 1902, but when he saw the feeble old man he changed his mind.

Lieut. Molostvoff also admitted he had intended to kill a high personage.

The examinations of the prisoners have been conducted with rigor, in order to uncover suspected plots.

TOURS OF HEADS OF STATES.

King Victor Emmanuel Going to Paris—President Loubet to Visit London and Rome.

PARIS, May 27.—Official arrangements have been concluded for a visit by King Victor Emmanuel to Paris on July 3 or 7. The question concerning the date is due to the uncertainty as to whether the King will go to London before coming to Paris. Elaborate festivities will be arranged here in his Majesty's honor.

It has also been officially determined that President Loubet will visit London and Rome. In connection with the latter visit official consideration is being given to the question whether M. Loubet will visit the Pope. The understanding here is that the Vatican is in favor of such a visit.

Danish King Goes to Wiesbaden.

COPENHAGEN, May 27.—King Christian started to-day for Wiesbaden to take the waters there.

LONDON, May 27.—A crowd of friends assembled at Waterloo Railroad Station here this morning to bid farewell to Ambassador Choate, who is making a flying trip to America.

Mr. McCormick, the United States Ambassador to Russia, and his niece, Miss Patterson; Mrs. Tower, wife of the American Ambassador to Germany, and her two daughters, and United States Senator Scott are fellow-passengers of Mr. Choate on the North German Lloyd liner Kronprinz Wilhelm, which sailed from Southampton shortly after noon to-day.

British Steamer Bound for Grimsby from Antwerp Collides with Another Vessel and Sinks.

Twenty-two Austrian and Italian emigrants on the Huddersfield perished.

New Bourse at Amsterdam Opened.

WOULD KEEP CHURCH NAME.

GARDEN CITY, L. I., May 27.—When the thirty-seventh annual convention of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Long Island reconvened this morning a committee was named to report on the proposed change of name of the Protestant Episcopal Church in America to a more distinctive name. The committee was composed of the Rev. Reese F. Alsop, the Rev. J. H. Darlington, T. R. Jennings, and Col. J. A. Nichols. The committee subsequently reported that with unanimous consent it concurred with the Bishop's conclusions, and held that it was uncalled for and inexpedient to make any change in the present title of the Church. The Rev. Dr. Litchfield moved that the words "At this time" be added to the resolution. This proposition was lost. Then the resolution was adopted by a vote of 94 to 28.

The nominations for members of the Standing Committee were then read by the Secretary of the convention. These were as follows:

Lay Committee until 1906—Augustus Van Wyck, Charles Ticksley, Edward N. Townsend, and T. R. Jennings.

Lay Committee until 1907—Alexander E. Orr.

Clerical Committee until 1907—The Rev. H. C. Swentzel.

On the second ballot ex-Justice Van Wyck was elected lay member until 1906. Mr. Orr and the Rev. H. C. Swentzel were also elected.

In a discussion on the proposed change in the name of the Protestant Episcopal Church, the Rev. Dr. Manning of Brooklyn said that in his opinion the name of the Catholic Church should be restored. He said that under the present conditions it is difficult for a member of the Church to tell whether his children were Catholics or Protestants.

The Rev. Mr. McDuffie declared that Mr. Manning's remarks were out of order, and for a time there was an excited discussion on this point. Several delegates tried to speak at the same time, and Bishop Burgess finally lectured the members, and said that better order must be preserved.

FELL FROM A STREET CAR.

Charles Adams, fifty-four years old, of 144 West Eighty-second Street, a Magistrate's clerk, was seriously injured last night by falling from a north-bound Columbus Avenue car, between Eightieth and Eighty-first Streets. Dr. Miller of Roosevelt Hospital said he had a fractured skull. He was taken to his home.

Mr. Adams and his wife were on an open car about 9 o'clock, and at Eightieth Street Mr. Adams told his wife that he would get off at the next corner and get a newspaper. He arose to attract the conductor's attention and had just gained his feet when he slipped and fell from the car, striking his head against a pillar of the elevated road.

CULVER LEADS AT GOLF

Beats Travis by Two Strokes in Metropolitan Championship.

Thirty-two Qualify at Deal for the Match Play Rounds To-day—Forty-four Contestants Start.

A new aspirant for metropolitan golf honors appeared yesterday in the opening of the annual Metropolitan Golf Club championship tournament on the links of the Deal Golf Club, New Jersey. Dr. D. Le Roy Culver of the Jersey City Golf Club won the medal for the lowest score in the thirty-six-hole qualifying round, finishing with a total of 166 strokes, beating Walter J. Travis, the present local champion, by two strokes. Dr. D. P. Fredericks, a Pittsburg golfer, but a member of the Deal Club, came third with 170.

The number of starters, from sixty-two entries, dwindled to forty-four. Percy Chubb was the only withdrawal. Thirty-two qualified for the championship play, and they will complete two match play rounds to-day. President Horace Russell has offered a magnificent cup to be played for by the second set of thirty-two, but there are only eleven to start for this trophy. A triple tie at 198 resulted for the last place in the championship set, and in the play-off W. C. Freeman won. The other two dropped to the top of the President's Cup set. Findlay Douglas, a former local champion, finished fourteenth, with 181 strokes. A high wind made low scoring impossible.

The thirty-two who qualified for the metropolitan championship are:

All of the appointees have seen years of service with the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

The Directors of the Pennsylvania Company and the Pan Handle also met to-day and created the position of Assistant Superintendent of the Cleveland and Pittsburg Division of the Northwest system. J. W. Coneys was appointed to the position. The office of Superintendent of Pittsburg Terminals, held by Mr. Patterson, was abolished. The position of General Agent at Pittsburg was revived, the appointment going to Mr. Jaggard.

The Directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad also reorganized the divisions on the main line, promoted several Division Superintendents, moved the headquarters of the Philadelphia Division to Harrisburg and the offices of the Middle Division from Harrisburg to Altoona.

PACIFIC MAIL'S REPORT.

The annual report of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company was made public yesterday at the annual meeting of the company, when the Directors were re-elected with the exception of Charles H. Tweed of Speyer & Co., who was succeeded by Paul M. Warburg of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. This means a further strengthening of the Harriman interests in this board, which is now composed as follows: E. H. Harriman, George J. Gould, Edwin Hawley, George H. Macy, Ogden Mills, Russell Sage, R. P. Schwerin, James Speyer, and Paul M. Warburg.

The annual report shows a decrease in earnings which is explained by the company as follows:

"There was a shrinkage in the company's earnings from an unusual combination of unfavorable conditions. The earthquake in Guatemala unsettled business in that republic for a considerable time, a quarantine existed at some of the Mexican ports, the low price of silver reduced the exports to all countries on a silver basis, and some business was diverted by the low rates made by the Suez Canal lines."

EXTENDING ILLINOIS CENTRAL.

Going into Alabama Mineral Belt and on to Birmingham.

Special to The New York Times.

MEMPHIS, May 27.—The announcement has been made by the Illinois Central officials that the Canton, Aberdeen and Nashville Railroad would be extended from Brilliant, Ala., north to Tuscumbia and Sheffield, and thence west, paralleling the Tennessee River to the Mississippi-Alabama State line, just north of Iuka, Miss. This line will be connected with the extension projected from Jackson, Tenn., last Fall, southeast to the Tennessee-Mississippi State line, and across Tishomingo County, Miss., to the Alabama State line. The Canton, Aberdeen and Nashville Railroad is a short piece of property, only eight miles in length, running from Winnfield, on the 'Frisco system, to Brilliant, where it touches some valuable coal lands, owned by prominent officials of the Illinois Central system.

The announcement that this road will be extended to Tuscumbia, and thence on north for the Jackson connection, is the first official confirmation of the numerous reports that the Illinois Central would enter the Alabama mineral belt over its own rails and proceed to Birmingham, which is the railroad centre of the district.

TRAFFIC CONFERENCE FAILS.

Western, Southwestern, and Gulf Roads Cannot Agree on Differential Grain Rate.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 27.—Traffic officials of the Western, Southwestern, and Gulf roads, at their meeting here yesterday, failed to reach an agreement in regard to the demand of the Gulf roads for a larger differential rate on export grain and flour.

The lines running to the Atlantic seaports were not inclined to allow the Gulf roads a lower rate than is made from the Missouri River to Newport News by all rail or the lake and rail rate via Chicago to New York.

The only concession they were willing to make was an allowance to the Gulf lines covering the amount of increased insurance from New Orleans and Galveston.

SERENO PAYNE GETS A SHAVE.

House Leader Parts with an Eighteen-Year-Old Beard and His Friends Cut Him.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Representative Payne of New York, who arrived here last night, gave his old friends a great surprise, many of them failing to recognise him owing to the great change he has made in his appearance. Soon after the dissolution of the Fifty-seventh Congress Mr. Payne went South for a trip which covered a couple of months, and while there had his full beard shaved off. That was the beard Mr. Payne brought to Washington eighteen years ago, when he first came to Congress, and no one here ever saw him without the hirsute adornment until to-day. In consequence many of his old friends and acquaintances passed him on the street and in halls of public buildings without recognition.

CLEARING HOUSE MOVE.

Transactions of Trust Companies Which Do Not Withdraw to be Published.

Announcement was made yesterday that the New York Clearing House had decided hereafter to publish a statement of the transactions of those trust companies which, it is expected, will continue to avail themselves of the Clearing House privileges. In what form this statement will be published and what items it will include has not yet been decided.

Seventeen trust companies are affected by the new rule. Quite a number of these are out-of-town companies. The companies include the City Trust Company, the Colonial, the Knickerbocker, the Manhattan, the Title Guaranty and Trust Company, the Real Estate, the Washington, the Brooklyn, the Flatbush, the Hamilton, the Franklin, the Kings County, the Manufacturers', the Long Island Loan, the Nassau, the People's, and the Williamsburg Trust Companies. These companies have deposits of about $120,000,000.

TRAINING ENDS FATALLY.

Louis V. Mohor, Football Player, Dies at His Orange Home.

Special to The New York Times.

ORANGE, N. J., May 27.—Louis V. Mohor, one of the best-known football players and athletes in the country, died to-day at his residence on Hillyer Street, Orange, after a lingering illness. Mr. Mohor recently returned from the Adirondacks, where he went in a vain search of health. He was one of the largest men in the Oranges, being more than six feet tall and weighing 190 pounds. Too exacting training is thought to have been at the foundation of the illness which caused his death, for he enjoyed perfect health up to about six months ago, when he undertook some heavy training for the work on the team of the Orange Athletic Club.

Mr. Mohor was educated in Orange, and later became connected with the editorial department of The East Orange Gazette. For ten years he was press manager of the Orange Athletic Club, was Captain of the football eleven, and manager of the Orange Athletic Club basketball and lacrosse teams. He played centre, although he could play well at tackle or guard, and probably was one of the best all-around football players on the gridiron. He also was master at arms on the Badger during the Spanish-American war.

ROCKAWAY WON AT POLO.

Squadron A Fails to Earn a Goal in the Westchester Club Tournament.

Rockaway literally swamped the Squadron A polo team yesterday in the fourth match for the Country Club Cups at the Westchester Country Club, winning by the one-sided score of 22¼ goals to 4¾. The Squadron team was allowed five goals by handicap allowance, but failed to earn a point and lost one-quarter of a goal for a safety.

The Rockaway players rode right through the Squadron team and scored goals with unusual rapidity throughout the four periods. Rene La Montagne, Jr., and G. G. McMurtry, Jr., did excellent riding, and accurate hitting for Rockaway, and Chauncey also played a strong, steady game. Hart and Herbert did the best work for the Squadron players. The line-up:

ROCKAWAY.		SQUADRON A.
1. G. G. McMurtry, Jr.	3	1. L. J. Hunt	1
2. R. La Montagne, Jr.	5	2. R. L. Herbert	2
3. Daniel Chauncey, Jr.	2	3. R. G. D. Douglas	2
Back. C. R. Dixon, 2d.	2	Back. H. Barry	1
Total	11	Total	6

Summary: Goals earned—Rockaway, 23; Squadron A, 0. Allowed by handicap—Squadron A, 5. Lost by penalties—Rockaway, ½; Squadron A, ¼. Net score—Rockaway, 22¼; Squadron A, 4¾.

The final game will be played to-morrow between Rockaway and Meadow Brook.

Polo Secretary Returns from England.

William A. Hazard, Secretary of the Polo Association, who has been abroad over a year, arrived with his family yesterday on the steamer Oceanic. Mr. Hazard went to England last year to see the international polo games at Hurlingham when the American team tried to regain the cup they lost in 1886, but the Englishmen won the series by two games to one. During the greater part of the time since the games Mr. Hazard has been living in England hunting and playing polo at the leading clubs. He was largely instrumental in bringing about the successful plans for the visit of an English polo team to this country in August.

Mr. Hazard said that he thought the best of our players were fully up to the leading polo men in England, only there is a larger number of good players there than here. Mr. Hazard will resume his accustomed place on the Rockaway Club's team and will play in the Meadow Brook tournament next week.

AN OLD WINDOW UNVEILED

Colonial Dames' Ceremony at the Van Cortlandt Mansion.

Relic of the Old Sugar House Presented by T. J. Oakley Rhinelander—Knickerbocker Families and Patriotic Societies Attend.

There was a large attendance yesterday afternoon at the unveiling at Van Cortlandt of the window presented to the Colonial Dames of New York by T. J. Oakley Rhinelander. A special train of seven cars—and all well filled—left the Grand Central Station with guests from Manhattan. In the grounds of the old Van Cortlandt mansion and flanked on either side by a small cannon recently presented the Dames, stood the iron grating set in mason work, that once formed a portion of the old Sugar House at the corner of Duane and Rose Streets, which was used as a prison by the British in Revolutionary times.

The lawn before the mansion was covered with chairs and benches, and above the heads of the spectators floated the American, British, and Dutch flags and the Bourbon standard of France.

The exercises were opened with a prayer by the Rev. Dr. Donald S. Mackay, followed by an address of welcome by Mrs. Howard Townsend, Honorary President of the National Society of Colonial Dames. Hugh Hastings, New York State Historian, read a brief address, which was followed by the speech of presentation by Mr. Rhinelander and the unveiling of the window by his son, Master Philip Rhinelander. Mrs. Anson P. Atterbury, who was Miss Catharine G. Van Rensselaer, made the speech of acceptance, which was followed by the singing of "America." During the afternoon the band of the New York Naval Reserves played National and other airs, among them the old Dutch air "Wien Neerlandsch Bloed."

After the speechmaking the Dames and their guests inspected the mansion. A collation was served in a large tent on the grounds, and then the guests visited the Dutch garden, lying in front of the building and reached by flights of descending steps. The old house itself was charmingly decorated. Garlands of leaves and peonies wreathed the porches and inside were bowls of yellow columbines, baskets of purple iris, while pinks and old-fashioned roses were in profusion.

The ushers of the day were:

Gilbert R. Livingston,	Edward Livingston,
Nelson de Peyster,	M. Schuyler, Jr.,
Philip Livingston,	Ransay Hoguet,
Clive L. Du Val,	F. Secor Dickerson,
C. P. Howland,	Philip S. de Luse,
Robert L. Schuyler,	Robert Talmage,
J. S. Van Cortlandt,	Frank H. Kane.
Montgomery Schuyler,

A feature of the affair was Mrs. James M. Lawton, ex-President of the National Society, who helped receive. She was gowned in the fashion of Colonial days, in a straight gathered gown of striped silk, with a deep cape collar of lace, and wore quaint long earrings and a necklace of seed pearls, and on her head a butterfly cap of point lace. The puffs of tucked muslin and lace that finished her sleeves were suggestive of the fashions of to-day.

Other members and guests present were:

The Rev. Dr. A. P. Atterbury,	Mrs. Lovell Jerome,
Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Oakley Rhinelander,	Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Van Planck,

LAWYER MILLS SENTENCED.

George Edward Mills, formerly law partner of Jewell Flower, the son of Dr. R. C. Flower, who attempted to bribe Assistant District Attorney Garvan and Detective Sergeant Brindley of the District Attorney's office to obtain possession of the original drafts of five indictments charging Dr. Flower with grand larceny, yesterday was sentenced to imprisonment at Sing Sing with hard labor for a period of not less than one year and two months and not more than one year and six months. Sentence was imposed by Justice Fitzgerald in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court.

Mills was not visibly affected by the sentence, but his sister-in-law, Mrs. Samuel Mills, who was at the lawyer's side all through the trial, wept profusely. Ex-Justice Fursman, who defended Mills, was in court and made the usual motions for stay of judgment and a new trial, both of which were denied.

Late yesterday afternoon Benjamin Steinhardt of the law firm of Howe & Hummel went before Justice Dugro, in the Supreme Court, and obtained a temporary stay on behalf of Mills, pending argument on Monday on a motion to show cause why a certificate of reasonable doubt should not be issued in his case.

The case of Dr. Flower, whose trial on a charge of grand larceny has been set down for next Monday in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court, ex-Justice Fursman yesterday served notice on the District Attorney that he would go before Justice Fitzgerald to-day and move for the dismissal of all the indictments against his client on the ground that Deputy Assistant District Attorney Garvan, who appeared before the Grand Jury in connection with the cases, was not a full statutory assistant, that he had no standing before the Grand Jury, for that reason, and that consequently the indictments are void. Should the courts take this view of the matter it would tend to bring into question the validity of 5,600 indictments found by the Grand Jury between Jan. 1, 1902, and May 1, this year, for the reason that Mr. Perkins, who has had charge of the Grand Jury work during Mr. Jerome's term, was not made a full statutory assistant until the latter date.

MRS. DURYEA WINS HER SUIT.

Mrs. Nina Larre Smith Duryea has won her separation action against Chester B. Duryea. Justice Blanchard of the Supreme Court yesterday rendered a decision giving to Mrs. Duryea the decree which she sought and also awarding her the custody of her child. The question of alimony is left open by the Justice, who says he will settle that point by a reference to determine upon a fair amount.

Mr. Duryea, who is a son of Gen. Hiram Duryea, married Miss Smith at Trinity Chapel on June 1, 1898, the wedding being a social event. The trouble between them began shortly after the marriage and continued uninterruptedly until the separation of the couple in 1901. On the trial of the action, which was held in February of this year, Mrs. Duryea made charges of cruelty against her husband, declaring he had committed the acts complained of in this city, abroad, and in Sioux City, Iowa. Justice Blanchard, in his decision, says:

"The solution in cases of this kind is far from being easy, even though there be no difficult question of law to solve. The defendant denied many of the acts complained of and claimed justification in many others. At the time of the trial my opinion was toward granting the decree, and a careful review of the testimony has strengthened that view. Therefore the separation is decreed, together with the custody of the child to the mother, and the question of alimony will be settled by a reference."

Mr. Duryea, who is a graduate of Columbia, class of '93, was ordered to pay $150 a month alimony and $250 counsel fee, by Justice Dugro, who signed the order in January of 1902.

BARS FOREIGN LANGUAGES.

Foreign languages are stricken from the curriculum of the elementary schools of this city, with the exception of the last year of the course, when the pupils are to be permitted a choice according to a rule adopted last night by the Board of Education. The choice embraces French, German, Latin, or stenography. This was in accordance with a recommendation by the Board of Superintendents.

Commissioner Adams spoke against the adoption of the new course of study, saying that the man who can really use his own tongue is always one who has studied another. Dr. Maxwell defended the action taken by the board, saying that the experience of twelve years had shown that with the little time possible to allot to a language it was hardly possible for a pupil to gain a useful knowledge of any one.

District Superintendent Farrell preferred charges of insubordination and neglect of duty against Agnes L. Rinn, a teacher of girls in School No. 72, at Lexington Avenue and One Hundred and Fifth Street. It was said among other things that during the term, beginning Feb. 1, 1902, she had secured the promotion of but thirteen out of a class of forty-nine pupils. The case was referred to the Committee on Elementary Schools.

Several people whose names were suppressed asked permission to place before the Municipal Art Commission for their sanction tablets 30 by 30 inches in size commemorating the deaths of Lincoln, Garfield, and McKinley. The tablets, if accepted, are to be placed in every school. A favorable answer was directed. Mrs. James Herman Aldrich of the New York Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, obtained permission to send a fac simile of the Declaration of Independence to every school.

Henry W. Tifft of 135 West Thirty-eighth Street was appointed a Commissioner in place of Pierre Jay, resigned.

FOR BROWNING, KING & CO.

The new building to be erected by Browning, King & Co. on a large plot running through from Broadway to Sixth Avenue, just south of Thirty-second Street, will be eight stories in height, and will be a combination store and office structure.

The three lower floors will be occupied by the salesrooms of the firm. Above that the floors will be divided into offices arranged about a large triangular shaft measuring 30 by 40 feet, so that the interior rooms will not lack either light or ventilation. There will be twenty-one offices on each floor.

The building will have frontages of 63 feet on Broadway and 60 feet on Sixth Avenue, with an average depth between the two thoroughfares of about 120 feet. There will be a hallway running clear through the building along its northerly side. Strictly fireproof construction will be used throughout, the materials for the exterior being limestone, brick, and terra cotta. The structure was designed by Architect John E. Mitchie, and will probably be ready for occupancy early in October.

NOTES OF INSURANCE INTERESTS.

The stockholders of the North American Insurance Company of Boston have finally refused the Taylor offer for their holdings, decided not to pay the 40 per cent. assessment to make good the impairment of the company's capital stock, and voted to go into liquidation in order to wind up the affairs of the company.

C. D. Gabrielson has been appointed Pacific Coast special agent of the Providence-Washington Insurance Company of Rhode Island.

John T. Fogarty has been appointed assistant manager of the Pacific Coast department of the Royal Insurance Company of Liverpool and the Queen Insurance Company of America.

Walter I. Malliot has been appointed State agent of the New York Underwriters' Agency for Arkansas, Oklahoma, and Indian Territory, with headquarters at Little Rock.

The Insurance Press says Auditor of State Carroll of Iowa has received a check for $597.58, the amount of the taxes due from the National Life, United States of America. The taxes are for the year ending Dec. 31, 1902. They represent 2½ per cent. of the annual gross premium receipts of the company in Iowa. The taxes were due April 1, but the company contended that inasmuch as it was organized in the District of Columbia it was entitled to be considered equally at home in any part of the United States and ought to be on the same basis in Iowa as an Iowa company. If this contention had held good, the company would have been liable for but a 1 per cent. tax.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The northeastern high is giving way very slowly, and still blocks the advance of the western low. The latter has moved northeastward during the last twenty-four hours, and is central to-night over Eastern Lake Superior. In its passage from Kansas it has been attended by brisk to high southwest winds, and thunder squalls along the lakes and in the central valleys. Wind velocities ranging from 40 to 48 miles per hour were recorded this afternoon in the lake region. The rain area to-day was rather small, being confined to Virginia, Maryland, District of Columbia, Ohio, and the upper lake region. Local rains fell in the plateau region and North Pacific Coast.

It is cooler over the plateau and Northern Rocky Mountain region, warmer over the Eastern Slope and in the Middle Atlantic and northeast States, and lower temperatures prevail in the lower lake region and Ohio.

Showers are indicated for Thursday in New England and north portion of the Middle Atlantic States, also in the lower lake region. Rain is also probable in the Southwest.

It will be somewhat cooler in the lower lake region and the Ohio Valley and warmer in New England. The temperatures will rise in the upper lake region. The winds along the Middle Atlantic and New England Coasts will be brisk to high southwest, shifting to west; on the South Atlantic and Gulf Coasts, fresh southeast to south, and on the Great Lakes, fresh west to southwest. Steamships departing Thursday for European ports will have brisk south winds and showers to the Grand Banks. Storm signals are displayed on the lower lakes and on the Atlantic Coast from Baltimore to Eastport.

POLLOCK RIP SHOALS LIGHT VESSEL.

Stationed about 3 miles off the coast of Massachusetts about 1¾ miles NE. ¾ E. from Pollock Rip Slue N. Entrance Buoy, No. 2A, and to the northward of the Pollock Rip Slue entrance to Nantucket Sound.—Notice is hereby given, by order of the Lighthouse Board, that on or about June 10, 1903, Light Vessel No. 73 will be withdrawn from her station for repairs and the station will be marked by Relief Light Vessel No. 58. Relief Light Vessel No. 58 will show a fixed red reflector light on the mainmast, 42 feet above sea level, and a fixed white reflector light, 38 feet above sea level, on the foremast, and during thick or foggy weather will sound a 12-inch steam whistle with the same characteristics as that on Light Vessel No. 73, viz.: blasts of 3 seconds' duration separated by silent intervals of 12 seconds, thus: Blast, 3 seconds; silent interval, 12 seconds; blast, 3 seconds; silent interval, 12 seconds. Relief Light Vessel No. 58 is a flush-deck steam vessel, has two masts, schooner-rigged, no bowsprit, two white smokestacks abreast, and the steam whistle between the masts, and differs from Light Vessel No. 73 in having all visible parts from the bow to the middle of the foremast, and from the middle of the mainmast aft, painted red; all visible parts between the foremast and mainmast, including the middle third of each lantern mast, white. The daymarks at the mastheads have three vertical stripes, of equal width, two red and one white, and on the springstay, midway between the two masts, there is an oval hoop-iron daymark with one white and two red vertical stripes. The number "58" is in white on each bow and each quarter, and in black on each side of the springstay daymark. The word "Relief," in large black letters, is painted on the bulwarks in the middle of each side. Light Vessel No. 73 will be returned to her station as soon as repairs have been completed, of which due notice will be given, and Relief Light Vessel No. 58 will then be withdrawn.

Bilious?
Biliousness Can Be Cured Quickly and Easily by a New Method, Which Makes Your Liver, Stomach and Bowels Active.
Biliousness means that your liver is out of order and consequently your digestion is bad. Biliousness may result seriously—it makes you look and feel bad anyway. Restore the torpid or congested liver to a state of normal activity, assist digestion, regulate the bowels, send the fire of new, fresh life coursing through every nerve and fiber of your being, and you will look well and feel well.
Iron-Ox Tablets do all this by toning up the system so that Nature takes care of her own. They are neither purgative nor cathartic, but their pleasant laxative effect is due largely to their upbuilding qualities.
As a system tonic, they cannot be excelled. They are small, easily taken, sure in their effect; and, as they do not cause an artificial exhilaration, they cannot produce the weakening reaction which always follows the use of liquid tonics.
Do not confound Iron-Ox Tablets with liquid preparations which depend upon drug-disguised alcohol for immediate effect, and which create a habit which is nothing more nor less than alcoholism. Iron-Ox Tablets build up the system naturally—they cannot create a "habit."
Anything which shocks the system into activity is dangerous. Do not expect immediate perceptible effects from Iron-Ox Tablets. They produce a natural, regular building up of all the functions. This takes a little time, but a successful result is absolutely certain.
Remember, Iron-Ox Tablets are not purgative or cathartic in their effect; they are tonic-laxative; they cure by building up the entire system. Purgatives and cathartics give only temporary relief by violent and injurious action—they do far more harm than good.

THE BROOKLYN HANDICAP

Eighteen Horses Named to Start for the $18,000 Race.

W. C. Whitney's Gunfire Regarded as the Probable Post Favorite for the Famous Contest.

The richest turf prize of the turf year to date, the Brooklyn Handicap, in its seventeenth running, and with eighteen horses named as starters, will be contested for at the Gravesend race track this afternoon. As the Brooklyn Handicap alone, without further inducement, the race, which has won its place as one of the great events of the Eastern turf, would be sufficient to attract a great attendance, but extraordinary things have been predicted so freely about the contest to-day that if expectations are only half realized, the record for attendance at the Gravesend track will be surpassed.

In the race itself, a good contest is guaranteed by the eighteen horses named to start, for seldom in the history of the Brooklyn Handicap, which dates back to 1887, has there been so open a contest as that set for to-day. The top weights, save the uncertain Blues, do not appear among the field announced, but the starters named overnight include about all the horses of the handicap division that have raced so far this season, and include a number of prominent winners, among them Gunfire, winner of the Metropolitan Handicap; Blues, Yardarm, Articulate, Royal, Oom Paul, Waswift, Himself, Hunter Raine, and Injunction, while several other horses that give every promise of figuring among the best of the handicap division this season are included in the list.

In the betting on the race W. C. Whitney's entry has been firmly established as favorite. The absence of Hermis from the announced starters made the Whitney entry even stronger in the betting last night. The most fancied of the other horses in the overnight betting were Oom Paul, Blues, Heno, Yardarm, and Articulate, while Injunction, Royal, and Herbert, among the prospective outsiders, each had a following.

Fast trials for the race have been made by about every horse named to go, but the best of these as gauged by the experts were those made by Oom Paul, Yardarm, and Heno. In spite of the fact that other horses have worked faster than her trial for the race, however, Gunfire last night held the place of favorite, and while 3 to 1 then was laid against her chance, it was intimated that she would go to the post this afternoon as strong a favorite as she was for the Metropolitan Handicap, and that, too, aside from any consideration of Irish Lad, who in the views of horsemen is a doubtful starter. The entries announced for the Brooklyn and the probable riders in the race are as follows:

AFRICANDER WON EASILY.

Hampton Stable's Colt Took the Belmont at Morris Park's Close.

With the running of two of the richest stakes of the Spring, the Morris Park meeting came to a close yesterday under conditions that drew a large crowd of racegoers to the big Westchester course, though the sport fell far short of the expectations of visitors. The fourteen-thousand-dollar Belmont Stakes, the oldest fixture of the Eastern turf, and the seven-thousand-dollar Eclipse Stakes stood out as the features of the afternoon's programme, but in actual interest to the crowd that gathered these events were secondary to even the selling maiden race for two-year-olds, for neither of the big events came up to promise, two horses only running for the Eclipse, while only four started for the historic Belmont, one of that number being an added starter who but recently had figured inconspicuously in overnight events.

It gave the race for the Eclipse, five and a half furlongs down the straight course, something above common interest that the contest resolved itself into a fight between the rivals in both business and turf affairs, James R. Keene, represented by Palmbearer, and W. C. Whitney, whose colors were carried by Leonidas. Odom took Leonidas to the front early and kept him there to the end, Leonidas winning in a canter by a length from Palmbearer, who was hard ridden nearly all the way in a vain effort to get to the Whitney colt.

For the thirty-seventh race for the Belmont Stakes Mexican was scratched and Red Knight was added, but the change made no difference in the betting, Africander, ridden by Bullman and carrying the colors of the Hampton Stable, owned by Deimel & Dwyer, always being favorite at odds on. At the start Whorler showed in front, but soon was passed by Rigodon, who led into the back stretch, Africander lying in third place to that point, where Bullman took him to the front with a rush, Africander leading from that point on to the end of the mile and three furlongs journey, and winning about as he pleased by three lengths from Whorler, who beat Red Knight a like distance for the place.

ROCK SAND WON THE DERBY.

LONDON, May 27.—The race for the first prize of the English turf, the Epsom Derby, was run to-day at Epsom Downs and was won by the Winter and post favorite, Sir J. Miller's Rock Sand, with Vinicius second and Flotsam third, seven horses running. The American entry for the race, Acefull, finished fifth.

Before the race Rock Sand always was the centre of attraction. The French candidate, Vinicius, had many admirers, while King Edward's horse, Mead, had the good wishes of the crowd generally. The American, Acefull, had few supporters, even for a place. Acefull did not take a preliminary canter, but went straight to the starting post by permission of the Stewards. The American horse, ridden by "Skeets" Martin, displayed temper and delayed the start, which was effected seventeen minutes late. Rock Sand was first away, followed by Rabelais, Mead, and Acefull. A quarter of a mile out Mead took command and led to the top of the hill, when Rock Sand, splendidly ridden by "Danny" Maher, the American jockey, drew to the front and, leading the remainder of the distance, won easily by two lengths. Two lengths separated second and third horses. Rabelais was fourth. The betting was 6 to 4 on Rock Sand, 11 to 2 against Vinicius, and 100 to 14 against Flotsam. Maher came in for a good reception and cries of "Well done, Danny!"

This was the third successive year that the Derby winner had been ridden by an American jockey, Reiff winning in 1901 and Martin riding the winner last year.

An immense crowd witnessed the race, the spectators including many Americans, among whom Richard Croker was a prominent figure.

King Edward and Queen Alexandra, accompanied by Princess Victoria, the Prince and Princess of Wales, the Duke of Cambridge, the Grand Duke Michael of Russia, and the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, made the trip to the race course on a special train. The railroad stations were thronged throughout the morning by smartly dressed women and men. The road from London to Epsom Downs was thronged, as usual on a Derby Day, while more than a hundred special trains, in addition to the regular trains, conveyed holiday-makers to the race course.

YESTERDAY'S BASEBALL GAMES

New York Nationals Beat Chicago for the Second Time—Brooklyns Lost.

New York won another close game of baseball from Chicago on the Polo Grounds yesterday, scoring the winning run after Chicago had tied the score in the first half of the ninth inning. This victory places New York more securely in the lead for the championship.

At Brooklyn the home team was beaten by the St. Louis nine; Pittsburg's champions lost to the Bostons, and the Cincinnati-Philadelphia game resulted in an eleven inning tie.

Only one American League championship game was played, Chicago shutting out Cleveland. To-day the Eastern and Western teams will play in their own territory, beginning a series of games which will be concluded with double games on Saturday.

Following are the scores of the games in the National and American League, respectively:

New York, 5; Chicago, 4.
St. Louis, 3; Brooklyn, 1.
Cincinnati, 2; Philadelphia, 2.
Boston, 7; Pittsburg, 1.
Chicago, 1; Cleveland, 0.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

New York Beat Chicago After Latter Had Tied Score in Ninth Inning.

Local baseball patrons were treated to another exciting finish between the New York and Chicago teams at the Polo Grounds yesterday, and, as was the case in Tuesday's game, the local men won out after the visitors had tied the score in the first half of the ninth inning. McGinnity and Weimer were the opposing pitchers, and although the victory went to the first named, the visitor pitched the better game. Weimer was very poorly supported by his fielders; in fact, their errors were sufficient to discourage any pitcher. Wicker relieved Weimer in the ninth inning and gave a base on balls to Gilbert. Then he fumbled Warner's sacrifice, and Gilbert got to second base. McGinnity advanced Gilbert with a neat sacrifice, and the latter scored the winning run when Chance failed to stop Browne's drive toward third.

Browne scored New York's first run in the opening inning. He hit to Evers, who was playing off second base, and went to that station when Evers made a low throw to Chance at first. Van Haltren sacrificed, advancing Browne, who got home on McGann's drive to left field. In the third Warner hit safely past shortstop, and McGinnity bunted to the pitcher, who failed to get the ball to first in time. Browne's bunt to Weimer forced Warner at third, and McGinnity was put out at the same place on Van Haltren's bunt. McGann hit between Casey and Tinker, scoring Browne, and Van Haltren scored a few seconds later when Mertes hit safely to left field.

Chicago's first run came in the fourth inning, when, with two men out, Jones doubled to left and tallied on Tinker's hit in the same direction. In the seventh inning Tinker hit to left for two bases and got home on Kling's drive to left field. In the last half of this inning Harley's muff allowed Browne to reach second, and Casey's error let him score New York's fourth run. When the Chicago side went to bat in the final inning the score was 4 to 2 against them. Tinker was thrown out by Babb, Casey hit safely, but Evers was dismissed by Van Haltren's catch in centre. Kling's easy grounder was missed by McGann and Casey scored. Lowe, batting for Weimer, doubled to left, sending Kling to third, and the latter tallied on Gilbert's fumble of Harley's grounder. This tied the score, and it looked as though the game would go to the visitors when a base on balls to Slagle filled the bases. Chance sent a terrific line hit to centre, but Van Haltren was right there and caught it, retiring the side. Then the New York side, with the loss of one man, made the winning run. The score:

ST. LOUIS, 3; BROOKLYN, 1.

Good steady pitching by McFarland and errorless fielding by his clubmates on the St. Louis baseball team proved to be too strong a combination for Hanlon's Brooklyn men at Washington Park yesterday, and the visitors won by the score of 3 to 1. The visitors began with two runs, which they scored off three singles and a wild throw, but they did not tally again until the ninth inning, when they scored a run which they did not need, thanks to an error on the part of Shortstop Dahlen. Jones was in fairly good form, as he kept the hits of the visitors well scattered after the first inning, but McFarland held the local men to four hits in all. Two singles and a base on balls gave Brooklyn a run in the last half of the first inning, and the local men did not get a man further than second base during the rest of the game. The score:

PHILADELPHIA, 2; CINCINNATI, 2.

PHILADELPHIA, May 27.—Cincinnati and Philadelphia baseball teams to-day played eleven innings without result, the game being called on account of darkness. The splendid pitching of Ewing and Sparks was responsible for the small score. Score by innings:

BOSTON, 7; PITTSBURG, 1.

BOSTON, May 27.—The crippled Pittsburgs seemed content to-day to rest upon yesterday's laurels. Their fielding was careless and they could not bat Willis consecutively, Bransfield's drive over the right field fence coming when no one was on bases. Score by innings:

BIG YACHTS RACE TO-DAY.

Constitution's Admirers Encouraged by Her Work on Tuesday—Capt. Rhodes's Account.

Reliance, Constitution, and Columbia will race again to-day on the Sound in the fourth race of the Glen Cove series, and after the fine performance of Constitution on Tuesday, yachtsmen are looking forward with much interest to the result of to-day's contest. A surprising feature of the work of the Belmont boat was the manner in which she outreached Reliance when the wind freshened. On the four-and-a-half-mile reach across the Sound on the second round she gained 1 minute and 28 seconds on Reliance, and on the first leg of the race she gained 7 seconds on the new boat. Reliance made her greatest gains on Constitution on the third leg of each round. In the first round, close-hauled, she gained 1 minute and 45 seconds on the Belmont boat, and on the same leg in the second round, which a shift of wind made a beat to windward, Reliance gained 1 minute and 39 seconds on Constitution. Running before the wind with spinnakers Constitution, when conditions were equal, had a little the better of the new yacht.

Of Tuesday's race Capt. Rhodes said yesterday:

"It was a sharp, close race and the margin of victory was slender enough to make future contests an interesting uncertainty. We hope to do better next time, but we realize that Reliance is a wonderful boat."

Both the older boats were at their moorings off Glen Cove yesterday, while their crews overhauled their sails and rigging. The Reliance lay at her moorings at New Rochelle.

SHAMROCKS SAIL TO-DAY.

Preparations Disclosed Fact That Shamrock III. Raced with Her Heavy Bracing Aboard.

GREENOCK, May 27.—Sir Thomas Lipton's fleet left Greenock for Gourock to-day preparatory to sailing for America to-morrow. Large crowds of people gathered to bid the crews farewell, and good wishes were signalled from the ships in the harbor. The squadron sails at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Excursion steamers will accompany the yachts and their escorts as far as Ailsa Craig. All the stores are aboard and the compasses have been adjusted.

A surprising fact, calculated to give even a better complexion to the challenger's performance under canvas, came out during the fitting out of the yacht for the ocean passage. Shamrock I. has been elaborately strengthened inside with oak timbers, whereas the challenger goes almost as she was when racing.

It was discovered that the challenger's extra timbers are all of steel, and were carried throughout the recent trial races. She was therefore handicapped in the trials by carrying a couple of tons dead weight in her hull, which will be removed before she races for the America's Cup. The installation of wireless telegraphy on board Sir Thomas Lipton's steam yacht Erin is finished and has been tested with excellent results. The first communication will probably be made with the signal station at Brow Head.

Shamrock III.'s mast and spars were shipped to-day on board the Anchor Line steamship Ethiopia, at Glasgow. The Ethiopia, which sails on Thursday, will join Sir Thomas Lipton's fleet in the run down the Clyde.

West Side Tennis Club Scores.

Play continued in the tournament of the West Side Tennis Club yesterday on the club's courts at One Hundred and Seventeenth Street and Amsterdam Avenue. Two matches in the men's doubles were contested, both being won in straight sets.

Interest centred in the match which had E. P. Fischer and Ross Burchard in against Calhoun C. Cragin and O. M. Bostwick, the former pair winning. T. C. Trask and H. H. Avery beat H. F. Benjamin and McLane Walton in the only match played in the first round. All of these are ex-Yale players. The scores:

Men's Doubles.—Preliminary Round—E. P. Fischer and Ross Burchard defeated Calhoun C. Cragin and A. M. Bostwick, 6—3, 6—3.
First Round—T. C. Trask and H. H. Avery defeated H. F. Benjamin and McLane Walton, 7—5, 7—5.

Automobilist Oldfield's Fast Time.

In an exhibition on the Empire City track yesterday afternoon, Barney Oldfield, driving an automobile, covered a mile in 1:05⅘, which is the fastest time ever made on that course. The best previous record was 1:06⅘, made by Henri Fournier a year ago. There was a strong wind blowing, and the track was dry and dusty, conditions not conducive to record breaking, and which made the time even more creditable. Albert Champion also made several fast miles on a motor bicycle, making one circuit in 1:14.

A DINGLEY TARIFF CANDIDATE.

In discoursing upon public affairs to some thousands of his fellow-citizens who had assembled to greet him in Minneapolis on April 4 President ROOSEVELT made these interesting observations:

One point we must steadily keep in mind. The question of tariff revision, speaking broadly, stands wholly apart from the question of dealing with the trusts. No change in tariff duties can have any substantial effect in solving the so-called trust problem.

Even a slight acquaintance with the facts would prompt any candid student of trusts and tariffs to take issue with the President. The four years following the enactment of the Dingley tariff in 1897 witnessed the creation of scores upon scores of that class of industrial combinations which we call trusts. It was an astonishing period of trust making. Incorporations were effected which brought together sometimes a few industries with a capitalization of not more than $50,000,000, sometimes the majority of the concerns engaged in certain branches of manufacture, substantially creating monopolies, with capitalizations running into the hundreds of millions and in one case exceeding a billion. In part this remarkable industrial movement was due to what we may call the spirit of the age. But a tremendous impulse was given to the business of trust making by the Dingley tariff, which was avowedly a law to exclude foreign products. The manufacturers who had made that tariff were not slow to take advantage of its schedules. In consequence of the protection afforded by the Dingley tariff and of the monopoly created by combination, prices were raised materially, in some cases doubled or more than doubled, and these exorbitant prices the American consumer continues to pay. They could not be maintained, and the greedy trusts which charge them could not be maintained if the outrageous duties imposed by the Dingley tariff upon their products were repealed. The question of tariff revision, instead of standing "wholly apart" from the question of trust regulation, is intimately and inseparably involved with that question—is, in fact, the essence of it.

The President in his annual message to Congress might have pointed out a great number of instances of extortion practiced by the trusts under the shelter of the Dingley tariff, and in behalf of the burdened consumer and of the manufacturer heavily taxed for his imported raw material he might have appealed for a revision of the tariff. Mr. ROOSEVELT, however, is not a tariff reformer. He turns from the trust-breeding policy of Dingleyism, full of oppressions and extortions; he passes by altogether the industrial concerns that fattened by protection, and takes another class of combinations of which the Northern Securities merger is the type. That merger brought together two great railroads which have reduced charges, not raised them, which have intelligently and earnestly striven to create and build up trade, not to restrain it, and which have been welded into a great transportation system of which the extension of our foreign trade was a chief aim. The court has said that the combination was in violation of law, but it was not shown—it could not be shown—that it was a public injury.

We must conclude that it is the policy of President ROOSEVELT, therefore, to satisfy the demand for the regulation of the trusts by attacking those which have no relation whatever to the tariff, while he leaves unmolested the protected combinations. A railroad merger may be safely smashed. An assault upon the protected trusts would open the dangerous question of tariff revision, and that the President does not want, his party does not want.

Senator HANNA, therefore, shows great wisdom and prudence in ceasing to oppose the indorsement of Mr. ROOSEVELT for renomination by the Ohio Republican Convention. The Republicans are going to renominate Mr. ROOSEVELT—that Mr. HANNA plainly sees. It would be folly, it would be worse than foolish, it would be ridiculous, to bring forward any other Republican as a contestant for the nomination. Why should any other Republican be brought forward? Mr. ROOSEVELT's attitude toward Dingleyism suits his party exactly, and Dingleyism is the great article of the Republican faith. To be sure, President MCKINLEY just before his death publicly declared that the tariff was not sacred, and that if any of its schedules were no longer needed for protection, or if they stood in the way of the expansion of American foreign trade, they should be repealed; and Mr. ROOSEVELT, on taking the oath and succeeding to the Presidency, solemnly announced his purpose of continuing the policy of his predecessor. He has not continued Mr. MCKINLEY's policy in respect to the tariff as he announced it in the Buffalo speech. He has, in fact, done just the other thing. That, we have no doubt, makes him very much more acceptable to the leaders of the party, and there is not much evidence that it makes him any less acceptable to the rank and file. On other grounds, indeed, on the ground of his great and general popularity, on the ground of the genuine admiration of the people for his character and qualities, the renomination of Mr. ROOSEVELT is demanded by the Republicans.

Nevertheless, President ROOSEVELT's position in respect to the Dingley tariff and the trusts it has created and fostered is inconsistent, weak, and quite indefensible. It invites attack, it opens to the Democratic opposition a great opportunity. The Pennsylvania Republicans, by affirming their "unswerving loyalty to the Republican principle of a protective tariff," naturally declare themselves to be in favor of his nomination and election in 1904. That shows plainly enough where the President stands, even if he had left any doubt about the matter, and it shows how the party in power and its candidate must be attacked by the Democracy if it is to have any chance of success. There is no money issue which can be dealt with as a party question, there is no anti-imperialist issue. The great issue for the Democrats, the only issue upon which that party can make a campaign, is the issue of Dingleyism.

THE POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT.

The arrest of the Superintendent of Free Delivery in the United States Post Office Department on a direct charge of fraud in supplies and his summary dismissal by the Postmaster General indicate that the latter is forced to regard the disclosures in the department as much more serious than he at first professed to think them.

His situation is not a pleasant one. From the start he has by his public utterances, much more than by his actions, appeared to wish to belittle all reports of fraud or jobbery. While announcing that he was conducting a rigorous investigation—and so far as we know while actually conducting such an investigation—he has been very free in the indulgence of coarse and imprudent comment on the motive of the accusers of his department. He has seemed to assume that an invitation to them to "make good their hot air"—an amazing expression to escape the lips of a Cabinet officer—would lead to silencing them, which it has not done. His apparent assumption that the reports of scandals in the Post Office were due to political animosity has tended to make the public think that he might care a good deal more for the effect on his party than for the purity of the service and the dignity of the Administration, whereas the public do not in reality care a cent for his party or any other compared with the cleanness of the department.

It seems now that there is enough evidence of wrongdoing in the department to warrant pretty severe measures toward men who have been long in the service, and whose real characters ought to be well understood by their superiors. From this time on it is plain that the most searching inquiry, the promptest discipline, and total abstinence from vaporing will be needed to save the department and its head from great discredit. In effect that means a practical reversal of an important part of Mr. PAYNE's policy in the past. We wish to do him no injustice. But he ought to realize, and so ought the President, that he was not, in the opinion of the public, originally selected for his business efficiency and his high reputation for administrative ability, but for the skill in political management that he had shown. This may not have been wholly a correct impression, but it has been sustained rather than dissipated by Mr. PAYNE's own conduct, and still more by his silly talk. That puts him at a grave disadvantage, and he will have to work hard to right himself.

THE JEWS AND THE GOVERNMENT.

The right to petition for the redress of grievances, a right guaranteed by our Constitution, has been exercised by a Jewish deputation from Kishineff. This deputation visits St. Petersburg with the object of prevailing upon M. PLEHVE, the Minister of the Interior, to issue an official circular declaring that the Jews of Russia are under the protection of the law and that outrages upon them will be punished.

This is the right course to take, exactly the right course, and it is the most hopeful direction in which the Jews can seek to protect themselves against mob assaults. Of course, in any other civilized country the Government would not wait to be petitioned. The Jews would be protected and their assailants would be imprisoned. But in Russia both the Government and the people are hostile to the Jews—a fact which has been many times demonstrated. Nevertheless, it will be impossible for the Minister of the Interior to deny this petition unless he is willing to avow that the murder of Jews is a national policy which the Government wishes to encourage. The people of other nations have learned with satisfaction that M. PLEHVE did not send to the Governor of Bessarabia the letter attributed to him which directly encouraged the outbreak against the Jews. The good impression the Minister has thus created will at once give place to a most unfavorable view of his sense of justice if he declines to comply with the demand of the Jews of Kishineff.

The demand is something more than reasonable. It is such a demand as can be refused only by a Government not reasonable, humane, nor civilized. The Minister certainly owes it to the reputation of the empire to declare officially that Russian law does not permit murder, and that those who violate the law against murder will incur its penalties.

Delicate and difficult as is the question of any interference with the domestic concerns of a sovereign nation, it ought to be evident to the ruler of the Russian Empire and his Ministers that the murder and persecution of Jews cannot go on indefinitely without involving serious consequences to Russia. The feeling of horror and indignation to which this savagery gives rise throughout the civilized world is in many ways harmful to Russia and the Russians, and ultimately other Powers will be put in a position where they will have the right to make official protest. Persecution of the Jews, if continued, must necessarily result in their emigration in large numbers. Countries to which they betake themselves penniless, dependent, and helpless will by no means regard with indifference the policy that drives them forth. The refusal of the Minister of the Interior to issue the proclamation demanded by the Jews of Kishineff would be a blunder of considerable magnitude.

THE NEXT CELEBRATION.

When New York undertook on Tuesday to celebrate the fact that it had got well and happily through the first quarter of its first millennium the result achieved, so far as the general public was concerned, was not impressive. The gathering of the officials and representatives of the city in the City Hall, with the invited guests, was entirely dignified and appropriate, but it was necessarily secluded. The picture shows at various points attracted considerable crowds, and would have assembled very large ones had proper publicity been given to them, but they were not exactly up to the occasion. The most significant and interesting exercises connected with the celebration were undoubtedly those in the public schools, thanks to the forethought and intelligent preparation of those in charge. But there was, as every one will admit, no celebration that bore any logical relation to the magnitude of the occasion. This was not because New York is indifferent to celebrations or ill-adapted to organizing them, nor was it the fault of any one in particular. It was due to the simple fact that no person or body of persons fitted for the work had taken the matter up in time and secured the necessary preparations of a systematic sort and on an adequate scale.

We mention this circumstance, not at all in criticism of what was done with the quarter millennial, but with a view to suggestion of what may be accomplished when the next appropriate occasion offers. This, we may suppose, will be the opening of the great system of interurban transit, now well advanced. That will be well worth the most imposing celebration that can be devised for it. Not merely will it mark a most important achievement in the life of the city, but it will be the sign of a practically new development in the forces at the command of the city for promoting the welfare and efficiency of its vast population. The transit system must have the same effect on the city that would be produced were it possible largely to increase, at one stroke, the numbers of the people living here and contributing to the wealth and activity of the town. It will in effect extend the area of convenient residence and of industry as well over many square miles. It is, moreover, only the beginning of what is sure to come. And especially it is the fruit of new methods and almost novel principles of municipal action, at once conservative and progressive, which are rich in promise for the future. As an event touching immediately the interests of millions of the people, it will be well to celebrate it in the most impressive manner.

For this, preparation requiring much time, study, organization, and co-operation will be needed. It cannot be taken up too soon. Considering the important part that has fallen to the present administration in the work of promoting the transit system and its intelligent labors for further development on sound lines, it would be proper that the Mayor should take the first steps in preparation for the celebration. It would not, of course, be solely, or even chiefly, an official celebration, but he could propose it, and inviting the help of the various business organizations gradually get together a series of committees that would insure brilliant success. It seems desirable that such a celebration should be largely spectacular, with a procession or processions, floats, military and marine displays, fireworks, and everything that will add to the enjoyment and enlist the interest of the general public. For such pageantry the city is admirably adapted in many ways, and it has ample talent for developing and completing the design and its carrying out, if only the task be taken up in time.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

—It is natural enough that the managers of the coastwise steamship lines, when questioned by our reporter as to the advisability and practicability of establishing separate "lanes" for vessels moving north and south, treated the implied suggestion with impatience and either refused to discuss it at all or overwhelmed it with objections. To have done anything else would have been confession that the plan on which the great coastwise trade is and long has been carried on is a stupid and, therefore, very dangerous one, and that, of the Captains employed in this service, at least enough to set the fashion in it are extremely distrustful of their own ability as navigators. Of course no steamship manager could afford to make admissions like that, and of course the Captains would be even less likely to plead guilty to the charge of unskillfulness in their profession. It is a demonstrable fact, however, that "lanes" along the coast would be more useful than they are across the Atlantic, since the units of traffic are here more numerous, and we are strongly of the opinion that antagonism to their establishment is due, on the part of the line managers, to a distaste for changes in existing customs, and, on the part of the Captains, to a fear of what would happen to them if they ventured so far from land that they couldn't pick up the coast lights, one by one, and pound every mile of the bottom with their leads. Men whose equipment as navigators is small know how to take the simpler observations, but they do not really trust the results of their calculations, and habitually go miles and miles out of their way in order to get a new departure from some lightship or lighthouse, the position of which they know to a certainty. And this slavish following of the coast contour is expensive as well as dangerous, since it wastes time, coal, wages, interest on investment—in short, the owner's money. Why, therefore, the owners, or their immediate representatives, should either defend or permit it is beyond comprehension. We hope this matter will receive the attention it deserves, and that the steamship people will be subjected to enough pressure of public sentiment to compel them at least to give better arguments against coastwise "lanes" than those with which they hastily supplied our reporter.

—It must have shocked some of our readers to be told by one of our correspondents the other day that the National motto of our stern and simple democracy was borrowed from "a poetical receipt for the making or compounding of an ancient Roman epicurean morsel"; that the phrase "E Pluribus Unum" is first to be found "in a poem called 'Moretum,' ('The Salad,')" by some attributed to VIRGIL, which "gives in detail an accurate account of the many ingredients that go to make up this antique palate tickler, and finally closes by saying, 'Thus, from many, one.'" Now, it is not as bad as that. In the first place, the suggestion that the motto was taken from the "Moretum"—the word, by the way, does not really mean "salad"—is altogether fanciful. Then the moretum itself was hardly a dish for an epicure: As the poet reveals, it was a pungent mess, composed chiefly of garlic and cheese, with parsley, rue, and other greens thrown in, seasoned with oil, vinegar, and salt, and the whole ground into a pulp with mortar and pestle. It was then rolled into a ball, and, with a piece of bread, formed the daily repast of the sturdy peasants of ancient Rome. Its final appearance was hardly appetizing. The "Moretum" tells how the white of the cheese killed the green of the fresh herbs, while the green of the herbs stained the whiteness of the cheese, resulting in a uniform but nondescript tint—"color est e pluribus unus," says the poet who may have been VIRGIL. And that is as near as he gets to our motto. It isn't so near that the American patriot cannot indignantly deny that one of his dearest platitudes is taken from a salad receipt. To mention only one other origin at least as probable, there is the Horatian inquiry as to the profit of removing a single thorn when a lot are left—"Quid te exempta juvat spinis e pluribus una?" The sense is different, but the form is there.

—Two questions are suggested by the frequency throughout the whole of every recent Summer that news has come of destructive tornadoes in the Mississippi Valley—first, Are these terrible little storms more numerous than they used to be? And, second, Is there not some means of guarding life and property from them? The answer to the first inquiry is, in all probability, No. It is a fact that the earlier accounts of this great region contain only rare mention of tornadoes, but that fact is at least as easily explained by the scarcity of observers and the absence of any effective news service as on the theory that tornadoes were then uncommon—a theory for which there is not the slightest scientific support. Formerly, the chances were many that a Western tornado would begin and end out of human sight; now there is hardly a square mile in the whole great valley where such a thing could happen, and the telegraph makes every sufferer articulate. It is highly likely, therefore, that there always has been and always will be about the present number of tornadoes scattered over the area where the conditions favor their formation, and it is certainly time for the inhabitants of that area to change building habits learned in a safer part of the country and invent a new order of architecture. It is simple stupidity to keep on putting up structures exactly like those that have been blown down by atmospheric disturbances little less frequent than thunderstorms are in the East. The tornado is an enormous, but not irresistible, force, and careful study and wise expenditure would doubtless result in the erection of buildings strong enough to defy the wind and protect their occupants. The crops, presumably, will have to take their chances, but the damage done to them by tornadoes is small, while a wrecked village or town means a heavy money loss and death or permanent injury to many.

Bringing the summons of a people's doom
Red with the blood of maiden and of babe—

Led from the desert of unbridled hate—
"Lo, have we come again upon the night,
The black dry night of unappeased desire,
The night wherein the wild beast from his lair
Steals on his victim sleeping 'neath the stars?
See we the wraith of Tamerlane the Scourge?

Hath the long process of the sun turned back,
Blotting from out the roll-book of the sky

CHAPTER IV.

HOW NEW NETHERLAND BECAME NEW YORK

HISTORY is a very mixed-up matter. It cannot be told in a straight-ahead way, because events which in the end turn out to be closely related to each other happen in widely separated countries at widely separated times. I have shown how the Dutch colony of New Netherland had its beginning in the finding of our harbor in the year 1609 by Hudson, but to make clear how New Netherland passed to the English, and became New York, I must go back to a time before Hudson was born.

John Cabot, an Italian sailing in the English service, made a voyage along our coasts in the years 1497-8; and—leaving out of the account the Norsemen who may have come here earlier—the English claim to ownership of the country settled by the Dutch more than a hundred years later is grounded on the fact that Cabot was its discoverer. That claim was asserted in a definite form three years before Hudson sailed from Holland. In the year 1606 King James I. granted to two companies, known as the London Company and the Plymouth Company, the right to plant colonies in America between the thirty-fourth and the forty-fifth degrees of north latitude on land "not now actually possessed by any Christian prince or people." The English grant covered the territory that a little later became New Netherland, and that now is New York. But that territory was not occupied by the English. The London Company planted the colony of Virginia in the year 1607. The Plymouth Company went to work more slowly. In the year 1620 it received a new charter, which gave it the ownership of the territory between the fortieth and forty-eighth degrees of latitude. Then the Plymouth colony was founded; but its settlers, the "Pilgrim Fathers," did not come to this country until the Dutch colony of New Netherland had been in existence for nearly six years. The Dutch claimed New Netherland, therefore, on the ground that they were its first real explorers, and that they were its first actual settlers. And so there was a tangle of conflicting claims from the very start.

A long while passed before the English enforced their asserted rights, but they missed no opportunities for presenting them and so keeping them alive. At the very beginning, in the year 1614, when the New Netherland Company was chartered, the English Ambassador lodged a formal protest against the planting of a Dutch colony on what he declared to be English territory; and—although the Dutch Government did not pay the slightest attention to it—there his protest was on the record, ready to be used when the occasion to use it came. In like manner, the Governors of the English colonies frequently told their Dutch neighbors that they were trespassers. The first warning of that sort was given by Gov. Bradford of the Plymouth colony to Director Minuit in the year 1627; and the Governors of Connecticut and Maryland and Massachusetts repeated it later on. But for a good many years there was so much room for everybody in America that no attempt was made to bring squarely to an issue those conflicting claims.

There were two beginnings to the serious trouble between the Dutch and the English that ended in the forcible seizure by England of the Dutch colony. One beginning was the actual growth of the settlements made by the two nations until they touched edges and began to squabble about boundary lines. The other beginning—and it was the more important one—was the determination of the English to get for themselves, from the Dutch, the carrying trade of the sea.

By the year 1647, when the last of the Dutch Governors was sent here, so much had followed on from both of those beginnings that the taking over of New Netherland by the English plainly was in sight to anybody who studied the signs of the times. By that time the English colonies of Connecticut and Massachusetts were pressing in upon Dutch territory on the east and on the north; and on the south—about the Delaware River—there was a like pressing in from the English colony of Maryland. The Dutch already had extinguished a Swedish colony in that region, in what now is the State of Delaware; and before they were quite through with their troubles with the Swedes their more serious troubles with the English began. Back of the incrowding English was the power of the English Government; and that also was exerted to put on the screws that would compel the satisfaction of their long-standing claim. The most effective twist of the English screw was the enactment by Parliament, in the year 1651, of what was known as the Navigation Act—which decreed that goods imported into England must come in English ships or in ships belonging to the country in which the goods were produced. That was a very hard blow at the Dutch sea trade. It was made still harder, in the year 1660, when the Navigation Act was so amended that it farther forbade the importation or exportation of goods into or from any of the English colonies save in English ships commanded, and at least three-fourths manned, by Englishmen. By the enforcement of the amended act the sea trade of the Dutch was so crippled that a little later England became, and ever since has remained, the leading commercial nation of the world.

In that great piece of statesmanship our little colony had a very deep interest. Among the results of the Navigation Act was the making over of New Netherland into New York.

The chief object of the amendment to the act was to compel the English colonies to trade only with England; and had the act been obeyed it would have put a stop to the very considerable trade that had grown up between the English colonies and New Netherland. But it was not obeyed. That inter-colonial trade was profitable to both sides; and so both sides, in defiance of the new law, continued it. Mr. Brohead puts the outcome of the matter in these few words: "The possession of New Netherland by the Dutch was, in truth, the main obstacle to the enforcement of the restrictive colonial policy of England." There was only one way to remove that obstacle, and the King of England took that way. On March 12, 1664, he made a grant to his brother, the Duke of York, of Long Island and of all the lands and rivers from the west side of the Connecticut River to the east side of Delaware Bay. That grant made New Netherland an English colony, and so brought all the boundary disputes and all the trading complications with the other English colonies to an end.

The military force that was sent here by the Duke of York, to take possession of what had become his property, did not have any fighting to do. The English, of whom by that time there were many in the colony, of course welcomed the coming of their countrymen; and even the Dutch, for the most part, were not averse to the change of rulers: being satisfied—after their forty-two years of bad government under the West India Company—that any change must be for the better, since no change well could be for the worse. And so New Amsterdam, and with it New Netherland, passed into the possession of the English without the striking of a single blow.

That great event in our history took place Sept. 8, 1664. At 8 o'clock on the morning of that day the Dutch flag fell from Fort Amsterdam and Gov. Stuyvesant marched his conquered forces out from the main gateway, across the Parade, and along Beaver Street to the canal that then was in what now is Broad Street—where boats were lying to carry them to ships at anchor in the stream. When the Dutch fairly were out of the way the English marched down Broadway—from where they had been waiting, about in front of where Aldrich Court now stands—and Gov. Nicolls ran up the English flag over what then became Fort James.

Virtually that was the end of Dutch ownership hereabouts. For a little while—from July 30, 1673, until Nov. 10, 1674—during a later war between England and Holland, the Dutch again were in possession of our city and gave it the name of New Orange. But that temporary reclamation had as its only result a slight retarding of the great development of the city, and of all the colony, which came with English rule.

MR. JANVIER'S FIFTH ARTICLE.

Mr. Janvier's fifth article, which will appear in to-morrow's issue of THE TIMES, will be entitled, "Our First Reform Governor." It will tell of the pirates and smugglers who infested this town at the end of the seventeenth century, and of what was done by Lord Bellomont to make law-defying citizens of New York law-abiding and respectable.

BETH ISRAEL ELECTION CASE.

Congregation Beth Israel of Lexington Avenue and Seventy-second Street held an election for officers and Trustees last month, the result of which did not suit some of the members, who complained that twenty-six members were introduced just prior to the election in order to vote for the successful candidates. The matter came up in the Supreme Court on an application by Abraham Kaim, who represented the minority, for an order that the court declare the election of officers and Trustees illegal.

The case was argued before Justice O'Gorman, and the congregation was represented by Alfred and Charles Steckler, who contended that inasmuch as Kaim had resigned his membership after instituting this suit he had no lawful right to continue the present proceedings, and that there were enough votes cast in favor of the successful candidates without those who were admitted just prior to the election, and that as long as there was a majority of duly qualified voters in favor of the successful candidates the election could not be set aside. The court decided in favor of the congregation.

PRAISES FOR THE HISTORY COMPETITION

Boys Want Money Prizes, While Girls Seek the Medals.

J. Collins Pumpelly and Charles Sprague Smith Commend the Contest and Its Value for Future Citizens.

An interesting illustration of the difference in the nature of boys and girls has been brought out in the New York City History Competition being conducted by THE TIMES. At nearly all of the schools visited to ascertain the interest which the contest was arousing among the scholars, the teachers told the same story—the boys were all bent on capturing one of the money prizes, while the girls were anxious to win one of the silver medals.

"A boy," said one of the Principals, who told of this difference in the aims of the boys and the girls, "would rather have $10 to start on his vacation with than a medal of twice that value. He thinks of all the accessories for sports which he can purchase for that amount, and his ambition to get one of those 100 money prizes is whetted. But with the girls it is different. The love of ornament is inherent in the feminine nature. The girl pupils think more of winning one of those Tiffany medals than they do of gaining one of the money prizes. As some of them have suggested to me, they can keep the medal always and can have it made into a pretty pin.

"As it is a condition of the contest that an essay to be considered for a medal award must be the best of twenty submitted from a class, I think you will find that there will be more essays from girls' classes designated as the best of twenty submitted than there will be from boys' classes; and this will be due, as I said, to the fact that the girls take more interest in the medal prizes than the boys do."

Magnus Gross, Principal of Public School No. 6, on Eighty-fifth Street and Madison Avenue, and who is also President of the City Teachers' Association, said he never knew the students of his school to take such an interest in any essay work as they had been evincing in the City History Competition of THE TIMES.

"All of the boys and girls of this school who are eligible to compete are studying the articles of Mr. Janvier," said Mr. Gross, "and at every opportunity they ply their teachers and me with questions about the contest. You can count on a general participation by the pupils of this school. From what I hear the interest is general throughout the city, but the interest is keenest in those districts where there is the largest percentage of native-born parentage. This is natural, for in such districts the parents themselves are interested and encourage their children to compete.

"I saw in one of the articles printed in THE TIMES that the pupils of a few schools had written to THE TIMES complaining that their teachers were not taking the matter up. Well, if the teachers of this school had not been interested, our pupils would have made them so. The enthusiasm of the children was not to be stemmed.

"I think the competition will be most beneficial. It has conduced to a more critical study of the history of New York than it would have been possible to have brought about by any other means, and the impression left by this critical study is bound to be both deep and lasting."

Those who are interested in civic work in New York seem to be quite as enthusiastic about the competition as the educators. They believe that the civic good which will come from it will be quite as important as the educational improvement.

J. Collins Pumpelly, Secretary of the City Improvement Society, said that he could see in the competition certain future benefit to the work which his society is engaged in promoting.

"As representing a society whose main object is the improvement of the city," said Mr. Pumpelly, "I cannot commend too highly THE TIMES for inaugurating the City History Competition for the pupils of the public schools.

"New York is historic ground. It was the centre of our Revolutionary contest, and here, in the 250 years of its life as a municipality, have been brought to bear by Dutch, English, and Huguenot settlers influences of great moment. The record of these as portrayed by Mr. Janvier will give our rising generation a knowledge not only of how a little fishing port became this mighty metropolis, but what influences laid the foundation of a free Government, a free Church, free public school, a free press, and a commercial opportunity unsurpassed in the world's history.

"The competition will arouse civic pride, but more than that, it will give to the great foreign element in our population, whose daily paper is practically their only literature, an exemplification of the American idea which will prove a potent influence in the great process of assimilation.

"Through these school studies the boys and girls will teach their parents, thus indirectly aiding those of us who are laboring in another field for the preservation of our few priceless historic buildings and for the increase of the love for municipal art in our city.

"THE TIMES is doing a most timely work, and in a rational way. The competition will tend, through encouraging the study of the historic past, to act as a useful antidote to that spirit of commercialism and selfishness that now seems so persistent in our midst."

Charles Sprague Smith, Director of the People's Institute, also gave the competition a cordial indorsement from the civic standpoint. He said:

"I think it is a splendid plan. It will serve, it seems to me, to engender in the minds of the growing population of our city a civic pride such as should be possessed by New York's coming citizens. It will deepen the interest of the school children of to-day in our institutions, which will grow with them, and make them more useful citizens than they otherwise would be.

"The subject of New York's history, I think, should be unusually engrossing to the expanding mind. Besides our own phenomenal development, it touches the history of other lands. Take the Dutch, for example. How our early days are interlaced with the laws and customs of their country. And the English. Every American-born child in the schools probably has some knowledge of how our early history is intertwined with that of England. This competition will spread and broaden that knowledge, and the result of this general diffusion of accurate and fairly comprehensive information about the city's history among those who are attending our schools to-day cannot help but tend toward a greater civic pride and a more exalted standard of citizenship in the years that are to come, when those who are now in the schools will be the guardians of the city's name and fame."

PLAN FOR MERCHANT MARINE.

Board of Trade and Transportation Starts a Campaign with That End in View.

The New York Board of Trade and Transportation, at its monthly meeting yesterday, passed a resolution authorizing the appointment of a committee, with the use of ample funds, to "inquire into the alarming state of American shipping in the foreign trade," to call public attention to the backwardness of this country's merchant marine, and to make an exhaustive report next December. Aaron Vanderbilt, who introduced the resolution, explained that in 1861, when the population of the United States was but one-third what it is to-day, the country's merchant vessels did three times as much trade as now.

F. B. Thurber, supporting the plan, said that too much attention, proportionately, was being paid to war vessels nowadays, and that at least 10 per cent. of the expenditures on the fighting navy should be spent for much-needed improvements in the trading navy. Oscar S. Straus, President of the board, also favored the resolution, and the members voted unanimously for it.

"Most of our ocean commerce," recited the resolution, "which used to employ scores of shipyards and thousands of skilled mechanics and seamen, is now monopolized by other nations."

The board decided to have a banquet next Winter. Once it held these feasts annually, but later the biennial rule was adopted. President Straus announced that the next such gathering was to be a great affair, and the committee to select speakers will get to work in a few days.

MEXICAN NATIONAL GETS A MONOPOLY

Zone of Operations to be Closed to Rivals Twenty Years.

Government to Buy Large Amount of Stock, but Monterey-Matamoros Line Must Be Completed Within Three Years.

The Government of the United States of Mexico, after prolonged negotiations, has entered into an agreement with the banking houses of Speyer & Co. of this city and Speyer Brothers of London by which the Mexican Government will purchase from these banking houses "a very large amount" of the several classes of the capital stock of the National Railroad of Mexico.

Announcement to this effect was made yesterday by Speyer & Co. in a circular to the holders of the common stock voting trust certificates of the railroad. It appears from the circular that the railroad by this deal will be practically safeguarded against the building of any new and competing line from the United States into Mexico in the territory traversed by it. This part of the agreement is set forth as follows:

The Government will procure in favor of the National Railroad Company of Mexico a concession from the Executive of the United States of Mexico, subject to Legislative ratification, to the effect that for a period of twenty years from Oct. 31, 1903, no right, privilege, or concession shall be granted by the United States of Mexico to any person or corporation, other than the National Railroad Company, to construct, maintain, or operate any railroad of any kind (except branch or local lines connecting only with the trunk lines of the National Railroad) in a zone extending along the northeasterly boundary of Mexico bounded on the southwest by a line drawn 50 kilometers southwest from the Rio Grande River and parallel therewith, and lying between the Gulf of Mexico and a point on the Rio Grande River distant 100 kilometers northwest from Ciudad Porfirio Diaz, in the State of Coahuila.

The only other railroad which connects the United States with Mexico is the Mexican Central, but this line enters Mexico near El Paso, Texas, which is far to the northwest of the zone reserved for the Mexican National. Of what importance the banking houses consider this concession to be is demonstrated by the fact that the circular contains the following comment in italics:

"This, it is expected, will prevent for twenty years the construction of any line in the zone above described which would compete with your company for through traffic with the United States."

Among the other terms of the agreement is a provision that unless the road completes within three years its line from Monterey to Matamoros, of which 140 miles only remain to be built, the monopoly concession shall cease Jan. 1, 1907. If, however, the Monterey-Matamoros line is built the Mexican Government will consent to the consolidation of ownership and operation of the properties controlled by the National Railroad of Mexico, namely, the Mexican International Railroad and the Interoceanic Railway.

The control of the Interoceanic will be assured to the Mexican National by the sale to the National Railroad of Mexico of the Mexican Government holdings of £1,000,000 ($5,000,000) 4½ per cent. second debenture stock of the Interoceanic Railway Company of Mexico, (Acapulco to Vera Cruz,) Limited. By the acquisition of this debenture stock the National Railroad Company of Mexico will become at the same time the largest railway system in Mexico, as well as securing an outlet to the Gulf of Mexico.

The agreement with the Government also contemplates the conversion of the $33,350,000 common stock of the company into two classes of stock, whereof $22,233,333 1-3 is to be known as second preferred and $11,116,666 2-3 is to be known as deferred stock. The second preferred stock is to be entitled to receive dividends if and when earned and declared up to, but not exceeding, 5 per cent. in any year before any dividend shall be paid on the deferred stock; but such dividends shall not be cumulative. After the payment in any year of dividends of 4 per cent. on the existing preferred stock and 5 per cent. on the second preferred stock, holders of the second preferred stock and of the deferred stock shall be entitled to rank on an equality in the distribution of any profits that may then be distributed in dividends, if and when declared.

The second preferred stock and the deferred stock shall be issued only in exchange for and in conversion of the existing common stock of the company, and at the rate of two shares of second preferred stock and one share of deferred stock for every three shares of existing common stock. The Government has consented to include, as part of the shares to be purchased, the total issue of deferred stock which may be offered during a limited period, at the price of $10 per share in cash. The rights of the existing preferred stock will not be affected in any manner by the proposed agreement.

The agreement is dependent on a majority of the holders of the common stock depositing their voting trust certificates for conversion. For this purpose Speyer & Co. of this city, Speyer Brothers of London, and Teixeira De Mattos Brothers will receive deposits up to June 10. Holders of certificates of deposit will get therefor new second preferred stock to the amount of two-thirds of common stock and a cash payment of $3.33 per share. If the plan is not successful, the bankers may return the voting trust certificates.

The circular states that the voting trustees are of the opinion that the consummation of the purchase by the Government and of the plan outlined above will so strengthen the position of the company and safeguard the interests of its security holders in the future that they will be justified in dissolving the voting trust.

The circular concludes with the statement that holders of large amounts have already signified their approval by depositing their common stock voting trust certificates under the terms of this circular.

MEXICAN CENTRAL PLANS.

Reported that Scheme for Readjustment of Capital Has Been Agreed Upon.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, May 27.—It is said here that the Directors of the Mexican Central Railway having the matter of a readjustment of capital under consideration have agreed upon a plan.

The plan, it is understood, has been submitted to a prominent international banking firm, which will have charge of the reorganization. The English holders of Mexican Central securities have agreed to support the plan. This English approval is important, as the Mexican Central Securities Company of London owns a majority of the first consolidated mortgage bonds.

It is proposed to scale the general mortgage bonds 25 per cent., which will effect a reduction in fixed charges of nearly $700,000 per annum. There will be an issue of preferred stock, which will be given to bondholders in lieu of the 25 per cent. they release, and preferred stock will also be given for a $10 per share assessment upon the common stock. The income bonds will be retired through a payment of part cash and part securities. The new stock probably will be placed in a voting trust.

As the stock of the Mexican Central is well concentrated in the hands of the Mississippi Valley Trust interests of St. Louis and the bonds are controlled by the Mexican Central Railway Securities Company of London, there can be no question of the successful consummation of the plans when finally agreed upon.

JULIA WARD HOWE'S BIRTHDAY.

BOSTON, May 27.—Julia Ward Howe to-day quietly observed the eighty-fourth anniversary of her birth at her home, at 241 Beacon Street.

"You may say that she is very happy and well," said her daughter, Mrs. John Elliott, this morning, "especially happy in the presence of all her children."

Mrs. Elliott lives with her distinguished mother, but the other children journey from points more or less remote to the family reunions. Mrs. Henry Richards comes from Gardiner, Me.; Mrs. Florence Hall from Plainfield, N. J., and Prof. Henry Howe from Columbia University, New York.

The Consolidated Tobacco Company, so it was announced in Wall Street yesterday, has secured a contract with the French Government for the Havana Tobacco Company, under which the latter is to supply the French Government, which has a monopoly of the tobacco business in France, with all the Havana cigars, cigarettes, and tobacco which it will need.

COOPER UNION ART SCHOOLS.

Exhibition by the Pupils of Messrs. Gifford, Dielman, Volk, Christy, and Metcalf—New Prizes in Decorative Designs.

The Art Schools of the Cooper Union are holding their annual exhibition of the work of pupils. The big hall with skylights on the top floor has many lines of screen on which hang the drawings of those who work from the cast, the pastels of more advanced pupils, the paintings from still life, and those from the living model. The classes more especially engaged in design show water colors after Byzantine arches—first prize of silver medal to Miss Belle H. Morrow—after Greek vases and mosaics, after Assyrian tiles and after Roman scroll work. Special prizes of $10 and $5 in gold have been given by Miss Eleanor Hewitt for a competition in the treatment of a fragment of sixteenth century brocade, Miss Hattie A. Ritchie taking first prize and Miss Elsie de Moll second, with honorable mention to Miss Adelaide Booth, the fragment serving as the point of departure for individual schemes of decoration.

Another competition for $10 and $5 prizes was offered to pupils in the second year for designs for drapery silk. Miss Margaret V. Sterling takes first prize with a design of Jincko leaves and berries, Miss Hattie A. Ritchie the second with one of hazelnuts and leaves, and Miss Mollie H. Cole receives an honorable mention. Some of these designs show a good idea of composition and color sense. More ambitious than these prize winners, Miss Bertha Straus executes in four leaves a calendar with quarterly entries and groups of Chinese, calling the pictures "Youngsters of Chinatown." The variety of work in this department is great; here are designs for embossed leather, for Persian rugs—honorable mention to Miss Florence A. Duffy; designs for ironwork—second prize of bronze medal to Miss Louise Mehurin, and honorable mention to Miss Jessie M. Townsend; and designs from Gothic missals—first prize of silver medal to Miss Elsie de Moll.

Another competition in design has been created by a prize of $100, offered by Mrs. J. Woodward Haven, the copying in oils of a panel in the style of Louis XVI, a monochrome decorative design in blues of different shades. It was won by Miss Antonia J. Moritz, an honorable mention consoling Miss Katharine Raymond. The five canvases admitted to this competition have been bought from the painters by a lady who will use them for a boudoir interior.

The art management of the Cooper Union schools is under Mr. Swain Gifford. Portrait classes are under Mr. Douglas Volk, and the life classes under Mr. Willard F. Metcalf. Some of the winners in elementary work on the cast are Miss Adelaide E. Mahan, first prize, silver medal; S. Ferdon, second prize, bronze medal, and J. Gibbons and Miss Grace Conklin, honorable mentions. Some of those in the life classes are L. E. Armstrong, first prize, silver medal; Dailey, second prize, bronze medal, and Couch and Whiting, honorable mentions. The miniature class is well frequented, since the painting of little portraits is one of the most favorable lines for immediate bread winning. Here the honorable mentions go to M. E. Millspaugh, Lilla Bunzel, and Ottilde Weyl. A class for illustrations is taught by Mr. Howard Chandler Christy. Here the silver medal or first prize goes to Brown, and the bronze or second to Demarest.

The donations by Mr. Carnegie and the additions to the fund by the Hewitt family have improved the condition of things in the art schools of the Cooper Union in many respects. The little museum has had other gifts since last year, and is rapidly outgrowing its quarters. Each year this school carries out a little more fully the original design of the late Peter Cooper, which was so earnestly furthered by the late Abram S. Hewitt. New occasions are offered young people of both sexes to train themselves for the earning of their livelihood.

GOSSIP OF THE PLAYERS.

Mrs. Patrick Campbell, who sailed for England on the White Star liner Majestic yesterday, having closed her American tour, delayed the sailing of the ship some minutes. Just as the wharf men stood by to cast off the hawsers from the last gangway she perceived some friends on the wharf who beckoned to her. She hastened down the gang plank and stood at its lower end until they had time to deliver a letter to her.

While Mrs. Campbell will not return next season, she will be long remembered by the theatrical agents who have managed her during the tour. She changed press agents several times, none being able to satisfy her. The last one tried his best to please her, but only a few days before reaching New York he learned that he had not. They were passing a certain town on the train when he pointed it out to her as the place where he was born.

"What a pity!" said Mrs. Campbell, disinterestedly.

Francis Wilson, who sails for Europe when he closes with "The Toreador" at the Grand Opera House this week, says that next year he will be seen in a revival of "Erminie" and light dramatic productions, and then he will leave the management of Nixon & Zimmerman and the stage itself for a year. It is his intention to appear only every other year after that in dramatic and not comic opera productions. His reason for playing only every other year is that he has grown wealthy, and "What's the use of working one's self to death?" he asks.

GEORGE G. WILLIAMS'S WILL.

Under the will of George G. Williams, President of the Chemical National Bank until the time of his death, on May 7, practically his entire estate goes to his widow, Mrs. Virginia F. Williams, and to his daughter, Mrs. Clara J. Keech. The will, which was dated Dec. 12, 1895, was filed for probate yesterday in the office of the Surrogate. In the accompanying petition the amount of the real property left by the bank President is given as unknown, while the personal property is stated as in excess of $100,000. The value of the estate is believed to be $5,000,000. Mrs. Williams, John T. Lockman, and Frank B. Keech, the son-in-law of the testator, are made the executors of the will.

To the widow is given all of the contents of the Williams home, at 34 West Fifty-eighth Street, together with all horses, carriages, and equipment. In addition the widow receives all the stock in the Oswego and Syracuse and the Albany and Susquehanna Railroads and the use for her lifetime of the residence. At her death the residence is to revert to the daughter. The country seat at East Haddam, Conn., in which town Mr. Williams was born, is left equally to the widow and daughter. The other bequests include all his stock in the Chemical National Bank and in the Union Trust Company, to his daughter; $1,000 to the Mercantile Library Association, $2,000 to the American Board of Commissioners of Foreign Missions, $500 to the Bank Clerks' Mutual Benefit Association, $2,000 to the First Congregational Church of East Haddam, $5,000 to Frank B. Keech, his son-in-law, as a token of his esteem, and $2,000 to the Congregational Church Millington Society of East Haddam.

All the residuary estate is put into a trust fund, the income of which is to be divided equally between the widow and daughter during the lifetime of the widow, and after her death the entire fund is to be turned over to the daughter. Under the will itself William J. Quinlan, Jr., was made one of the executors of the estate and was left a $5,000 legacy, but this is revoked under a codicil.

IN THE SHOPS.

It is a good idea to look through the picture departments in the department stores when one has a Summer home to be furnished at small expense. If a few pictures are desired, very pretty and appropriate ones can be had often for very little, pictures which are simply framed, have an effective touch of color, and cost 15 or 25 cents. For instance, the other day, in one of the shops they were selling small round pictures, perhaps eight inches or so in diameter. The frame was of a simple, dull finished oak, or a good imitation with a line of gilt on the inside around the picture. This is not a molding, but the much better effect of a line cut out in the wood and gilded. The pictures were dogs' heads, some not very good, but others having the effect of a good photograph or engraving. There was no mat, but simply the large dogs' heads filling the frame. These were only 15 cents. A few of the frames were a little scratched, but others were good.

***

Another lot of pictures in square frames was selling for 25 cents. Some of these had the plain oak frames and others narrow black frames. There were some of the Dutch pictures in strong colors, some single female figures, gayly dressed, these in the panel shapes, many of them very good and just the thing to give a bit of color to the walls. Many of the pictures will not be worth considering perhaps, but there are others that will at least pay for the money invested, and frequently produce better effects than more expensive things which are bought for their intrinsic merit.

***

Nice little square mirrors, made strictly for use, with simple oak frames, cost 40 cents. These are eight or ten inches in diameter and will answer very well for a toilet mirror where accommodations are limited. There are other mirrors of the same style, graduating in size and in price up to a dollar and possibly a little more.

***

One of the most attractive things in the way of a big water cooler is in the form of a cask of dark oak with shining metal bands. This will cost $7.98.

***

Strong metal stands come to hold water coolers, these having the top with a small hole in the centre to let off any water that may drip from the outside and a little place at one side for the glasses, with an outlet for the surplus water, which runs into a receptacle below the stand.

***

Small enameled white stands for children's use come in different styles like those for the older people. There is a simple frame with a bowl and pitcher or a square stand with considerable space around the bowl. They are made low that the children may reach them, and the bowls and pitchers are small in size. They can be bought for $2.75 and $5.

***

A set of useful metal skewers will cost 10 cents.

***

For the country house man who cuts his own grass, or thinks he will at the beginning of the season, there is a sickle with a comfortable handle which will cost only 49 cents. That is quite enough to pay for the first raising of blisters.

***

Twenty-five feet of rubber tubing with a hardwood reel and nozzle for only $2.00.

***

A very pretty and trim bathing suit, said to be made of brilliantine, and it is as much like that as anything, is blue, with narrow, invisible stripes in the material. There is a little standing stock, and the suit is made with a plain, full bodice and skirt, the skirt trimmed around the lower edge and bodice up the front and around the stock and sleeves, with an undulating white silk braid something more than a quarter of an inch in width, nearer half an inch, perhaps. There are short puffed sleeves and short knickerbockers. A suit like this will cost $12.75.

***

A charming lingerie hat is made with the usual low crown and wide rim. The crown and rim are of embroidery, in the latter put on in panels, and the rim and crown are edged with "val" lace. Twisted around the crown is a pale blue ribbon, and under the rim is a big white plume.

***

Another hat, white, is neither a straw nor really a lingerie hat. It is made on a wire frame of all-over embroidery in white. The top of the trim edges with several rows of a pale blue straw, and the rim finished in the same way. The hat is further trimmed with two odd-looking quills, one-half of each of a Scotch plaid.

PLAN TO REORGANIZE SHIPYARD COMBINE

New Concern the Bethlehem Steel and Shipbuilding Company.

Voting Trust to be Created for Seven Years—C. M. Schwab, G. R. Sheldon, Max Pam, C. W. Wetmore, and J. H. Reed Trustees.

The plan for the reorganization of the United States Shipbuilding Company was made public yesterday. It has been prepared and will be carried out by a committee consisting of George R. Sheldon, Chairman; Charles S. Fairchild, President of the New York Security and Trust Company; John E. Borne, President of the Colonial Trust Company; Max Pam, and Charles W. Wetmore, President of the North American Company. The counsel to the committee are Sullivan & Cromwell and Pam, Calhoun & Glennon. Walter W. Lee, 38 Wall Street, is Secretary of the committee. The securities affected by the reorganization are to be deposited with the City Trust Company.

The plan provides for the organization of a company with the title of Bethlehem Steel and Shipbuilding Company. The properties to be taken over are the Union Iron Works, San Francisco; Bath Iron Works, (Limited,) Bath, Me.; Hyde Windlass Company, Bath, Me.; Crescent Shipyard Company, Elizabethport, N. J.; Canda Manufacturing Company, Carteret, N. J.; Samuel L. Moore & Sons Company, Elizabethport, N. J.; Eastern Shipbuilding Company, New London, Conn.; Harlan & Hollingsworth Company, Wilmington, Del.; also all the capital stock (except Directors' qualification shares) of the Bethlehem Steel Company, owning the Bethlehem Steel Works and property in the Boroughs of South Bethlehem and Northampton Heights.

The capitalization of the present company consists of $10,000,000 of twenty-five-year 5 per cent. collateral and mortgage bonds, $14,500,000 of first mortgage sinking fund gold bonds, $20,000,000 of 6 per cent. non-cumulative preferred stock, and $25,000,000 of common stock. The Shipbuilding Company has a floating indebtedness of $1,936,740, and the Bethlehem Steel Company a floating indebtedness of $1,398,524, making a total of $3,335,264. The underlying liens of the Bethlehem Iron Company are $1,351,000 of 5 per cent. first mortgage bonds, and of the Bethlehem Steel Company $7,500,000 of 6 per cent. purchase money mortgage bonds, making a total capitalization and liabilities of the three companies of $81,686,264.

It is proposed that the new company in the acquisition of all the properties and assets of the Shipbuilding Company and its constituent companies, including the Bethlehem Steel Company and for the securing of additional cash working capital, shall issue $12,000,000 of thirty-year 6 per cent. first mortgage gold bonds. These will be secured by a first mortgage bond upon all of the properties, including the plant or capital stock of the Bethlehem Steel Company and of the Bethlehem Iron Company, subject only to the underlying mortgages of those companies. The mortgage provides for continued maintenance for the first three years of the new company of $6,000,000 of working capital in excess of all indebtedness of every kind, except bonded indebtedness, and $7,000,000 thereafter.

There are to be issued voting trust certificates for $16,000,000 of 7 per cent. non-cumulative preferred stock. This stock is preferred as to assets as well as to dividends. Voting trust certificates will be issued for $15,000,000 of common stock.

The holders of the present 5 per cent. collateral and mortgage bonds of the company are to receive all the $12,000,000 of new bonds pro rata upon furnishing $2,000,000 in cash as additional working capital; also the interest due Aug. 1, 1903, upon the bonds deposited. The holders of the first mortgage sinking fund gold bonds are to receive 100 per cent. in the new preferred stock, also the interest in cash due July 1, 1903. The remainder of the preferred stock, namely, $1,500,000, will be issued to holders of the twenty-year collateral and mortgage bonds. Of the common stock $2,900,000 is to be issued to holders of the present first mortgage sinking fund gold bonds, $1,600,000 to holders of the twenty-year 5 per cent. collateral and mortgage bonds, $8,000,000, or 40 per cent. of their present holdings, to the present preferred stockholders, and $2,500,000, or 10 per cent., to the holders of the present common stock.

The total capitalization of the new company will be $43,000,000, and its fixed charges will be $517,550 for interest on the underlying bonds of the Bethlehem Iron and the Bethlehem Steel Companies, and $600,000 on the first mortgage bonds of the new company, a total of $1,117,550. To this, it is said, there should be added after the first five years $250,000 per annum for the sinking fund to retire the new first mortgage bonds. To secure continuity in the management of the new corporation, it is proposed to create a voting trust for a period of seven years. The initial voting Trustees will be Charles M. Schwab, George R. Sheldon, Max Pam, Charles W. Wetmore, and James H. Reed of Pittsburg.

The plan has already been approved by the holders of large amounts of the various securities.

SEMINARIANS GET DEGREES.

Six Bishops in Attendance at the General Theological's Commencement Exercises.

Commencement exercises of the Protestant Episcopal General Theological Seminary in Chelsea Square were closed yesterday with impressive services, in which the participating Bishops were Bishop Potter of New York, Bishop Walker of Western New York, Bishop Coleman of Delaware, Bishop Whitehead of Pittsburg, Bishop Hall of Vermont, and Bishop Talbot of Central Pennsylvania. There was also a large company of lesser dignitaries of the Church and clergy in the procession which the graduates led in the march across the grounds to the Chapel of the Good Shepherd. The hymn "Holy, Holy, Holy" was sung while the line was moving to the main entrance of the chapel, where it halted and opened so that the Bishops, clad in their vestments, might march between and first enter the edifice.

Devotional exercises in which many relatives and friends of the aspirants joined preceded the awarding of the diplomas. Bishop Potter delivered the address to the graduates, the purport of which was that a clergyman's personality which enables him to keep in close touch with his parishioners is of more importance than eloquence or administrative ability. Addresses followed by these members of the graduating class: William Nealy Colton, Hobart College; Charles Lewis Gomph, Amherst; William Brewster Stoskopf, Yale, and Joseph Wilson Sutton of Washington College, who received the degrees as Bachelor of Divinity in addition to that of Bachelor of Arts conferred upon the others by Acting Dean Cady as follows:

Charles Lawrence Adams, Massachusetts.
Robert Brooke Taney Anderson, Maryland.

Charles D. Rogers.

Special to The New York Times.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 27.—Charles D. Rogers of the Rogers Screw Company died last evening. He was born on July 15, 1827, in New Hartford, N. Y.

Until his forty-third year Mr. Rogers had been either manager or partner, or both, in several manufacturing establishments, and especially in screw companies which were afterward merged into the American Screw Company, of which he was General Superintendent and a Director from 1870 until his resignation in 1899, when he became actively interested in the Rogers Screw Company. His extensive experience and his inventive genius enabled him greatly to improve old methods and to invent many valuable machines. Among the most important of these may be noted the machinery for making wood screws by the so-called forging process, on which he secured many patents.

FINANCIAL.

NATIONAL RAILROAD CO. OF MEXICO.

To the Holders of Common Stock (Voting Trust Certificates) of the National Railroad Company of Mexico:

After prolonged negotiations we have entered into an Agreement with the Government of the United States of Mexico by which the latter will, on certain terms and conditions, acquire by purchase from us a very large amount of the several classes of the capital stock of your Company.

The advantages to all other stockholders of having the Mexican Government largely interested as a stockholder in your Company are self-evident.

Besides these advantages, the above-mentioned Agreement provides, among other things, as follows:

In the event of the purchase by the Government being consummated, the Government will transfer to us, for sale to the Railroad Company at cost, its holding of £1,000,000 4½% Second Debenture Stock of the Interoceanic Railway Company of Mexico (Acapulco to Vera Cruz,) Limited. By the acquisition of this debenture stock the National Railroad Company of Mexico will, with the preference and common shares of the Interoceanic Company already owned, practically control the Interoceanic Railway, and thus not only secure a valuable line from the City of Mexico to Vera Cruz and the much needed outlet to the Gulf of Mexico, but become at the same time the largest railway system in Mexico.

The Government will also procure, in the event of said purchase, in favor of the National Railroad Company of Mexico, a concession from the Executive of the United States of Mexico, subject to legislative ratification, to the effect in substance, that for a period of twenty years, from October 31, 1903, no right, privilege, or concession shall be granted by the United States of Mexico to any person or corporation, other than the National Railroad Company, to construct, maintain, or operate any railroad of any kind (except branch or local lines connecting only with the trunk lines of the National Railroad) in a zone extending along the Northeasterly boundary of Mexico bounded on the Northeast by the Rio Grande River and on the Southwest by a line drawn 50 kilometres southwest therefrom and parallel therewith, and lying between the Gulf of Mexico and the meridian running through a point on the Rio Grande River distant 100 kilometres northwest from Ciudad Porfirio Diaz, in the State of Coahuila, measured along said river. This, it is expected, will prevent for twenty years the construction of any line in the zone above described which would compete with your Company for through traffic with the United States. This concession will also provide for its termination on January 1, 1907, unless the Railroad Company shall within three years from January 1, 1904, complete its line from Monterey to Matamoros (whereof about 140 miles remain to be built) and will also provide that on the application of the Railroad Company, the United States of Mexico will consent to the consolidation of the ownership and operation of the properties of the National Railroad Company of Mexico, the Mexican International Railroad Company (already controlled by your Company) and the Interoceanic Railway Company, a total of about 3,304 miles.

The Agreement with the Government contemplates the conversion of the $33,350,000 common stock of your Company into two classes of stock, whereof $22,233,333⅓ is to be known as second preferred stock and $11,116,666⅔ is to be known as deferred stock. The second preferred stock is to be entitled to receive dividends thereon, if and when earned and declared, up to, but not exceeding 5 per cent. in any year before any dividend shall be paid on the deferred stock, but such preferred dividends shall not be cumulative. After the payment in any year of dividends of 4 per cent. on the existing preferred stock and of 5 per cent. on the second preferred stock, holders of the second preferred stock and of the deferred stock shall be entitled to rank on an equality in the distribution of any profits that may then be distributed in dividends, if and when declared. Said second preferred stock and said deferred stock shall be issued only in exchange for and in conversion of the existing common stock of your Company, and at the rate of two shares of second preferred stock and one share of deferred stock for every three shares of existing common stock. The Government has consented to include, as part of the shares to be purchased from us, the total issue of deferred stock which may be offered during a limited period, at the price of $10 per share in cash.

The rights of the existing preferred stock will not be affected in any manner by the proposed arrangement.

Holders of common stock voting trust certificates who may desire to avail themselves of the benefit of this arrangement must deposit their voting trust certificates, accompanied by proper assignments thereof, executed in blank, in NEW YORK with MESSRS. SPEYER & CO., or in LONDON with MESSRS. SPEYER BROTHERS, or in AMSTERDAM with MESSRS. TEIXEIRA DE MATTOS BROTHERS, on or before the 10th day of June, 1903. For voting trust certificates, so deposited, Receipts will be given entitling the holders thereof, on October 31, 1903, and on the surrender of such Deposit Receipts, to receive certificates for second preferred stock to the amount of two-thirds of the common stock called for by voting trust certificates so deposited respectively, and to a cash payment at the rate of $3.33 per share of such common stock, or, at our option, to the return, free of charge, of voting trust certificates for the same number of shares of common stock so deposited. Stock certificates for second preferred stock will be issued only in shares of $100 each. Any fractional amounts of second preferred stock must be adjusted in cash, by the holders of the Deposit Receipts at the time of their surrender, at prices to be fixed by Speyer & Co. by sale or by purchase of such fractional amounts as may be required to even their holdings.

The consummation of the Agreement above referred to is dependent upon a sufficiently large number of stockholders depositing their common stock voting trust certificates for conversion and disposition as stated above.

Messrs. Speyer & Co. have agreed that they will, at the request of the Government and the National Railroad Company, act for a period of ten years as the fiscal agents of the Company.

The Voting Trustees are of the opinion that the consummation of the purchase by the Government and of the plan outlined above will so strengthen the position of the company and safeguard the interests of its security holders in the future that they will be justified in dissolving the Voting Trust.

We consider the arrangement outlined above as eminently advantageous to the holders of all bonds and shares of the National Railroad Company of Mexico, and we strongly recommend your prompt acceptance and your depositing hereunder the common stock voting trust certificates held by you.

Holders of large amounts have already signified their approval by depositing their common stock voting trust certificates under the terms of this circular.

Bargain Sale of Pennsylvania R. R. Stock.

The mightiest of the mighty has knocked at the door of the money lenders, begging assistance, which they believe the public and their own shareholders will refuse to give. The much vaunted stock of the Pennsylvania Railroad can soon be had at bargain counter prices.

If you have bought the rights for 3⅛, the stock will cost you $132.10.

If you are a stockholder, the stock will cost you $121.60.

But, if you are a member of the syndicate, the stock will cost you from $117 down to less than $90 a share, depending entirely upon how many shares the stockholders and holders of rights will subscribe, as will be explained below.

The unprecedented action of an institution like the Pennsylvania Railroad Company offering its stock to its own shareholders at one figure, and to a private interest at a lower figure, taking into consideration the deductions allowed, is a matter that never can be fully or satisfactorily explained to the thinking investors who have heretofore looked upon the Pennsylvania Railroad Company as the standard of all railroad institutions in the United States.

In the face of these facts, the anomaly is presented of Pennsylvania rights being offered as of value when in reality they are a minus quantity. Many persons who bought these rights at 3⅛ for the past couple of months find themselves in the position of being obliged to pay $132.10 per share for the stock if they desire to avail themselves of the privilege. They are, therefore, in the position of paying a premium over and above the price at which the syndicate will receive this stock, of the difference between $117 and $132.10, or $15.10 a share, at the lowest and possibly even a greater figure.

If a stockholder of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company accepts the terms offered by the Railroad Company to buy one double share of stock at $120, it will cost him in addition $1.60 difference in interest by June, 1904, making the stock cost him $121.60. The same Pennsylvania Railroad Company is offering to the underwriting syndicate the same stock at $120, which, with the commission allowed, 2½ per cent., on that price, makes the stock cost the syndicate $117, for which you pay $121.60. This price of $117 to the syndicate is on the basis of none of the stockholders subscribing for any of the shares.

If, however, the present stockholders could be induced to avail themselves of this magnanimous (?) opportunity offered by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to subscribe to the extent of one-half of the $75,000,000, then the balance of the stock that the syndicate absorb will cost them only $114 per share.

If three-quarters of the stock be subscribed by the stockholders at the price of $120, with difference of interest of $1.60 added, then the stock to the syndicate will cost them only $108 per share.

If nine-tenths of the stock be subscribed by stockholders, at $120, with difference of interest of $1.60 added, the balance of the stock will cost the syndicate only $90 per share.

If more than nine-tenths of the stock be subscribed by present shareholders, the balance taken by the syndicate will cost them a figure much below $90 per share.

This shows the remarkable spectacle of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company selling their stock to their shareholders at $121.60, and at the same time selling the same stock under the same circumstances to a syndicate at prices ranging from $117 down, so that the more the regular shareholders subscribe to the stock, the more they are depreciating the value of the shares they hold. They enable the syndicate to get its stock at a figure so far below the price that they themselves pay as to bring about a menace to their own shares, and they will likely find the syndicate shares in the market at a figure far below $121.60.

If none of the present stockholders would subscribe to a share of stock, the syndicate would even then get it at $117, the market price of the stock to-day being around $126. The syndicate would then have $75,000,000 of the stock which cost them only $117, and it would not take a very complicated calculation to show that some of this stock would be in the market at a little above that figure in a very short time. By this act the Pennsylvania Railroad has placed a price upon its new stock, to which level the old stock will quickly be lowered by dealings on the Exchange, and as it is probable that a number of the stockholders will subscribe, the inevitable result will be to bring this level far below 114. There can be no other result under this syndicate contract.

Another drawback to this remarkable financial transaction is the fact that the stockholder who subscribes for this new stock will probably take advantage of the Company's offer to make the deferred payments during the year, while the syndicate will probably take their stock at once, and pay for it in full. While the stockholder has his money invested in a stock that he will get a year from now, the syndicate have their stock, which they can put upon the market without waiting a day, and take advantage of the market prices long before the subscriber to the new stock will have it in his possession.

I will shortly issue a letter showing how, in my judgment, it is practically impossible for the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to earn a six per cent. dividend on its capitalization of $400,-000,000.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company will, before the end of this financial transaction, have been taught such a severe lesson as will stand as a warning for years to come to prevent others from engaging in such financiering.

THE FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks irregular.

Money easy, 1½@2¼ per cent.

The influence of Monday's weakness carried over into Tuesday, and the influence of Tuesday's comparative strength was effective in the earlier dealings yesterday. If the market's enthusiasm flagged before the day was done it is no more than might have been expected of a boom based upon personal gossip of dubious authenticity. The continuance of the advance reflected nothing more than relief from pressure, and the return of weakness was the natural enough reflection of the course of the market's leader, Rock Island, which touched its minimum in its checkered career at 36 upon sales of 70,000 shares. St. Paul and Pennsylvania continued conspicuous among active properties, but their movement was too narrow to be significant respecting either themselves or the day's business. The largest fall of the day, 2¼ for Leather, is but the natural effect of forecasts of a coming issue of bonds to supply working capital and pay off accumulated dividends. The frankness is praiseworthy, more so than the proposal, which was correctly enough characterized by the figures. There were other falls, but they are not significant and do not suffice to raise the average fall to a full point. Among advances none is better worth notice than the rise of Western Union by 1⅛, reflecting second thoughts regarding the dispute with Pennsylvania, which are not news to readers of THE TIMES. The day's business shows further shrinkage in volume in both stocks and bonds, and bonds lost something of their buoyancy of Tuesday. The most active were the same as on the previous day, but only Steel 5s retained their strength, Union Pacific convertibles and Wabash Bs both losing a fraction from the opening.

The most important news of yesterday is printed this morning in another column. That the secret of the long and persistent strength in the stocks concerned was well kept in details appears from the slight and diverse movement, National of Mexico losing a fraction and the preferred advancing a fraction. A purchase of a "very large amount" of railway stock by a neighboring Government, its sale of its holdings in another railway, and the conversion of $33,350,000 of stock into new classes is not an every-day operation. Mexico's action is as dramatic as England's purchase into the Suez Canal, and perhaps an equal sum is involved in the amalgamation and development of over 3,000 miles of railway. The effect upon the world's commerce is smaller, but the effect upon American railways entering Mexico is more immediate and will be a very interesting study to-day. Americans are well aware, upon familiar precedent, that when Governments or officials acquire an interest in such enterprises they are reluctant from every motive of self-interest to be deadheads in the business. In this case a beginning is made by limiting competition in the zone of the new property—which appears a better thing for the beneficiary than for its competitors, or perhaps for Mexico, if its growth should be adversely affected by the restriction. The Street's appraisal of this announcement should be an interesting feature of to-day's market.

The money market still reflects no apprehension over the strength of sterling and gold exports in connection with the hypothesis of an adverse effect upon the bank statement. It bears upon this point that Transvaal "results" are declining. A fall in Pennsylvania rights is not indicative of an eager rush of investors for the security, and the decline in the other case bears the inference that London still will welcome gold from other countries to assist in carrying the white man's burden. There was the usual catalogue of good railway traffic. For the third week of May thirty-four roads report an increase of gross of $1,049,548, against a decrease by five roads of $47,681. The feature of the April net now coming out is an increase in several cases against a decrease compared with previous longer periods, when expenses were more than absorbing the increase of income from growing business.

FEATURES OF THE MARKET.

The extreme weakness in the Leather Trust stocks was on selling coming from various quarters, and was supposed to be due to fear of the effects of the new bond issue and dislike of some of its features. The reason for the decline in the preferred was not so clear as for the selling of the common, which—under the terms of the capital readjustment as the Street heard them yesterday—will be hopelessly relegated to the rear, with any chance of a dividend for years apparently out of the question. Singular as it may seem a very large speculative interest has been built up in the common stock, through various "tips" in the last year or two to buy the stock because the reorganization plan might materially benefit the stock. These speculative holdings are understood to be in a vulnerable position, it being stated that some very considerable blocks of the stock will be dislodged if the price should break below 10. Whether this is anything other than idle gossip remains to be seen. Some of young Mr. Rockefeller's holdings are yet to be marketed.

The official statement of Chairman Miller of St. Paul, to the effect that the talk of a reduction in the dividend rate is "all moonshine," had decidedly stimulating effect on the stock in the early trading, advancing it 1½ points. The greater part of this gain was maintained until well on to the close, when the bears made a vigorous drive against the issue, which is still recognized as the market pivot, and a decline in which, therefore, invariably forces a decline in the general list. Specialists reported the buying to be much better than the selling. The short interest in the stock is said to be enormous.

The advance in Western Union was in the Street taken to indicate that there was substantial basis—as, indeed there is—for the published reports that there will be no war between the Gould-Rockefeller and the Pennsylvania interests.

Apropos of the steady absorption of the Erie issues, with no endeavor made to bid up prices, it is said plans have already definitely been decided upon for the dissolution of the voting trust and the retirement of the second preferred stock.

Gould brokers were active in the Gould stocks, with especial demand for Missouri Pacific.

The Waldorf-Astoria crowd continue to fight the market's advance. They were the principal sellers of stocks yesterday.

The so-called Hawley properties, such as Iowa Central and Minneapolis and St. Louis, were strong throughout the day on what looked to be manipulation.

London was again yesterday a buyer in this market, taking in all about 15,000 shares.

Iron and Metal Trades.

Discussing the condition of the iron and metal trades The Iron Age will to-day say:

The purchase of Bessemer pig by the United States Steel Corporation recently made appear to have been about 50,000 tons, for delivery during the third quarter, at $18.50 at furnace, equivalent to $19.35, Pittsburg, the sellers being the Valley Furnace Association and W. P. Snyder & Co., and about 10,000 to 15,000 tons for May and June delivery at $19 at furnace. This is understood to be on the basis of $3 per ton for coke at ovens. It is believed that this does not cover the requirements of the corporation, but how much additional tonnage will be required for the third quarter cannot now be closely estimated. It may rise to 40,000 tons. The corporation is believed to be self-contained as to basic pig.

In the Eastern markets the only large transaction in steel making pig has been the sale of a lot of 10,000 tons of basic pig to a plate mill by three furnace interests in the Schuylkill and Lehigh Valleys.

There has been little change in the situation so far as foundry iron is concerned. Buyers and sellers are apparently far apart. In Chicago the absence of further resales by consumers has created a better feeling. But outside interests are still showing some anxiety and $15 for No. 2 foundry at Birmingham is being done. A meeting of some of the large Southern furnace interests is to be held at Birmingham on the 1st prox., at which the situation is to be discussed and at which possibly some action may be taken. It may be doubted, however, whether any radical measures will be adopted. While very influential, the group of furnace interests which has been working together is far from exercising any control over the markets.

The influence of foreign foundry iron may well be dismissed from a serious consideration of the situation. The cheaper foreign irons are available to only a few consumers, for a variety of reasons. The higher grades, ranking with the best of our domestic irons, cannot now be laid down at competitive figures, and the danger that the German syndicate might make a special effort to retain a hold on the market seems remote.

In the steel market values continue steady. The Ohio mill at Youngstown is to be again switched over to steel rails, and the starting of the Hainsworth mill at Pittsburg is under consideration to help out. One lot of about 6,000 tons of German steel purchased last Summer by an Eastern plant, which has not yet started, has been resold, the material going to Pittsburg.

There has been some talk among the steel rail makers of an early meeting to discuss the question of prices for 1904 delivery. It is stated that some of the railroads are getting ready to place orders running into next year.

A very good tonnage is still coming up in structural material, in spite of the labor troubles. As showing how large are the requirements for the new plants of the Steel Corporation, we may note that the contract, involving 30,000 tons, for the McKeesport and Lorain plants of the National Tube Company has just been taken by the American Bridge Company.

Interesting negotiations are under way by which large agricultural implement makers expect to arrange for the importation of the special steel shapes to be used by them in the manufacture of implements for export, under the drawback system.

LONDON, May 28.—The Times, in its City article to-day, says there was rather more demand for money yesterday, and the Bank of England lent a fair amount at 4 per cent. Discount rates were steady.

The Bank of England bought £119,000 bar gold, making the net influx for the week £412,000.

On the Stock Exchange business was almost at a standstill, except in American rails, which were strong throughout. There was a sharp recovery in these stocks. The largest transactions were in Southern Pacific, United States Steel preferred, Erie, and Baltimore and Ohio. The final quotations were the highest reached in the course of the day.

Consols rose 1-16 to 91¾ for cash and 91 13-16 for the account. Home rails were very quiet. Foreigns were rather firmer. The general mining market was very quiet and irregular. South Africans were rather dull.

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, May 27.—Supplies of money were stringent in the market to-day, and the borrowings from the Bank of England for settlement requirements were large.

Americans generally had a better tone, in response to overnight New York advices, and had an advancing tendency. Union Pacific was the feature. Prices closed steady. Grand Trunk was in demand. Foreigns were dull. Rio Tintos were steady.

OUTSIDE SECURITIES.

Most of the stocks which were at all conspicuous in yesterday's market for outside securities were made so by the strength which they displayed. A few issues, most notable among them being International Mercantile Marine, declined substantially, but a larger number showed net gains. Nowhere in the market, however, was much animation apparent. Transactions were limited and fewer stocks took part in the day's business than on the earlier days of the week. In nearly all cases the interests which only a short time ago were energetically engaged in the task of advancing their specialties are content at present to let the market drift, being unwilling even to take a little stock to help maintain prices. Greene Consolidated, one of the most active of the much-manipulated stocks, seems to be an exception, for in this issue the past few days of uncertainty in the market have made little or no impression.

International Mercantile Marine was very weak, although the bonds again sold at par. The common stock sold at 9 and the preferred was offered as low as 28¼ without sales. In both of these issues yesterday's figures are the lowest thus far quoted. These securities have been the source of much disappointment to a number of traders who bought them on the supposition that the important interests allied with the company would not allow the stock to go entirely unsupported. The preferred has now gone from about 30 to 28 and common from about 20 to 9, and the demand for the stocks recently has been much smaller than it was at the higher prices.

American Can enlivened the market a little by advancing abruptly to 6⅞, the best price recorded in many days. Whatever the reason for this advance, it did not extend to the preferred, which sold up about half a point and then dropped back about as much. The trading in the common amounted to 2,000 shares, and the net result of the trading was a gain of 1⅛ points.

American Light and Traction, an odd lot of which sold on Tuesday at 68, yesterday sold at 75. These erratic movements reflect the narrowness of the market at present rather than any varying conditions in the affairs of the company itself.

The principal transactions reported in the outside market yesterday, with the high, low, and last prices, were as follows:

Stocks.

Sales.		High.	Low.	Last.
2,000	American Can	6⅞	6	6⅞
1,200	American Can pf.	45⅝	45	45

CHICAGO QUOTATIONS.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 27.—New York exchange to-day was at 25 cents premium. Time and call loans, 5@6 per cent.

Pneumatic Tool stock erratically bobbed up to 61 early, and then sold at 60. This compares oddly with the 47 of Monday. Can common was below 6, and the preferred at 45, but there was a late rally from these prices. City Railway fell off to 200, and Title and Trust to below 97. West Chicago was at 63½ early. The general weakness was not effective in Lake Street first mortgages, which sold at 102, the high point, and the price offered for exchange in the reorganization. Word comes to-day from New York that the Blairs look favorably upon a fair plan of readjusting the finances of the road.

BOSTON STOCK MARKET.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, May 27.—Clearing House rate, 2 per cent.; New York funds, par; call loans, 2½@3 per cent.; time money, 3½@4½ per cent. Clearing House exchanges, $20,800,000; balances, $1,748,052. Call money is practically unloanable and borrowers of any standing practically can name their own rates. Sterling exchange has recovered sharply from the decline of a few days ago and has been advanced one-half of 1 per cent. all around in the last two days.

The stock market relapsed into dullness, and there was no feature to comment on.

PHILADELPHIA PRICES.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, May 27.—The buying of the local issues continued to-day, and while prices were off in the final dealings, net changes were fractional. Some pressure was evident in Consolidated Lake Superior preferred. United Gas was helped by the statement that fully 50 per cent. of the shareholders are paying for their new stock in full. The arbitrage stocks were active, especially Readings, Pennsylvania, and United States Steel, while Erie was in persistent demand all day.

TRADING IN BALTIMORE.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, May 27.—The stock market continued sluggish, though the general undertone seemed better owing to the more cheerful views entertained about Wall Street. There has been some accumulation of Cotton Duck common by interests supposed to be in touch with the new plan. The plan is expected to be announced this week, and it is thought there will be a favorable response to the offers therein made.

Money on call was at 5@5½ per cent.

COTTON.—It would seem that the developments reflected the virtual clearing up of the speculative situation surrounding the May option. At least public sentiment now looks for no further sensational developments in connection with that option. All day May was comparatively quiet and neglected. There was a slight flurry in the afternoon, and the price was bid up from 11.08 to 11.45, but this was explained on the ground that the strike on certain transportation lines between here and New England points had possibly interfered with certain deliveries, and the month closed at 11.35. Following the call the late months were still further advanced; then came profit taking, which in the absence of support eased July off to 11.12; August to 10.68, and September to 9.96, with December sold at 9.46. On late advance room shorts turned for cover, and prices were raised to a new high level for the day, with the close steady at within 2 or 3 points of that, and net 2 points lower to 10 points higher. Total sales of futures were 250,000 bales.

Contract prices ranged as follows:

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
May	11.25	11.45	11.08	11.25@11.30

MARLBOROUGH HOUSE
Atlantic City in MAY and JUNE.

"What is more perfect than a day (except many of them) in June (or May) at Atlantic?"

At no time does this Resort's really wonderful all-the-year climate show to better advantage than during these two months. New Yorkers, having "FOUND" Atlantic City during the past Winter and Spring, are so well pleased with their "find" that they have adopted it also as exactly supplying their need of a perfect health and pleasure resort to fill in, during May and June, the interim between Florida and the Northern Summer shore and mountain resorts. Besides perfect weather Atlantic offers during these months the best hotels and hotel service of any resort in the world, in fact, equal to the best in New York. Her all-the-year-round business enables her to do this. Five miles of broad elevated boardwalk along the ocean for walking or roller chairing; the finest all-the-year Golf Course in the country. Fishing, Yachting, Automobiling, Driving, Amusements in full swing—LIFE. An indescribable something in the air or in the sea, on the sands, or in the stream of ever changing life, which acts as a tonic invigorating alike to the old and to the young, to the feeble and to the strong, and which robs idleness of its ennui and makes it rest indeed.

MARLBOROUGH HOUSE—Atlantic's newest and most magnificent hotel, is in the centre of the ocean front, upon which it occupies an entire block, besides having 800 feet of frontage on the City Park. It accommodates 600 people. Has telephones in each room, running water, and also running ice water in most of the rooms, perfect water from its own new artesian well. Sea water and fresh water in all baths. Special ocean end suites with private dining room and service. Ladies' hair dresser and gentlemen's valet service. High grade music every evening with celebrated soloists Sunday night. And, finally, the most successfully planned and lighted hotel "Exchange" in the country.

Write for illustrated booklet, room plans, and rates. JOSIAH WHITE & SONS, Proprietors.

MR. JEROME IN COURT CHIDES JUDGE FOSTER

Objects to Suspension of Sentence on Henry C. Wilson.

Insists That Strong Social Pressure Has Been Used—"Can We Monkey with Law?" He Asks.

District Attorney Jerome did some plain talking in Judge Foster's court yesterday when Henry C. Wilson, ex-Chief Clerk of the Army Engineering Department in this city, was brought up for sentence. Wilson was convicted of attempted extortion five weeks ago.

After Wilson's conviction James M. Beck, who had been specially retained for the purpose, went before Judge Foster and moved for a new trial and arrest of judgment on the ground that his client, as a Government employe, should have been tried in the Federal courts, and that the State courts had no jurisdiction. Judge Foster after declaring from the bench that he considered this contention correct, nevertheless proceeded to suspend sentence in Wilson's case and parole him in the custody of the Prison Aid Society. "Monkey with the law" and "juggle with justice" were some of the phrases used by Mr. Jerome.

Wilson while a Government employe was caught in an attempt to extort money from Henry A. S. Martin, President of the Waterfront Improvement Company, which had obtained free of charge the use of some army craft in the harbor to help it in carrying out a contract for the city to fill in cribwork at Riker's Island with ashes collected by the Street Cleaning Department. Wilson obtained $4,500 from Martin under threat that unless the money was forthcoming he would cause the boats to be withdrawn by the army authorities.

Powerful influences have been at work in Wilson's behalf, and Judge Foster has received letters asking for clemency in Wilson's case, pleading his previous good character and his long and honorable career in the Government service. Mr. Jerome learned yesterday morning that Judge Foster intended to suspend sentence in the case, and he then went to court himself.

When the case was called Mr. Jerome, addressing Judge Foster, said he understood that because Wilson was highly connected socially and had been in the Government's employ for eighteen years he would be permitted to escape punishment.

"These, far from being mitigating circumstances," said Mr. Jerome, "rather tend to make his case a graver one. This man is far more guilty than the policeman who was recently sentenced to two and one-half years' imprisonment in this very court for accepting money from the keeper of a disorderly house. This man is an example of the worst kind of a 'grafter.' He 'grafted' on the strength of his official position. Having been carefully reared, he cannot, like the policeman, plead ignorance or environment as a contributory cause of his crime."

"I am surprised," said Mr. Beck, arising. "The statement just made is vindictive in the extreme. Does the District Attorney mean to say that previous good character counts for nothing?"

"I believe the contention of the defendant's counsel, that his client should have been tried in the Federal courts, correct," said Judge Foster. "There is no doubt in my mind, Wilson, that you are morally guilty, but in view of the humiliation you have undergone, the loss of your position, which you can never get back, I believe you have been sufficiently punished already and that the proper thing to do in your case is to suspend sentence."

Mr. Jerome jumped to his feet and spoke in loud tones. "This strikes me as a most extraordinary proposition," he said. "This man is either a thief or he isn't. By your action you make him stand here a convicted felon, while in almost the same breath you declare that as far as this court is concerned he has violated no law."

Judge Foster replied, with feeling: "You mistake me, Mr. District Attorney; you mistake me. He has violated both the State and Federal laws."

"It does not seem so, the way you have acted in this thing," retorted Mr. Jerome.

"I believe this man has violated both the State and Federal law," Judge Foster explained. "Feeling as I do in the matter, I am unwilling to pass sentence. I have no doubt of his moral guilt, but in my judgment he has already been severely punished. He is a Federal officer of high rank, he will lose his position and never get it back. In addition he has been long confined in prison and made to suffer severe humiliation. I have carefully investigated this man's record through the Prison Aid Association, whose agent, Mr. Kimball, has not only recommended but begged for clemency on behalf of the defendant. In view of this recommendation and what I hear, I believe it best to suspend judgment if it is—"

Mr. Jerome jumped up and interrupted him, shouting: "Judge Foster, in all respect to you, are you going to pronounce judgment without passing on two motions now pending before you in this case, one for a new trial and the other for arrest of judgment? This court should be kept over and above every question that would bring discredit upon it. There is in the heart of every practitioner at the bar a wish that the court should not place itself in a false position, which the court now seems to be doing. Gravely as I should regret it, I would much prefer to have a new trial granted this man than to have action taken to bring this court into disrespect. Your Honor allows this man to stand as a convicted felon, when your Honor says he is not."

"I understand both of these motions have been withdrawn," said Judge Foster.

"That is not so," Mr. Jerome said. Then he turned to counsel for the defense and said: "Is that true that you are willing to let your client go forth into the world a convicted felon when he is not?"

"We are satisfied," George Gordon Battle began.

Mr. Beck arose and pulled Mr. Battle into his seat. "We are not answerable to the District Attorney for our professional conduct," he said. "Your Honor's inference in respect to the withdrawal of these motions is correct. It is the defendant's wish, and we must respect it."

"Well, your Honor, there is a different state of facts then that confronts you," said Mr. Jerome. "This defendant, then, stands before you an innocent man, allowing the stigma of a thief to rest upon him. What a travesty we are going through. Can we monkey with law and order in this way? The right and only thing to do, Judge Foster, would have been to dismiss the indictment, if you believed this man innocent. Don't juggle with justice."

Mr. Jerome sat down. Judge Foster was white with emotion, but replied, somewhat meekly:

"I don't like to differ with the District Attorney, but in this case I will do what I always do in the performance of my duty when I think it proper. I will suspend sentence, and (turning to Wilson) parole you in the custody of Prison Agent Kimball, to whom you must report as often as he wishes you to. An eye will be kept upon you, and should you by any chance again violate the law I have the power to call you before me and have you severely punished."

Mr. Jerome arose and walked out of court abruptly. Wilson left court with his counsel and Mr. Kimball.

Judge Foster's Vacation.

Judge Foster, who, after the present term of the Court of General Sessions has expired, will not sit again until September, announced yesterday that he would make a pleasure trip to Japan and the Far East during his three months off the bench. Judge Foster will start next week via Vancouver.

BABY CARRIAGE HEADS PARADE.

Loan Association Men Have Fun with Aged Parent.

The rooms of the Monticello Building and Loan Association, in Jersey City, were the scene of a novel presentation on Tuesday evening. Two years ago Henry Windecken, President of the association, was married. The wedding attracted much attention, Mr. Windecker being seventy-one years old, and his bride twenty-eight. At the following meeting of the Building and Loan Association Mr. Windecker was warmly congratulated, and the members finally adopted this resolution:

"Resolved, That when the stork visits Mr. Windecker's home this association will purchase the necessary baby carriage."

At Tuesday night's meeting Mr. Windecker, who is now Treasurer, informed his associates that the stork had paid a visit to his home and left a boy. While Mr. Windecker was counting up the night's receipts a committee appointed for the purpose went out and bought a baby carriage, which was duly presented to Mr. Windecker upon its arrival. The vehicle was gayly decorated with ribbons and Mr. Windecker was compelled to wheel it to his home, 103 Astor Place. All the members of the association walked in procession behind Mr. Windecker and the carriage. After the baby had been placed in the vehicle and duly inspected, Mr. Windecker invited his guests to an impromptu spread at a neighboring hotel. Speeches were made by ex-Mayor Edward Hoos, Assessment Commissioner John H. Weastell and others.

FIRE ISLAND HOTEL BURNED.

New Structure, Built by the Sire Brothers, Destroyed by Flames in Early Morning.

The new Fire Island Hotel, on Fire Island, built and owned by the Sire brothers, was burned to the ground at 4:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

The marine observer in the tower on the island was the first to discover the flames, and he ran to the hotel to awaken A. Bailey, the caretaker. He had to crawl on the floor to get out. Six men were mustered and formed a bucket brigade. They could do nothing with the hotel, but by hard work saved the cottage of H. B. Sire, near the hotel. In two hours there was nothing but a mass of ruins where the hotel had stood.

The origin of the fire is not known, but it may have started in the paint shop under the hotel.

The hotel had been leased by G. A. Hoerle of Midland Park, N. J., for five years. It was to have been opened for the season in a short time. The building contained more than 150 sleeping rooms.

At the office of H. B. Sire, 100 West Twenty-eighth Street, it was said that Mr. Sire had nothing to say about the fire. His representative, however, declared that Mr. Sire valued the property at $250,000. The exact amount of the damage was not known, and the representative declined to state the amount of insurance. He added that he declined to be authority for any suppositions as to the cause of the fire—incendiary or otherwise, and said that no plans for the future had yet been made by Mr. Sire.

GAMBLERS FOILED ON A LINER.

Passengers on the Oceanic Were Warned of the Presence of Card Sharps—Child Died at Sea.

After an unusually rough passage the White Star liner Oceanic arrived yesterday. Patrick Gibbons, four years old, died in the second cabin of convulsions on Saturday and was buried at sea.

Before the ship reached Queenstown, a notice was put up warning passengers not to engage in games of chance with strangers. The ship's officers had recognized five noted professional gamblers. The sign did not prevent any two of them from sitting down at times and starting a game of dice. Five pounds changed hands each time, as a rule, and when that amount had been shoved across the table onlookers were invited to participate. There was always a general declination.

Efforts to start games of poker met with like ill-success. "No, I never play the game," was generally the answer of a passenger when approached.

When the five gamblers left the ship they had their satchels inspected at once and hustled away.

MAURICE UNTERMYER SAILS.

Has Resigned as a Jackson Club Governor in Twenty-ninth District.

Maurice Untermyer of the law firm of Guggenheimer, Untermyer & Marshall sailed for Europe yesterday with his wife and family after announcing that he had resigned as one of the Governors of the Jackson Club, the Carroll organization, of the Twenty-ninth Assembly District, and that he took this action because he wished to have no part in the municipal campaign of this year.

The Jackson Club is the Tammany organization of the district, which has for its President Joseph F. Mulqueen, the leader of the district, having succeeded John F. Carroll in that position. Mr. Untermyer expected to go abroad some time ago, but was detained in this country waiting for a decision from the United States Supreme Court in the Whittaker Wright case. He said yesterday he thought the decision would be rendered by next week.

LEGAL NOTES.

VENDOR'S LIEN ON SALE OF REAL ESTATE.—Philo C. Hubbell in December, 1897, conveyed certain real estate to Nellie Henrickson. At the same time an agreement between the two was signed by which it was stipulated that the purchaser was to pay the consideration—$3,300—annually in such sums "as she is able to pay." Subsequently Miss Henrickson mortgaged the property for $1,000, but instead of applying the amount to the payment of the purchase price, used the money in discharging personal debts of her own and of her mother. In an action by Mr. Hubbell to impress the property with a vendor's lien Miss Henrickson's defense was that he had deeded the premises to her in trust for her mother, who was about to become Mr. Hubbell's wife. This defense was disregarded by the trial court, and rightly so, the Court of Appeals has decided. The court of last resort reverses, however, a judgment dismissing Mr. Hubbell's complaint. It holds that he possessed a vendor's lien upon the premises for the unpaid purchase money, and was entitled to have it so adjudged. The court also holds that as the mortgagee loaned the $1,000 without notice of the agreement between Mr. Hubbell and Miss Henrickson, a superior lien was created because of which Mr. Hubbell is entitled to a personal judgment for $1,000 against Miss Henrickson. This personal judgment against Miss Henrickson is given on the ground that when she got the $1,000 she should have paid the sum to Mr. Hubbell under her agreement with him, "and also upon the principle that she held the premises as trustee for the vendor to secure the payment of the purchase price, and when she received the money the mortgage was given to secure, it was, while in her hands, impressed with the same trust as rested upon the land, and if it remained in her possession and could be identified it could be followed and she required to pay it over to the plaintiff upon his lien."

INJURIES INFLICTED BY STRIKERS.—The Law Journal lately contained a note of two cases under the heading, "Duty to Inform Employes and Passengers of Danger from Strikers." In one case (Holshouser vs. Denver Gas and Electric Co., 72 Pacific Reporter, 280) decided by the Court of Appeals of Colorado it was held that where a master had knowledge, when he employed a servant, that the latter was in danger of being injured by striking employes, and the servant had no knowledge of this fact, and was shot by the striking employes after having been employed about eighteen days, the master's failure to give the servant warning was actionable negligence. In the other case, decided by the Supreme Court of Minnesota, (Fewings vs. Mendenhall, &c., 93 Northwestern Reporter, 127,) it appeared that a passenger of a street railroad claimed damages for injuries sustained from strikers. The court found against the plaintiff because he had actual knowledge of the state of affairs, and this knowledge, it was held, dispensed with notice of the existing conditions from the railroad company.

Accused Customs Men Acquitted.

The jury in the Criminal Branch of the United States Circuit Court, which for the past five days has been trying Michael J. Quigley, an Assistant Weigher in the Appraiser's Stores, and Joseph Hare, an Inspector of Customs, upon a charge of having secured $100 from Capt. Hughes of the ship Kelat to protect him from arrest, yesterday afternoon brought in a verdict of acquittal. Both prisoners proved strong alibis, and were warmly congratulated by their friends on the outcome of the trial. Both Hare and Quigley, it is said, are to be restored to duty, now that the charges of wrongdoing have been disproved.

Mrs. H. G. Hemming Gets Alimony.

Justice Greenbaum yesterday, sitting in the Supreme Court, granted temporary alimony at $10 a week and $75 counsel fees to Mrs. Sophie G. Hemming pending her action for an absolute divorce against Harry G. Hemming, the dog fancier, who has taken many prizes at Madison Square Garden bench shows. The couple were married June 10, 1897, in Jersey City, and there are no children. The acts complained of by the wife are said to have taken place at the Criterion Hotel in December of last year. All the papers in the case have been sealed.

RAID AFTER LONG WATCH

Police Enter "Club" Held Under Suspicion for Months.

Brooklyn Detectives Get Evidence That Long Island City Organization Is a Poolroom—Seven Prisoners Held.

Acting on evidence gathered by detectives of the Brooklyn Central Office, Inspector Kane and Capt. Cooney of the Seventy-fifth Police Precinct yesterday raided the Cottage Social and Athletic Club, at 29 Borden Avenue, Long Island City. Capt. Cooney for four months has been endeavoring to close up the club, which he asserted was run as a poolroom. He now declares that he has a certain case against three men arrested yesterday.

Joseph Lally, who keeps a saloon on the ground floor of the building, has complained to the courts several times that Capt. Cooney was hurting his trade by the measures taken against the club. Policemen at various times have been placed to guard the premises, and in general the building has been kept under close surveillance. These measures having failed of effect, Capt. Cooney asked aid from Inspector Kane, and Headquarters men were sent to get evidence. They posed as strangers, and it is asserted that they gained entrance to the club and for several days have been betting on the races there.

Acting on this evidence warrants were sworn out yesterday. Armed with these, shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon Capt. Cooney and his detectives, Inspector Kane and his staff, and four men from the Brooklyn Central Office surrounded the place quietly and quickly. It was not until the Captain, the Inspector, and Detective Kennedy ran through the saloon and to the stairs leading to the floor above that any warning of the raid was given.

Capt. Cooney carried a large axe and smashed in a lower door and then an upper one. Then the men encountered a guard. The Inspector and detective leveled pistols and the guard did not stir to give an alarm. A moment later the Captain smashed in the door leading to the room where about 100 men were gathered. As he did so a man behind a partition threw up a window and dropped outside a bundle of charts and cards. They fell into the hands of a detective who stood under the window.

There was much excitement in the room when the raid was made. One of those who did not seem particularly interested was a supposed farmer from Moriches. The entire party of men was lined up along the wall, and then the "farmer" and two other detectives picked out seven men who, they said, had some connection with the place. The police also arrested James Burns, Joseph Calvin, and Lally, but Inspector Kane ordered their release, as there were no warrants for them.

The seven prisoners said they were Henry Kane, 76 East One Hundred and Ninth Street, Manhattan; "Al" Edwards, bartender, North Beach; Roger Jackson, brakeman, 108 Third Street, Long Island City; Charles Boltam, insurance agent, Twelfth Street, Long Island City; Harry Livingston, 17 Davis Street, Long Island City; Richard Dowling, 88 Third Street, Long Island City, and Samuel Frank, Brooklyn.

While the men were being put into a patrol wagon Magistrates Smith and Connorton walked down the street, and Magistrate Smith tendered his services, offering to hold court. Capt. Cooney has not been too well pleased with the attitude of these Magistrates, and declined their services.

As quickly as possible the men were hurried to the Long Island Railroad station and taken to Jamaica, where they were taken before Justice Fleming of the Special Sessions, sitting as a Magistrate. It was he who quietly issued warrants on Tuesday night.

From money found on the men and in a drawer in the place raided the detectives picked out bills which they said they had bet after the money had been marked by themselves and their superiors.

Justice Fleming set bail at $1,000 for Kane and $500 for each of the others. It was procured and the men released.

Capt. Cooney last night seemed well satisfied. He said he had acted alone as long as he could, and, having exhausted his powers and being in danger of prosecution, he turned the matter over to his superiors, with the result that they had proved he had been right from the first.

SAY WOMAN DEALT IN POLICY.

Detectives Make a Raid on a House in Williamsburg.

Magistrate Voorhes in the Ewen Street Court, Williamsburg, yesterday held Mrs. Augusta Reidel of 59 George Street in $1,000 bail pending a hearing on the charge of dealing in policy. Mrs. Reidel lives in a two-story and basement dwelling.

The police of the Hamburg Avenue Station have suspected for some time that a policy shop was being carried on in the premises. When Detectives Murray and Cox were standing on the opposite side of the street Tuesday afternoon they saw several well-dressed women enter the building. They then entered, and declare they found Mrs. Reidel at a desk actively engaged in selling policy slips. The detectives seized the paraphernalia and arrested the woman.

Charged with Biting Wife's Finger.

Gustav V. Wolbert of 580 Summit Avenue, Jersey City, yesterday was arraigned before Police Justice Murphy, charged with biting one of the fingers of his wife's right hand. Mrs. Wolbert was unable to appear. A medical certificate submitted by her counsel showed that she was suffering from blood poisoning and that her right arm would probably have to be amputated. Wolbert was committed to the Hudson County Jail to await the action of the Grand Jury.
